Tiburon Tax Rate Reached

By REBECCA LARSEN

Tiburon city councilmen hammered out a compromise tax rate last night of 84 cents per $100 assessed valuation, 10.5 cents lower than proposed earlier. (Another Tiburon City Council story, page 36.)

The final 1973-74 rate includes 72.5 cents for operating expenses and 11.5 cents for interest and principal payments on a $1.25 million open space bond issue approved by voters last fall.

The $2,495,918 budget adopted last week is nearly three times higher than last year's, with about half the amount to be used for buying open space land.

The new tax rate is 10.5 cents higher than last year's rate. But it would have been 21 cents higher if the council had gone along with the original proposal of City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer, who had asked for a total rate of 94.5 cents, with 22 cents for bond redemption.

To keep the rate down, the council decided to use interest now being earned at 9.5 per cent by the bond money deposited in a bank.

The bond funds have not been used yet to buy land because the city is negotiating with property owners.

Arguments last night centered on just how much the tax rate should be pared.

Mayor Branwell D. Fanning asked that the rate be set at 79.5 cents, with only seven cents for bond redemption.

He argued that this was the rate the city had promised voters when the bond issue was proposed.

"We don't need to build up any unneeded kitty to pass on to future councils," he said referring to the roughly $100,000 in interest which the bond money will earn by December while sitting in the bank waiting to buy land.

Balmer had argued that the interest could be used to buy more open space.

Councilman Allan N. Littman and several members of a citizen's open space committee supported Fanning.

"I'm amazed by the high rate proposed compared to what we endorsed a number of months ago," said John S. Hoffmire Jr., former mayor and committee member. "One thing I've always been interested in is annexation. How are you going to make friends for annexation when you raise the tax rate."

Councilman Albert H. Sennett argued that most voters had known that the bond tax rate would be about 27 cents or higher in the first year after bonds were issued.

If all the interest were used at once to reduce the tax rate, he also said, the city might have to draw on reserves to make ends meet. "To do this for one year would be to do great damage to the status of the budget."

Instead, he and Councilman M. Carlisle Becker proposed using a little interest money for

Death Toll More Than 100 After Quake In Mexico

Another 1,000 Reported Hurt When Four States Are Shaken

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — A severe earthquake jolted four states from Mexico City to the Gulf coast today and the Red Cross said more than 100 persons were killed when the quake toppled a 12-story apartment building in Orizaba, 120 miles southeast of Mexico City.

At least 34 other deaths were reported and more than 1,000 persons were injured.

The National Earthquake Center in Boulder, Colo., reported a second major quake today, at 5:02 a.m. EDT on the Mid-Atlantic Ridge near the Equator. This would put the quake in the vicinity of the Azores. The center said the magnitude of the quake was 6.9 on the Richter scale, a fraction smaller than the Mexican temblor.

"Dozens more are trapped in the building (in Orizaba) waiting to be cut out," Jose Garduno, secretary of the Mexican Red Cross, told UPI. "The situation is extremely grave. We are preparing to send rescue expeditions from Mexico City to Orizaba."

The Red Cross also reported two dead in Cordoba and two in Puebla. The governor of Puebla State said 30 persons probably died in Quecholac village.

There were unconfirmed reports of deaths in Japala and Tehuacan, in Vera Cruz State.

"More than half the buildings of Orizaba have been destroyed," Ricardo Mejia, the local Red Cross chief said. "We have more than 1,000 persons injured. Three hundred of them are in hospitals."

The quake took its worst toll in mountain areas near the skirts of 18,700-foot, snowcovered Orizaba volcano. There were reports of a red flash and thunder just before the quake struck.

Alfonso Valencia Rios, a newsman from Veracruz, said there were many reports of mysterious red flashes and thunder just moments before the quake. He suggested they might be related to volcanic action.

County Fair Will Open Thursday

Paving contractors and exhibitors appeared to be racing in a dead heat yesterday, to get everything ready for the five-day run of the 1973 Marin County Fair.

The gates will open at 10 a.m. Thursday, ready or not, fair manager Marcelle McCoy promised. It will be open to 10 p.m. each day through Labor Day.

The fair-goer, once inside the gate, will find more free offerings than before. The film festival showings, the auditorium entertainment and the fair programs all will be free this year.

The carnival will be double the size of last year, and the latest crop of popular entertainers will perform daily.

But the last-minute rush to get ready seems more hectic than ever.

The heavy aroma of paving asphalt invaded the fairgrounds office, where Mrs. McCoy held a telephone in each hand answering a rapidly increasing crescendo of questions about the fair.

For other reports related to the fair, see Page 8 for an interview with two young exhibitors, and a complete schedule of events, Page 9 for a list of participants, and Page 17 for an illustrated review of the fair's art exhibit.

Outside her door, stretching for acres westward of the Veterans Memorial Building was a tarry sea. Contractors have been busy tearing up and rebuilding the whole parking lot that will be the main access to the fair, for the past three weeks.

"Will the parking lot be finished in time?"

"I'm praying a lot," replied the fair manager.

Meanwhile, the hundreds of Marinites preparing to take part in the fair were wending their way in and out along a bumpy back road.

Commercial nurserymen were toiling to build cement-lined reflection pools that will be centerpieces of their lush displays. Despite the cooling shade netting overhead, they paused often to swipe sweat from their brows. Sweet and spicy floral odors competed with the smell of the paving work.

Youths perched atop tall ladders to string the parasol canopies that will shade the arts and crafts booths. Their car was parked nearby, its doors open and stereo roaring rock music.

The first huge trucks full of carnival equipment lumbered onto the scene, picking their way through the heaps of gravel and tar and dodging heavy graders.

Parking is not her only worry, Mrs. McCoy said. The 15 community groups and clubs manning the food booths are struggling to find meat and other foodstuffs to sate the fair-goers' hunger.

Mrs. McCoy said the 1973 version of the fair will add new attractions to the traditional emphasis on art, crafts and

Development Near Airport Advances By Single Vote

By ERIK M. INGRAM

A long-stalled plan for commercial recreation development south of Gnoss Field was approved yesterday on a 4-to-3 vote of the Marin County Planning Commission. (Other Marin County Planning Commission stories, page 18.)

The proposed development, which goes next to county supervisors, calls for a 45-space trailer campground, boat moorings, a restaurant and related shops on 48 acres along Black John Slough.

The planning commission last month voted to postpone action on the master plan and use permit until expansion plans for Gnoss Field are completed.

Developer Peter Lind, threatening legal action for inverse condemnation, appealed to county supervisors who directed the planners to proceed with hearings on the plan.

Approval yesterday came after Lind agreed to delay consideration of uses for a strip of land which ties under the approach to a proposed east-west runway at the county airport.

Planning for that approach strip will await completion of the airport's expansion plan and a decision on how much air space will be needed for an "aviation easement."

County Aviation Commissioner Michael W. Sweeley urged delay or denial of the proposal, saying copies of the Gnoss Field plan will be available by the end of this week.

He said the proposed development was not compatible with the airport primarily because of airplane noise.

Commissioner Margaret B. Azevedo moved approval of the project after arguing that the noise factor was not as crucial for Lind's recreational development as it would be if he proposed residential use of the land.

Mrs. Azevedo added that "there's a need in the community for a recreation trailer facility" and such use would be compatible with the airport.

Opposing the plan were Jerry Friedman, William C. Long and Gloria Duncan.

Friedman said he viewed the development as incompatible with the nearby airport and added that approval of only part of the plan was "piecemeal planning."

Long agreed, adding the development "will result in a concentration of people in the noise impact area of the existing north-south runway" as well as the proposed future runway.

False Alarm Report At Civic Center

Mechanical failure in the Civic Center alarm system caused several hundred persons to leave the building at 11:15 a.m. today — before sheriff's deputies could reassure them the clanging bells were a false alarm.

Auto Industry Requests Price Increase Approval

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The auto industry urged the Cost of Living Council today to approve a "no-profit" price increase ranging up to $106 per car on 1974 models to pay for safety devices required by the government.

The requested increases range from $55 a car for American Motors to $106 for Ford. General Motors proposed a $102 increase and Chrysler a $71 increase.

Industry representatives said the price hikes were needed to pay for stronger shock absorbing systems and improved anti-pollution equipment. The 1974 model cars must also be equipped with an interlock system requiring drivers to buckle seat belts before a car can be started.

Ford Comptroller Kenneth C. Merrill told the council at a one-day hearing that Ford wants to recover "only the cost of safety devices" on 1974 models.

A General Motors vice president, Henry W. Welch, another early witness at the hearing, said GM's request "includes no profit for GM — these cost increases represent equipment changes required to meet government mandated safety standards."

Toyomenka Trading Co., Chicago, had purchased the cattle and apparently figured the $24,500 air fare was worth the price because Japanese consumers are paying more than $11 a pound for sirloin.

Growth Limits Hearings Slated

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Hearings on far-reaching proposals to restrict industrial and residential expansion will be held here Sept. 5 and 6 by the Environmental Protection Agency.

The aim of the proposals is to prevent spreading pollution around — shifting excess pollution to areas with clean air under the guise of complying with federal air quality standards.

The hearings will begin each day at 9 a.m. in the Seacliff Room of the Hyatt Regency Hotel in the Embarcadero Center. Evening hearings will begin at 7 p.m.

The sessions were billed as "public" hearings, but the EPA traditionally permits federal, state and local officials to testify before the general public. The result at a recent EPA hearing was to bar public testimony until the end of the first afternoon.

The proposals were issued by the agency after the Sierra Club won a Supreme Court test of its contention the Clean Air Act requires the agency to keep air that is still clean from getting dirty.

The proposals, however, already have been denounced by the Sierra Club as in "flagrant violation" of the court order.

Sixteen other organizations, including conservation groups, labor unions and civic organizations, have joined the Sierra Club to oppose the agency's four alternative proposals at hearings here and in Atlanta, Dallas, Denver and Washington.

The acting administrator of the EPA when the proposals were issued in July, Robert W. Fri, cautioned the proposals "will have a substantial impact on the nature, extent and location of future industrial, commercial and residential development throughout the U.S."

One proposal would limit the increase in sulfur dioxide and particulate levels where 1972 levels were cleaner than federal standards. Most of the Bay Area met the standards last year, according to the Air Pollution Control District.

Slaying Protest

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — Workers struck in the beachfront resort of Mar Del Plata today to protest the slaying of a rightist union leader in front of his home.

In Buenos Aires, workers took over city hall, closed cemeteries and left trash uncollected to demand the resignation of Mayor Juan Virgilio Debenedetti. But shortly before the takeover ended, a government spokesman said "no resignation has been received, much less accepted."

Leftist guerrillas fired bursts of submachine gun fire from a speeding car yesterday and killed Marcelino Mansailla, the head of the Mar Del Plata branch of the General Workers Federation, Argentina's nationwide labor organization.

Pact Signed

NEW DELHI (UPI) — India and Pakistan signed an agreement today for the repatriation of hundreds of thousands of persons stranded by the 1971 war.

It provides for the repatriation of some 90,000 Pakistani prisoners of war held in India, the return home of some 160,000 Bengalis stranded in Pakistan, and transportation for a large number of pro-Pakistani Moslems from Bangladesh to Pakistan.

The agreement came after 11 days of intense negotiations between the two countries.

Red Shellings

SAIGON (UPI) — The South Vietnamese command said today Communists killed 21 civilians and wounded 35 in shellings against a half-dozen small towns and hamlets across the country.

Military sources also reported that fighting around a government infantry position in the Mekong Delta 99 miles southwest of Saigon killed 22 Communists and 26 government troopers were wounded in the Monday afternoon clash.

Center Renamed

HOUSTON (UPI) — The Manned Spacecraft Center was officially dedicated the "Lyndon B. Johnson Space Center" on the 65th anniversary of the late president's birthday yesterday. His widow, Lady Bird Johnson, attended ceremonies renaming the Houston space complex.

A day of events in Johnson's honor began in Austin, at the LBJ Library, where a commemorative LBJ stamp was issued. It went on sale in post offices across the nation today.

Throughout the day, Johnson was praised as a man who helped the downtrodden, worked for world peace and formulated the policy that took America to the moon.

Charge Dropped

TAOS, N.M. (UPI) — Federal charges against Edwin M. Gaudet Jr. accusing him of threatening President Nixon have been dropped, but he was arraigned yesterday on a New Mexico charge of assaulting a police officer.

Two other state assault counts filed against him were dropped.

Gaudet was ordered jailed in lieu of $25,000 bond.

Soldier Slain

BELFAST (UPI) — Two girls lured a part-time soldier in the Ulster Defense Regiment to his death in Armagh today when machine gun fire cut him down as he investigated a car they told him was booby-trapped, the army said.

The private was on patrol with his partner when the two girls told them a car bomb had been planted. Gunmen ambushed the two with machine guns when they arrived at the scene, an army spokesman said.

The unidentified victim died almost instantly. His companion was treated at a hospital for minor injuries and released.

Breakthrough

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Government troops broke through a Highway 4 roadblock 15 miles from the city today, easing but not solving Phnom Penh's supply problems. Torrential rains which swelled the Mekong River out of its banks also eased the plight of river convoys.

Recent heavy rains have helped slow down the fighting and have widened the Mekong River to such an extent that supply convoys can usually escape fire from the banks by staying in the middle of the stream. A convoy carrying ammunition and fuel arrived in Phnom Penh during a 90-minute downpour yesterday that dumped so much rain on the city many of the streets were flooded.

Fair Fatality

UNION CITY, Tenn. (UPI) — A ride called the Spider collapsed at the Obion County Fair last night, killing a 13-year-old boy and injuring eight other children.

The youth, Keith Connell, of Union City, was crushed in the accident which occurred only a short time after the fair officially opened.

Jacqueline Pendergrass, 12, daughter of Police Chief Charles Pendergrass, suffered a fractured neck; Steve Oliver, 13, had a fractured spine, and James Griffin, 13, had cervical injuries. The other children had minor injuries.

The mishap was blamed on threads in a nut that stripped causing one arm of the ride to collapse. Two cars were thrown together.

Stores Closed

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI) — Thousands of shopkeepers shuttered stores across Chile today in the second consecutive week of middle class protests against the troubled Marxist government of President Salvador Allende.

The Central Chamber of Commerce, which claims support of 250,000 small businessmen, ordered members to close their shops for 48 hours and warned the government against interfering.

Chamber President Jorge Martinez said he would extend the strike "for an indefinite period" if the government attempts any "reprisal" or tries to reopen closed shops.

Red Buildup Is Reported At The Sanh

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Pentagon officials say the North Vietnamese have built a larger military base at Khe Sanh, South Vietnam, than even the United States had there when the U.S. Marines spent months outlasting a Communist siege in 1968.

The officials said there was virtually nothing but jungle growth found around the Khe Sanh from the time the Americans vacated the base in the northwestern corner of South Vietnam until just after the January cease-fire.

Since then the North Vietnamese have made it the hub for their operations in the region. They have, according to the officials:

—Moved into the Marines' 3,400 foot unlighted air field and built a new and better 5,300-foot runway with lights allowing 24-hour-a-day operations. However, they have yet to land a plane there, so far as American officials know.

—Built an operations and communications center of 100 buildings about three miles from the air strip.

—Arrayed about 125 antiaircraft guns within five miles of Khe Sanh and constructed four surface-to-air missile (SAM) sites to protect the base should the Americans or South Vietnamese ever to decide to attack by air.

—Built a new road, with at least two steel bridges, running about 170 miles south into Kontum province to move supplies more quickly to their troops. Officials said transport time from Hanoi has been cut in half. The road can also be used in all seasons, whereas the Ho Chi Minh trails in Laos were annual victims of the monsoon.

—Brought in a fleet of 4,000 to 5,000 trucks to distribute supplies.

One official going through aerial photographs taken by pilotless drones flown over the area said, "This is much larger than our setup during the siege."

He said the North Vietnamese appeared to be "developing options." He explained that the buildup did not necessarily mean Hanoi had decided to launch a new offensive but that the North Vietnamese would have much better supply lines should they choose that option, and would have an airfield that could hold their MIG fighters and I128 Beagle bombers should they want to bring those planes into play in the south.

NEARLY OUT OF ANOTHER ERA

In many sections of the nation horse power is still the farming mode, especially to the Mennonites who do not believe in modern mechanization. Leading the team of horses yesterday in a field near Goodville, Lancaster County, Pa., was a youngster who was too small to reach to seat of the cultivator. He had guidance, however, from his father.

Rebozo Helped Purchase San Clemente Property

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI) — The White House says President Nixon's Florida banker friend Charles G. (Bebe) Rebozo was the mystery investor who joined with New York industrialist Robert H. Abplanalp in the $1.2 million purchase of the bulk of Nixon's 28.9-acre oceanside estate.

Details of the purchase of the palm-dotted spread were released in a voluminously documented statement to "completely and irrevocably" refute "false impressions and false allegations" that the President's home was financed with funds left over from the 1968 election campaign, the White House said.

Under the deal, Abplanalp, also a close personal friend of the President, and Rebozo paid $1,249,000 for 23 acres of the estate, enabling Nixon to write off $625,000 in unsecured loans from Abplanalp and to purchase the remaining 5.9 acres that includes his homesite at a cost of $340,000.

The third version of the transaction to be made public was prepared by Coopers and Lybrand, a major New York accounting firm, and was described by Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren as the "unprecedented" step in baring a president's personal financial affairs.

(The New York Times reported today Coopers and Lybrand used to be called Lybrand, Ross Brothers and Montgomery, and three top executives of the company were convicted in 1968 of mail fraud and filing false statements. The Times said Nixon gave all three men a complete pardon Dec. 20, 1972.)

(However, White House press secretary Ronald Ziegler told the Times that the men pardoned by President Nixon had withdrawn from the accounting firm, have not been with the firm for years and that the present partners had nothing to do with any presidential pardon.)

White House spokesmen previously had refused to identify the secret partner, or to give the name of the investment company involved. A presidential aide explained that Rebozo had preferred his involvement to remain private.

Reports surrounding the financing of Nixon's properties and the $10 million in government expenditures at the California and Florida White houses for security reasons have been subject to public criticism and hurt the President's image. Nixon was anxious to put all questions on the purchase to rest "once and for all," Warren said.

The report showed Nixon has paid out a total of $402,439 in interest, principal and improvements. The president still owes $264,440 on an estate which cost him, along with the improvements he subsequently, made a total of $468,424.

According to local real estate experts, its value now is well over $1 million.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Slaying Protest

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — Workers struck in the beachfront resort of Mar Del Plata today to protest the slaying of a rightist union leader in front of his home.

In Buenos Aires, workers took over city hall, closed cemeteries and left trash uncollected to demand the resignation of Mayor Juan Virgilio Debenedetti. But shortly before the takeover ended, a government spokesman said "no resignation has been received, much less accepted."

Leftist guerrillas fired bursts of submachine gun fire from a speeding car yesterday and killed Marcelino Mansailla, the head of the Mar Del Plata branch of the General Workers Federation, Argentina's nationwide labor organization.

Pact Signed

NEW DELHI (UPI) — India and Pakistan signed an agreement today for the repatriation of hundreds of thousands of persons stranded by the 1971 war.

It provides for the repatriation of some 90,000 Pakistani prisoners of war held in India, the return home of some 160,000 Bengalis stranded in Pakistan, and transportation for a large number of pro-Pakistani Moslems from Bangladesh to Pakistan.

The agreement came after 11 days of intense negotiations between the two countries.

Red Shellings

SAIGON (UPI) — The South Vietnamese command said today Communists killed 21 civilians and wounded 35 in shellings against a half-dozen small towns and hamlets across the country.

Military sources also reported that fighting around a government infantry position in the Mekong Delta 99 miles southwest of Saigon killed 22 Communists and 26 government troopers were wounded in the Monday afternoon clash.

Drive-In Permit Extended A Year

Commissioners extended for one year a use permit for J and R Drive-Inn at 151 San Anselmo Avenue, according to T.J. Robbins, associate planner.

Commissioners told applicant Ray Offenbach the city expected a "neat and favorable operation," he said.

The San Anselmo Planning Commission Also:

CEDAR STREET — Rezoned 47 and 49 Cedar Street from two-family residence district to single-family residence district.

RED HILL AVENUE — Told applicant Roland A. Mireles that specific plan development is a more appropriate zoning than neighborhood apartment district for 250 and 240 Red Hill Avenue, and Mireles withdrew his request for apartment district rezoning.

APARTMENT — Approved David Bartruff's request that office space at 721 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard be converted into a single-family apartment.

RED HILL CENTER — Deferred acting on an application by Grubb and Ellis Co to construct additional shops in the Red Hill shopping center.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to 8 p.m. Sept. 17.

Air-Saving Device Developed For Homes

CHICAGO (UPI) — A new device, literally run on air, converts deadly carbon monoxide into harmless carbon dioxide and could be used effectively to cleanse the air in homes and apartments, according to Dr. William G. Lloyd.

Lloyd, who developed the device in research at Western Kentucky University in Bowling Green, said it could eventually become an air-cleaning attachment to humidifiers, heating system and even exhaust fans for kitchen stoves.

Citing a published report which reached the conclusion that some New York City buildings may have to be sealed if carbon monoxide levels continue to grow, Lloyd said his device could be of use in such cases.

"It is primarily a device for air repurification, not exhaust treatment," he said.

The device, Lloyd said, is unique in that it can convert carbon monoxide at low temperatures.

Present devices, he said, such as the exhaust emission controls in cars, ferret out and destroy carbon monoxide only when the stream of gas in which the material is contained is very hot.

"It literally runs on air," Lloyd said, "using the oxygen in the air to convert the CO (carbon monoxide) to CO2 (carbon dioxide)."

Lloyd said the device has proven effective at temperatures from 180 degrees to room temperature of 72 degrees.

"We get anywhere from 97 to 99 per cent conversions. I hate to say 100 per cent conversions, but in the best tests, we can't detect the remaining carbon monoxide," he said.

Lloyd said he did not foresee any direct applications of his device in the automotive industry, though, he said, it could be used to supplement the present exhaust emissions control system.

The Spotlight Is Stolen By Ford's New Mustang

CORONADO (UPI) — Mustang II, smaller but more luxurious than ever, held the spotlight today as Ford unveiled its 1974 line of cars.

Seven inches shorter than the original Mustang which hit the market in 1964 and 19 inches shorter than the '73, the car combines economy with luxury.

"Mustang II appears to be the right car at the right time," Bennett E. Bidwell, vice president and Ford Division general manager, said. "Americans increasingly want the functional advantages of a small car but they don't want to sacrifice the comfort and luxury of a big car. Mustang II has them all."

A four-cylinder engine is basic but a six-cylinder one is optional. The car will deliver 16-20 miles to the gallon, according to Ford President Lee A. Iacocca.

Full, rich carpeting is standard. The dashboard has a simulated woodgrain finish. There are bucket seats, and the instrument panel is tops, including a tachometer even with an automatic transmission.

Mustang II will be available in two body styles and four models, varying from the familiar notchback to the rear-opening hatchback.

Especially evident is one-third thicker quality paint work.

The Torino also shows changes but not as drastic as Mustang II and they primarily are in appearance and larger engines.

Upper-series models have a new front appearance, including a new grille and front bumper.

Bidwell predicted small car sales would exceed one million in 1974, up at least 100,000 from 1973. While Mustang II is targeted at 350,000, the Pintos and Mavericks also are expected to do well.

Pinto offers a more powerful engine, deluxe sound proofing and an improved suspension among other things.

Maverick, shooting for the family field, offers more options, including front disc brakes and cut-pile carpeting.

Thunderbird, too, offers changes including a new rear end with full-width tail lamps and a new bumper. The 460-CID V-8 engine is now standard instead of optional, as is the quick-starting, solid-state ignition.

The 1974 Fords all have new grilles, better bumper protection and a new front seat occupant-restrain interlock system.

Plea In Drug Case Entered

A San Anselmo man, who pleaded guilty to possessing marijuana and hashish in exchange for dropping of other drug charges, is to be sentenced Sept. 17 in Marin Superior Court.

As part of a plea bargain agreed to by Judge Charles Read Best, Robert Lee Burton, 27, will not be prosecuted for possessing heroin and cocaine.

Burton was arrested Feb. 21 when a Marin sheriff's deputy saw his car parked on Panoramic Highway and reported finding the drugs inside.

Parole Is Granted To Former Official

The U.S. Parole Board granted parole to Flowers yesterday, and also to a Birmingham, Ala., businessman convicted with Flowers on the same charge, Oscar E. Hyde.

Chrysler's Offer Called A 'Mockery'

DETROIT (UPI) — Chrysler Corp. today offered its 127,500 workers a new contract which was labeled a "mockery" by the United Auto Workers and quickly rejected.

"This offer is not only disappointing, but a mockery of collective bargaining," UAW President Leonard Woodcock told newsmen within an hour after Chrysler made the proposal.

Woodcock said his optimism of reaching an agreement with Chrysler — the union's strike target — by 11:59 p.m. Sept. 14 had become more remote.

While Chrysler Vice President William O'Brien refused to place a percentage figure on the proposed contract, he said it fell well within Phase IV guidelines which limit wage and fringe benefit increases to 6.2 per cent. Observers said it probably would be costed out near 4 per cent.

"It is well, well, well, within the guidelines," said Woodcock.

UAW Vice President Douglas A. Fraser, who heads the union's Chrysler department said O'Brien apparently "is confused between 6.2 per cent and 2.6 per cent" and said many of the proposals were really take-aways.

The basic wage increase would hike hourly pay by 11 cents to 23 cents.

"This proposal is a basis for getting off the ground and into serious bargaining," O'Brien told newsmen. "We made our offer early and hope to reach a settlement without an interruption of production."

O'Brien said that the typical assembly worker in Chrysler's U.S. and Canadian plants would get base rate increases totaling 43 cents hourly over the three-year life of the contract. But he said the offer did not deal with two major demands of the UAW—voluntary overtime and a change in the cost of living formula which protects workers from inflation.

"The increases provided in this proposal would keep earnings and benefits for Chrysler employes in the United States and Canada among the highest in any major North American manufacturing industry," O'Brien said.

The company also proposed 12 paid holidays in the new contract, only one more than in the present contract. The union had demanded three additional holidays.

O'Brien said the offer also contains proposals to deal with problems of absenteeism, union representation and skilled trades.

"At this point we believe this should provide the basis for resolving any remaining areas of difference and should lead to the prompt conclusion of a contract," he said.

While O'Brien would not place a percentage figure on the total package it is expected to come out somewhere below the 6.2 per cent ceiling under Phase IV guidelines.

QUAKE

rumors when a quake hits," he said, "but these reports came from serious people in several different areas."

The earthquake rocked tall buildings in Mexico City for several minutes, but no major damage or casualties were reported. The fire department said the temblor caused short circuits throughout the city but no major fires broke out. One unit raced to the southern part of the city where a wall collapsed.

The Mexican Seismological Institute said the quake measured 6 on the Mercali Scale and appeared to have been centered about 120 miles southeast of Mexico City. The Mercali scale ranges from 1 for a light quake to 12 for total destruction.

The earthquake appeared centered on the border of Vera Cruz and Oaxaca States. Guillermo Escolli, a newsman in the town of Cordoba, near Orizaba, reported heavy damage, especially the 80-year-old city hall. He said police cordoned off the building for fear the walls would collapse into the streets.

Escolli said the quake was so violent it tore a water heater off the wall of his kitchen, spewing hot water over the room.

The U.S. Earthquake Center reported the magnitude of the temblor was 7 on the Richter Scale, an open-ended scale in which 7 would mean heavy destruction. The Mexican Seismological Institute said the earthquake measured 5.5 on the Richter Scale in Mexico City.

state to divide its territory into two zones. A Zone II area would have the same limits as in the first proposal, which allow increases of from 2 to 25 per cent in pollution levels. A Zone I area could not increase pollution except for miniscule amounts.

The Zone I standards would bar even a single small fossil-fuel power plant, municipal incinerator, large apartment complex or medium-scale residential or commercial development.

The third proposal would require each state to determine, on a case-by-case basis, if a new source of pollution would cause significant deterioration in air quality. Fri said this alternate might result in too liberal interpretations of allowable pollution.

The final proposal would allow an increase in sulfur dioxide that would be 20 per cent greater than the 1972 level, or 10 tons a year per square mile. The particulate ceiling would be a 20 per cent increase or three tons a year per square mile.

Fri said a final decision on which to adopt will be made by mid-November. He has been replaced by John A. Quarles.

Fri said the proposals amount to determining who should decide how to use the land. Factories would have to disperse over large areas to keep from polluting air already clean air, he added. A few big factories could eat up the increase allowed at the expense of development for homes and by small companies.

There are six basic air pollutants defined by the agency, but the other four were not included in the proposals because of major reductions expected by smog controls on motor vehicles. They are nitrogen oxides, carbon monoxide, hydrocarbons and oxidants.

Design Criteria Approved For Tiburon Homes

A set of criteria for judging the design of single-family homes was given preliminary approval last night by the Tiburon Planning Commission.

The city's board of design review drew up the manual to aid in its evaluations of these homes.

According to Richard G. Arjo, director of community development, the manual deals with items such as protection of views, use of sites and safety and drainage features of homes.

He said the criteria may be revised slightly again before the planning commission gives final approval.

Band Cancels; Drummer Hurt

MACON, Ga. (AP) — The Allman Brothers Band canceled an Aug. 31 concert in Jersey City, N.J., today after drummer Claude Butch Trucks was injured in a weekend traffic accident.

Trucks, 26, was reported in fair condition at a hospital. A band spokesman said due to chest injuries he would be unable to work for at leait two weeks.

Bunky Odom, who represents the band's management firm, said Trucks would return in time for a West Coast tour which begins Sept. 14 in Seattle.

Guards Hit Plan To Hire Women

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) —A plan to hire 55 women guards for men's state prisons was called an "experimentation with death" by a prison guard group.

The 3,200-member California Correctional Officers Association said yesterday women guards would pose "a threat to the safety and lives of prison personnel and inmates alike."

The guard group said the women would be hired for less-dangerous prison jobs, but these posts traditionally provided backup support when trouble came.

A reception for Donald W. Johnson, new superintendent of the Sausalito School District, will be held from 7:30 to 9 p.m. Thursday in the library of Martin Luther King School, according to Martha Thompson, president of the Bayside-King Parent-Teacher Association.

A Possible Solution To Auto Paint

By WILLIAM J. HAMPTON
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

DETROIT — Paint cars with powder? Detroit automakers are giving the idea a close look.

So-called powder paint — liquid paint without the liquid — offers a psosible solution.

Interest in powder paint by the auto industry parallels the growth of strict pollution laws for industrial plants. Statutes such as Rule 66 in California threaten to sideline ordinary paint by making it too expensive to control the fumes produced in using it.

While powders are new to the auto world, they are already used to coat such things as pipe, electrical equipment, and tubular furniture. Items are dipped or sprayed with the flour-like powder, then baked to melt the particles together and form a smooth finish.

For Detroit, whose annual auto paint bill tops $250 million, powders are as much a change as current spray painting methods were to the hand brushing used 50 years ago. In those days, when the car was still a novelty rather than a necessity for most people, the enamel took more than a month to air dry.

Mass production forced an end to his horse-and-buggy method. Today, robot spray guns and long bake ovens turn out cars with tougher acrylic paint jobs at rates up to 60 an hour.

Detroit's use of powders has been a cautious one so far. Three years ago Ford began powder coating the canisters it uses in equipment to prevent fuel evaporation. Late last year it began coating light duty truck wheels with powder at its Wayne, Mich., truck plant.

Both applications use only one color, so that powder which misses its target can then be recycled and sprayed again. Problems of using two colors are being studied by General Motors at a pilot line it set up last summer in Framingham, Mass. The line can paint entire car bodies at a rate of three per hour.

Most auto industry spokesmen say equipment to apply powder paint just isn't good enough yet. In a typical auto plant, they note, spray booths must handle 18 colors and be able to switch between any two in four minutes or less.

Chrysler is most pessimistic among Detroit automakers about the future for powders. The company is testing powders for use in nonappearance areas such as the engine compartment or wheel wells, but Chrysler paint expert Norman Price says powder paint so far can't match the finish of less exotic liquid paints.

Ford researchers, however, predict production powder lines for car bodies within five years, even though today's equipment can't keep pace with the assembly line. The equipment builders acknowledge the problem. "We've made a lot of claims about powder," said one, "but now we have to build systems to work day in and day out, not just in the laboratory."

One way of speeding a switch to powders is to mix them in water, then spray them on with the same equipment used for ordinary liquid paint. Ford is investigating this approach, where the only fumes produced in automotive bake ovens is harmless water vapor.

Still unsolved, however, is the unique contamination problem of powder paint. A few drops of one color of liquid paint will blend unnoticed with a second color. But if powders are mixed, the result is a speckled paint job. To blend two powders, both must be melted together and ground into powder again.

Big Enrollments In Colleges Peak

By KENNETH G. GEHRET
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

The phenomenal growth in United States college enrollment may have reached its peak.

The rocketlike trajectory of admissions that began soon after the close of World War II extended well into the 1960s, then started to flatten out near the end of the decade. Last year, enrollments gained only 2.4 per cent.

Thus, getting into college is no longer the problem it was just a few years ago. Increasingly, the shoe is moving to the other foot as colleges compete for the most desirable applicants. Students now are more likely to be accepted by their second choices, if not their first choice.

This year's enrollment totals may show no advance at all. That will not be clear until campuses open in the next few weeks and students are counted. But a standoff in numbers would not surprise officials in higher education.

What is surprising to some observers is the distribution of students over the past year or two. A shift is noted in where they enroll and why. This pertains not to the bulk of students but to sufficient numbers to determine in many cases whether a college or university is filled or has vacancies. And that can be crucial on the balance sheet.

One group of colleges that moved ahead markedly in the past one to three years are those with Protestant church ties. These tend to be smaller, less known, often remote, and conservative. A great many had empty places several years ago when most campuses were burgeoning.

A Monitor spot check of church-related colleges in the Midwest, included in a broader sampling, revelas:

Carthage College, a Lutheran institution in Kenosha, Wis., has bounded back from a low point three years ago and expects a "full complement" of students by the end of this month.

At Adrian College, located in the Michigan town of the same name, freshmen admissions are running 60 ahead of last August, up about 16 per cent. The Methodist-affiliated college anticipates no empty places when the new term begins.

Huntington College, operated by the United Brethren in Christ Church in Huntington, Ind., is 15 per cent ahead of last year in freshmen admissions, though it still has space for 50 more.

Lutheran-affiliated Augsburg College in Minneapolis reports a 5 per cent increase in freshmen enrollment, following a 16 per cent rise last year. Officials there look for a "full house" next month.

Anderson College, a Church of God-related institution in Anderson, Ind., had 100 vacancies on opening day last fall. This year it has already accepted 107 more freshmen than a year ago.

Although the sampling was limited, it seems significant that not a single admissions office contacted had a negative report to offer.

Asked about the brighter enrollment picture on church-affiliated campuses, an executive who works closely with hundreds of small colleges said: "I would hazard the guess that three factors account for this development.

"They charge less than most other private schools, which is increasingly important to families in these times of galloping inflation.

"They are small, which appeals to many students, and closer to home in many cases.

"The schools that have shown the best improvement are probably those that have gone out and done the best job in recruiting."

Several admissions officers confirm that they have intensified their recruiting efforts. Al Waters of Adrian College is one. He attributes the upswing in admissions on his campus to "a lot of hard work" on the part of his staff. "We have been looking at what had been done here, making an institutional analysis," he says. "On that basis we've gone out and sold Adrian."

Huntington College, too, has increased its efforts. "We've had more efficient advertising and more consistent follow-up on inquiries," admissions director George Johnston explains.

Likewise, Dennis Day of Carthage College reports intensified recruiting activity. "Our staff has concentrated on the area within 150 miles of the campus, which takes in Chicago and Milwaukee," he points out. "We want students from more distant points, but we depend on our alumni for those contacts. This strategy has been successful."

Meanwhile, state colleges and universities have registered the biggest gains in enrollment in recent years, far outstripping private campuses as a group. Two-year public institutions have shown dramatic growth and presumably will be up in enrollment again this year

But four-year state campuses as a whole are slackening off. Applications are down 4 per cent this year overall. The admissions picture there is mixed, ranging from the extremes represented by the Universities of Nebraska and West Virginia.

The University of Nebraska at Lincoln had some 1,000 places available at this writing. Openings are most numerous in agriculture and engineering, according to E. Russell Powell of the admissions staff. He says the situation is no worse than last year.

On the other hand, the University of West Virginia at Morgantown expects to up its enrollment by 500 next month, including 200 to 300 additional freshmen. Large numbers of the university's students reportedly come from Pennsylvania, attracted by lower charges than those set in their own state university system.

Private colleges and universities, too, vary as to enrollment trends. Boston University is 25 to 30 freshmen admissions ahead of last year and anticipates the arrival of 3,200 first-term students next month, filling the university "to the hilt in dorms," reports David Leach, associate director of admissions.

Nearby Northeastern University, by contrast, has 150 fewer freshmen admissions to date.

several years to keep the bond rate at about 17 cents year after year. But his motion to set the total tax rate at 89.2 cents for next year ended in a 2-to-2 tie vote.

A fifth councilman, Albert Aramburu, who could have settled the dispute, was absent on vacation.

City staff said that Aramburu would not return in time to meet the Sept. 1 state deadline for setting the tax rate, and Sennett suggested a compromise.

He proposed a total rate of 84 cents; with 11.5 cents devoted to bond payments.

This motion passed three to one with Becker voting "no."

Animals Stolen From Shelter

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A local animal shelter, burglarized five times for money and other valuables in the past two months, reported an even more intriguing crime today — somebody broke in and took 30 puppies and 35 kittens.

Watchmen on duty around the clock at the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals shelter said they heard or saw nothing last Wednesday night when the burglary occurred.

Roger Shambeleau, SPCA manager, said the thief saved about $220 in donation-type fees required to obtain the animals.

"It's got us baffled," Shambeleau added

Boy Suffocates In Family Auto

Temperatures reached the low 90s here during the afternoon.

Daviess County Deputy Coroner Allan Harl said the body of the victim, Christopher Hayward, was found by his mother, who had thought the baby was asleep on the front seat of the auto.

Four Americans Killed In Crash

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — The U.S. Embassy has confirmed four Americans were among the 41 persons killed yesterday in the crash of a Colombian airliner against a mountainside near here.

They were identified as Gregory Baker, 23, of Berlin, Conn.; Nancy Fisher, 23, of Martha's Vineyard, Mass., and Marcia Canby, 23, and Chris Logan, 24, both of Phoenix, Ariz.

OBITUARIES

Richard Mueller Dies At 63

Richard Mueller, a long-time Marin resident and former ranch hand on the Smith Ranch in north San Rafael, died today at a local hospital after a long illness. He was 63.

A native of Wisconsin, Mueller moved to Marin County in 1936, and immediately began the 26 years he was to spend working on the ranch.

He lived on the ranch property for many years, but had lived in San Anselmo since he suffered a stroke about 13 years ago.

His wife of 31 years, Marie, survives him at the family home at 1544 San Anselmo Avenue.

He is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Irene Meyer of Vallejo, Mrs. Anthony Cooper of San Rafael, and Lillian Mueller of Larkspur.

Funeral will be Friday at 9:30 a.m. at Keaton's Mortuary, 1022 E Street, San Rafael. A rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. Thursday, also at Keaton's.

Interment will be at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery.

Homeowner Group Sets First Meet

The Las Gallinas Valley Presidents' Council, a new group striving to represent all homeowners associations in the Las Gallinas Valley, will hold its first meeting at 8 p.m. Thursday at Don Timoteo School.

The new agency will unify homeowner activities in the valley by providing a forum for the heads of a dozen local homeowners associations in Las Gallinas and Lucas valleys, according to Calvin B. Colt, president of the Lucas Valley Homeowners Association.

The council will enrich local organizations by sharing information and expertise, and will strive to spark joint action on issues that affect the entire basin, he said.

Colt said the new group is similar to the Lucas Valley Coalition and the Las Gallinas Valley Council, two groups representative of more than just one local association.

FAIR

gardens that have made the Marin fair different from other county fairs, and a successful crowd-pleaser through the years.

The 38 motion pictures picked from among 102 entered for $1,750 in prizes, will be shown in the Marin Veterans Memorial Building. The Marin Civic Ballet will dance Thursday and Sunday and Robert Shields and Lorene Yarnell will caper on stage Friday and Saturday in the auditorium.

Carnival managers reported they'll have more than twice as many rides in the area eastward of the garden and crafts tents, to avoid the long lines of would-be riders that formed last year.

The Mitchell Marionettes will hold forth three times daily on a little stage in the lawn area; children's TV entertainers the Banana Splits will share a larger outdoor stage with the Musical Wheelers and the High Country western band.

Marin's demon gardners and flower arrangers will bring their proud creations to the exhibit tent Thursday where judges will race to complete their ribbon awarding before the fair opens at 10 a.m.

Like those paving contractors, the judges had better be out of the way promptly.

"Come hell or high water, we're opening on time," Mrs. McCoy said.

Restitution To Jews Of Israel

BONN (UPI) — Since 1952, West Germany has paid 17.6 billion marks ($680 million) to Israeli Jews who suffered Nazi oppression.

Another 12.6 billion marks ($485 million) probably will be paid to the state's citizens in individual restitution.

MRS. GIRAUD

Veronica Giraud, former Petaluma resident, died yesterday at a Napa convalescent hospital after a lengthy illness.

Mrs. Giraud, 93, was a native of France and moved to the United States as a youngster. She lived with her family in Nevada and moved to Petaluma in 1911.

Mrs. Giraud lived at 231 Keller Street until moving to Napa three years ago. She was a member of the Petaluma Golden Age Club and Corona Club. She was the wife of the late Julien Giraud.

She is survived by four daughters, Phyllis Rodgers of Cotati, Lucille Adams of Santa Rosa, Dorothy Burke of Napa and Eugenia Scrugg of Oakland; a son, Julien Giraud of Petaluma; a sister, Marceline Monte of Napa; six grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren.

Funeral will be held at 11 a.m. tomorrow at the Parent Funeral Chapel, Petaluma. Burial will be at Calvary Cemetery.

W. A. SAMPLE

William A. Sample, longtime San Rafael resident, was found dead at home by a relative yesterday. He was 42.

Sample was found seated in a kitchen chair, according to the Marin County coroners office. Cause of death is pending an autopsy.

Sample lived at 10 Pilgrim Way.

He was a veteran of the Korean War.

He is survived by his wife, Dorothy Sample; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Sample of Minneapolis, Minn., a sister and a son.

ELLA RAHN

Funeral for Ella Rahn of Greenbrae, longtime Marin County resident, was held today in San Rafael.

Miss Rahn died Wednesday in a local hospital after a long illness. She was 92.

She was a native of Wisconsin and moved to California 53 years ago. She had lived in Marin for the past 16 years, most recently residing at 12 Corte Los Sombras.

Miss Rahn, who is survived by several nieces and nephews, leaves no immediate family.

Entombment will be in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery.

GEORGE LOVELAND

Funeral for George B. Loveland of San Rafael was held today. He died last Wednesday in a San Francisco hospital after a long illness. He was 60.

He was born in Brooklyn, N.Y., and was a veteran of World War II, serving in the Army Air Corps. He moved to California 27 years ago and for the past 25 years had lived at 303 Coleman Drive. He had worked for the MJB Co. and at the time of his death was working for Lane Bryant clothiers.

He is survived by two brothers, Kenneth A. Loveland and Alfred E. Loveland Jr. both of Seattle, Wash.

Inurnment will be in the Willamette National Cemetery, Portland, Ore.

JACK STANDLEY

Funeral for Jack B. Standley, 57, of Petaluma, will be 2 p.m. tomorrow at Parent Funeral Chapel, Petaluma, and not 11 a.m. as reported in yesterday's Independent-Journal from information supplied by the funeral home.

Chrysler's Offer Called A 'Mockery'

DETROIT (UPI) — Chrysler Corp. today offered its 127,500 workers a new contract which was labeled a "mockery" by the United Auto Workers and quickly rejected.

"This offer is not only disappointing, but a mockery of collective bargaining," UAW President Leonard Woodcock told newsmen within an hour after Chrysler made the proposal.

Woodcock said his optimism of reaching an agreement with Chrysler — the union's strike target — by 11:59 p.m. Sept. 14 had become more remote.

While Chrysler Vice President William O'Brien refused to place a percentage figure on the proposed contract, he said it fell well within Phase IV guidelines which limit wage and fringe benefit increases to 6.2 per cent. Observers said it probably would be costed out near 4 per cent.

"It is well, well, well, within the guidelines," said Woodcock.

UAW Vice President Douglas A. Fraser, who heads the union's Chrysler department said O'Brien apparently "is confused between 6.2 per cent and 2.6 per cent" and said many of the proposals were really take-aways.

The basic wage increase would hike hourly pay by 11 cents to 23 cents.

"This proposal is a basis for getting off the ground and into serious bargaining," O'Brien told newsmen. "We made our offer early and hope to reach a settlement without an interruption of production."

O'Brien said that the typical assembly worker in Chrysler's U.S. and Canadian plants would get base rate increases totaling 43 cents hourly over the three-year life of the contract. But he said the offer did not deal with two major demands of the UAW—voluntary overtime and a change in the cost of living formula which protects workers from inflation.

"The increases provided in this proposal would keep earnings and benefits for Chrysler employes in the United States and Canada among the highest in any major North American manufacturing industry," O'Brien said.

The company also proposed 12 paid holidays in the new contract, only one more than in the present contract. The union had demanded three additional holidays.

O'Brien said the offer also contains proposals to deal with problems of absenteeism, union representation and skilled trades.

"At this point we believe this should provide the basis for resolving any remaining areas of difference and should lead to the prompt conclusion of a contract," he said.

While O'Brien would not place a percentage figure on the total package it is expected to come out somewhere below the 6.2 per cent ceiling under Phase IV guidelines.

QUAKE

rumors when a quake hits," he said, "but these reports came from serious people in several different areas."

The earthquake rocked tall buildings in Mexico City for several minutes, but no major damage or casualties were reported. The fire department said the temblor caused short circuits throughout the city but no major fires broke out. One unit raced to the southern part of the city where a wall collapsed.

The Mexican Seismological Institute said the quake measured 6 on the Mercali Scale and appeared to have been centered about 120 miles southeast of Mexico City. The Mercali scale ranges from 1 for a light quake to 12 for total destruction.

The earthquake appeared centered on the border of Vera Cruz and Oaxaca States. Guillermo Escolli, a newsman in the town of Cordoba, near Orizaba, reported heavy damage, especially the 80-year-old city hall. He said police cordoned off the building for fear the walls would collapse into the streets.

Escolli said the quake was so violent it tore a water heater off the wall of his kitchen, spewing hot water over the room.

The U.S. Earthquake Center reported the magnitude of the temblor was 7 on the Richter Scale, an open-ended scale in which 7 would mean heavy destruction. The Mexican Seismological Institute said the earthquake measured 5.5 on the Richter Scale in Mexico City.

HEARINGS

state to divide its territory into two zones. A Zone II area would have the same limits as in the first proposal, which allow increases of from 2 to 25 per cent in pollution levels. A Zone I area could not increase pollution except for miniscule amounts.

The Zone I standards would bar even a single small fossil-fuel power plant, municipal incinerator, large apartment complex or medium-scale residential or commercial development.

The third proposal would require each state to determine, on a case-by-case basis, if a new source of pollution would cause significant deterioration in air quality. Fri said this alternate might result in too liberal interpretations of allowable pollution.

The final proposal would allow an increase in sulfur dioxide that would be 20 per cent greater than the 1972 level, or 10 tons a year per square mile. The particulate ceiling would be a 20 per cent increase or three tons a year per square mile.

Fri said a final decision on which to adopt will be made by mid-November. He has been replaced by John A. Quarles.

Fri said the proposals amount to determining who should decide how to use the land. Factories would have to disperse over large areas to keep from polluting air already clean air, he added. A few big factories could eat up the increase allowed at the expense of development for homes and by small companies.

There are six basic air pollutants defined by the agency, but the other four were not included in the proposals because of major reductions expected by smog controls on motor vehicles. They are nitrogen oxides, carbon monoxide, hydrocarbons and oxidants.

Design Criteria Approved For Tiburon Homes

A set of criteria for judging the design of single-family homes was given preliminary approval last night by the Tiburon Planning Commission.

The city's board of design review drew up the manual to aid in its evaluations of these homes.

According to Richard G. Arjo, director of community development, the manual deals with items such as protection of views, use of sites and safety and drainage features of homes.

He said the criteria may be revised slightly again before the planning commission gives final approval.

Band Cancels; Drummer Hurt

MACON, Ga. (AP) — The Allman Brothers Band canceled an Aug. 31 concert in Jersey City, N.J., today after drummer Claude Butch Trucks was injured in a weekend traffic accident.

Trucks, 26, was reported in fair condition at a hospital. A band spokesman said due to chest injuries he would be unable to work for at leait two weeks.

Bunky Odom, who represents the band's management firm, said Trucks would return in time for a West Coast tour which begins Sept. 14 in Seattle.

Guards Hit Plan To Hire Women

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) —A plan to hire 55 women guards for men's state prisons was called an "experimentation with death" by a prison guard group.

The 3,200-member California Correctional Officers Association said yesterday women guards would pose "a threat to the safety and lives of prison personnel and inmates alike."

The guard group said the women would be hired for less-dangerous prison jobs, but these posts traditionally provided backup support when trouble came.

A Possible Solution To Auto Paint

By WILLIAM J. HAMPTON
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

DETROIT — Paint cars with powder? Detroit automakers are giving the idea a close look.

So-called powder paint — liquid paint without the liquid — offers a psosible solution.

Interest in powder paint by the auto industry parallels the growth of strict pollution laws for industrial plants. Statutes such as Rule 66 in California threaten to sideline ordinary paint by making it too expensive to control the fumes produced in using it.

While powders are new to the auto world, they are already used to coat such things as pipe, electrical equipment, and tubular furniture. Items are dipped or sprayed with the flour-like powder, then baked to melt the particles together and form a smooth finish.

For Detroit, whose annual auto paint bill tops $250 million, powders are as much a change as current spray painting methods were to the hand brushing used 50 years ago. In those days, when the car was still a novelty rather than a necessity for most people, the enamel took more than a month to air dry.

Mass production forced an end to his horse-and-buggy method. Today, robot spray guns and long bake ovens turn out cars with tougher acrylic paint jobs at rates up to 60 an hour.

Detroit's use of powders has been a cautious one so far. Three years ago Ford began powder coating the canisters it uses in equipment to prevent fuel evaporation. Late last year it began coating light duty truck wheels with powder at its Wayne, Mich., truck plant.

Both applications use only one color, so that powder which misses its target can then be recycled and sprayed again. Problems of using two colors are being studied by General Motors at a pilot line it set up last summer in Framingham, Mass. The line can paint entire car bodies at a rate of three per hour.

Most auto industry spokesmen say equipment to apply powder paint just isn't good enough yet. In a typical auto plant, they note, spray booths must handle 18 colors and be able to switch between any two in four minutes or less.

Chrysler is most pessimistic among Detroit automakers about the future for powders. The company is testing powders for use in nonappearance areas such as the engine compartment or wheel wells, but Chrysler paint expert Norman Price says powder paint so far can't match the finish of less exotic liquid paints.

Ford researchers, however, predict production powder lines for car bodies within five years, even though today's equipment can't keep pace with the assembly line. The equipment builders acknowledge the problem. "We've made a lot of claims about powder," said one, "but now we have to build systems to work day in and day out, not just in the laboratory."

One way of speeding a switch to powders is to mix them in water, then spray them on with the same equipment used for ordinary liquid paint. Ford is investigating this approach, where the only fumes produced in automotive bake ovens is harmless water vapor.

Still unsolved, however, is the unique contamination problem of powder paint. A few drops of one color of liquid paint will blend unnoticed with a second color. But if powders are mixed, the result is a speckled paint job. To blend two powders, both must be melted together and ground into powder again.

Big Enrollments In Colleges Peak

Lutheran-affiliated Augsburg College in Minneapolis reports a 5 per cent increase in freshmen enrollment, following a 16 per cent rise last year. Officials there look for a "full house" next month.

Anderson College, a Church of God-related institution in Anderson, Ind., had 100 vacancies on opening day last fall. This year it has already accepted 107 more freshmen than a year ago.

Although the sampling was limited, it seems significant that not a single admissions office contacted had a negative report to offer.

Asked about the brighter enrollment picture on church-affiliated campuses, an executive who works closely with hundreds of small colleges said: "I would hazard the guess that three factors account for this development.

Meanwhile, state colleges and universities have registered the biggest gains in enrollment in recent years, far outstripping private campuses as a group. Two-year public institutions have shown dramatic growth and presumably will be up in enrollment again this year.

But four-year state campuses as a whole are slackening off. Applications are down 4 per cent this year overall. The admissions picture there is mixed, ranging from the extremes represented by the Universities of Nebraska and West Virginia.

The University of Nebraska at Lincoln had some 1,000 places available at this writing. Openings are most numerous in agriculture and engineering, according to E. Russell Powell of the admissions staff. He says the situation is no worse than last year.

On the other hand, the University of West Virginia at Morgantown expects to up its enrollment by 500 next month, including 200 to 300 additional freshmen. Large numbers of the university's students reportedly come from Pennsylvania, attracted by lower charges than those set in their own state university system.

Private colleges and universities, too, vary as to enrollment trends. Boston University is 25 to 30 freshmen admissions ahead of last year and anticipates the arrival of 3,200 first-term students next month, filling the university "to the hilt in dorms," reports David Leach, associate director of admissions.

Nearby Northeastern University, by contrast, has 150 fewer freshmen admissions to date.

several years to keep the bond rate at about 17 cents year after year. But his motion to set the total tax rate at 89.2 cents for next year ended in a 2-to-2 tie vote.

A fifth councilman, Albert Aramburu, who could have settled the dispute, was absent on vacation.

City staff said that Aramburu would not return in time to meet the Sept. 1 state deadline for setting the tax rate, and Sennett suggested a compromise.

He proposed a total rate of 84 cents, with 11.5 cents devoted to bond payments.

Animals Stolen From Shelter

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A local animal shelter, burglarized five times for money and other valuables in the past two months, reported an even more intriguing crime today — somebody broke in and took 30 puppies and 35 kittens.

Watchmen on duty around the clock at the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals shelter said they heard or saw nothing last Wednesday night when the burglary occurred.

Roger Shambeleau, SPCA manager, said the thief saved about $220 in donation-type fees required to obtain the animals.

"It's got us baffled," Shambeleau added.

Boy Suffocates In Family Auto

Temperatures reached the low 90s here during the afternoon.

Daviess County Deputy Coroner Allan Harl said the body of the victim, Christopher Hayward, was found by his mother, who had thought the baby was asleep on the front seat of the auto.

Four Americans Killed In Crash

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — The U.S. Embassy has confirmed four Americans were among the 41 persons killed yesterday in the crash of a Colombian airliner against a mountainside near here.

They were identified as Gregory Baker, 23, of Berlin, Conn.; Nancy Fisher, 23, of Martha's Vineyard, Mass., and Marcia Canby, 23, and Chris Logan, 24, both of Phoenix, Ariz.

OBITUARIES

Richard Mueller Dies At 63

Richard Mueller, a long-time Marin resident and former ranch hand on the Smith Ranch in north San Rafael, died today at a local hospital after a long illness. He was 63.

A native of Wisconsin, Mueller moved to Marin County in 1936, and immediately began the 26 years he was to spend working on the ranch.

He lived on the ranch property for many years, but had lived in San Anselmo since he suffered a stroke about 13 years ago.

His wife of 31 years, Marie, survives him at the family home at 1544 San Anselmo Avenue.

He is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Irene Meyer of Vallejo, Mrs. Anthony Cooper of San Rafael, and Lillian Mueller of Larkspur.

Funeral will be Friday at 9:30 a.m. at Keaton's Mortuary, 1022 E Street, San Rafael. A rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. Thursday, also at Keaton's.

Interment will be at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery.

Homeowner Group Sets First Meet

The Las Gallinas Valley Presidents' Council, a new group striving to represent all homeowners associations in the Las Gallinas Valley, will hold its first meeting at 8 p.m. Thursday at Don Timoteo School.

The new agency will unify homeowner activities in the valley by providing a forum for the heads of a dozen local homeowners associations in Las Gallinas and Lucas valleys, according to Calvin B. Colt, president of the Lucas Valley Homeowners Association.

The council will enrich local organizations by sharing information and expertise, and will strive to spark joint action on issues that affect the entire basin, he said.

Colt said the new group is similar to the Lucas Valley Coalition and the Las Gallinas Valley Council, two groups representative of more than just one local association.

FAIR

gardens that have made the Marin fair different from other county fairs, and a successful crowd-pleaser through the years.

The 38 motion pictures picked from among 102 entered for $1,750 in prizes, will be shown in the Marin Veterans Memorial Building. The Marin Civic Ballet will dance Thursday and Sunday and Robert Shields and Lorene Yarnell will caper on stage Friday and Saturday in the auditorium.

Carnival managers reported they'll have more than twice as many rides in the area eastward of the garden and crafts tents, to avoid the long lines of would-be riders that formed last year.

The Mitchell Marionettes will hold forth three times daily on a little stage in the lawn area; children's TV entertainers the Banana Splits will share a larger outdoor stage with the Musical Wheelers and the High Country western band.

Marin's demon gardners and flower arrangers will bring their proud creations to the exhibit tent Thursday where judges will race to complete their ribbon awarding before the fair opens at 10 a.m.

Like those paving contractors, the judges had better be out of the way promptly.

"Come hell or high water, we're opening on time," Mrs. McCoy said.

Restitution To Jews Of Israel

BONN (UPI) — Since 1952, West Germany has paid 17.6 billion marks ($680 million) to Israeli Jews who suffered Nazi oppression.

Another 12.6 billion marks ($485 million) probably will be paid to the state's citizens in individual restitution.

MRS. GIRAUD

Veronica Giraud, former Petaluma resident, died yesterday at a Napa convalescent hospital after a lengthy illness.

Mrs. Giraud, 93, was a native of France and moved to the United States as a youngster. She lived with her family in Nevada and moved to Petaluma in 1911.

Mrs. Giraud lived at 231 Keller Street until moving to Napa three years ago. She was a member of the Petaluma Golden Age Club and Corona Club. She was the wife of the late Julien Giraud.

She is survived by four daughters, Phyllis Rodgers of Cotati, Lucille Adams of Santa Rosa, Dorothy Burke of Napa and Eugenia Scrugg of Oakland; a son, Julien Giraud of Petaluma; a sister, Marceline Monte of Napa; six grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren.

Funeral will be held at 11 a.m. tomorrow at the Parent Funeral Chapel, Petaluma. Burial will be at Calvary Cemetery.

W. A. SAMPLE

William A. Sample, longtime San Rafael resident, was found dead at home by a relative yesterday. He was 42.

Sample was found seated in a kitchen chair, according to the Marin County coroners office. Cause of death is pending an autopsy.

Sample lived at 10 Pilgrim Way.

He was a veteran of the Korean War.

He is survived by his wife, Dorothy Sample; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Sample of Minneapolis, Minn., a sister and a son.

ELLA RAHN

Funeral for Ella Rahn of Greenbrae, longtime Marin County resident, was held today in San Rafael.

Miss Rahn died Wednesday in a local hospital after a long illness. She was 92.

She was a native of Wisconsin and moved to California 53 years ago. She had lived in Marin for the past 16 years, most recently residing at 12 Corte Los Sombras.

Miss Rahn, who is survived by several nieces and nephews, leaves no immediate family.

Entombment will be in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery.

GEORGE LOVELAND

Funeral for George B. Loveland of San Rafael was held today. He died last Wednesday in a San Francisco hospital after a long illness. He was 60.

He was born in Brooklyn, N.Y., and was a veteran of World War II, serving in the Army Air Corps. He moved to California 27 years ago and for the past 25 years had lived at 303 Coleman Drive. He had worked for the MJB Co. and at the time of his death was working for Lane Bryant clothiers.

He is survived by two brothers, Kenneth A. Loveland and Alfred E. Loveland Jr. both of Seattle, Wash.

Inurnment will be in the Willamette National Cemetery, Portland, Ore.

JACK STANDLEY

Funeral for Jack B. Standley, 57, of Petaluma, will be 2 p.m. tomorrow at Parent Funeral Chapel, Petaluma, and not 11 a.m. as reported in yesterday's Independent-Journal from information supplied by the funeral home.

Embassy In Paris Gets Bomb

LONDON (UPI) — Britain's letter bomb scare spread to Paris today where an explosive in an envelope was delivered to the British embassy but was discovered before it exploded. It was the second bomb found in a British embassy in two days, the Foreign Office said.

The letter had been mailed somewhere in England, police said. The bomb, in a white envelope six-by-four inches, was addressed to a member of the embassy staff in "irregular handwriting" similar to that used on other letter bombs discovered in London and attributed to an Irish Republican Army terror campaign, the spokesman said. The letter was handed over to French police who confirmed it contained a bomb.

The House of Commons was sealed off yesterderday to investigate a bomb report. The House was not in session and the Parliament buildings were not evacuated.

Yesterday, a letter bomb exploded at the British embassy in Washington, severely injuring the personal aide to the military attache.

In England, the biggest bomb alert since World War II was in effect today as Britons returned to work from a three-day weekend. No bombs were found in the stacks of unopened mail but there were hundreds of calls to police asking that packages be inspected.

Police loudspeakers were stationed at subway and train stations broadcasting warnings to be alert for suspicious packages. The BBC broadcast bomb warnings every 15 minutes.

"Examine your mail carefully," warned a police loudspeaker stationed at Charing Cross, one of London's main railroad commuter stations. "Do not open anything that might include a paperback book unless you are sure of where it comes from."

So far three persons have been injured in letter bomb explosions in London in addition to the secretary at the Washington embassy.

"I'm still of the opinion that there is a distinct danger," said Ernest Bond, deputy assistant police commission at Scotland Yard.

He said his men checked 360 parcels in the first five hours of business and was receiving an average of "a hundred calls an hour" reporting suspicious letters.

A bomb squad tripled the number of men assigned to the bomb squad — from 40 to 120 members — and police sources said it would take all day to catch up with the reports.

Police outside London reported fewer alerts. Manchester police got only six during the morning. Liverpool police handled 23 calls. All proved false alarms.

FBI To Channel Bomb Explosion Investigation Outside Country

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The FBI said today that most of the investigation of a letter bomb that exploded in the British Embassy and severely injured a woman employe yesterday would have to be conducted outside the United States.

Mrs. Nora Murray, 51, a British subject born in the Irish Republic, caught the force of the explosion as she opened the mail and lost her left hand.

Mrs. Murray, a secretary, also suffered a broken left forearm and lost portions of her right thumb and index finger. Plastic surgery was performed for lacerations of her face, shoulders and chest.

She was reported "in serious condition but satisfactory" at George Washington University Hospital, where a spokesman said she spent a comfortable night.

An FBI spokesman said the agency was investigating, but there was little it could do since the bomb traveled through British military courier channels.

"All we had happen here was that a bomb went off," an FBI spokesman said. "The bomb didn't originate here, and most of the investigation will have to be conducted by British authorities. Our jurisdiction stops at the national boundary."

The embassy reported it was "back to normal" today but watching incoming mail more intensely.

The embassy said the bomb was in a light colored envelope seven inches long, five inches wide and a half inch thick, addressed to Brigadier Giles Mills, the former senior military atttache, who is no longer stationed at the embassy. He was replaced six months ago by Brigadier Henry G. Woods, whose personal assistant was Mrs. Murray.

Embassy officials said the bomb was similar to others found in London last week. But John Grigor Taylor, embassy information officer, said: "I'm not connecting this with the London letter bombs." He declined to speculate whether the outlawed Irish Republican Army (IRA) might have been involved.

The embassy said the letter was apparently mailed from an ordinary post box somewhere in the United Kingdom. It said it did not come by diplomatic pouch but was flown to Dulles International Airport near here either by the Royal Air Force or commercial airliner and was picked up by an embassy car which regularly collects mail for the embassy.

Though it did not go through the U.S. mails, the U.S. Postal Service said it was taking new security measures to guard against similar occurrances.

The State Department issued a statement of "deep regret." Acting Attorney General Robert H. Bork announced a "full" FBI investigation.

It was the second case of injury from a letter bomb in the United States. In October, 1972, a postal worker in New York was maimed when a letter blew up in his hands.

Brigadier Mills' present whereabouts could not immediately be determined. Officials had no explanation why the letter might have been addressed to him.

Nevada Senator Bible To Retire

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Sen. Alan Bible, D-Nev., announced today he will retire from public office when his term expires in January, 1975.

Bible has held public office for nearly 40 years, half of it in the U.S. Senate.

The announcement, made at a news conference here, confirmed earlier reports that Bible would step down.

Nevada Gov. Mike O'Callaghan is one of those expected to seek Bible's seat. Other contenders mentioned are former governors Grant Sawyer, a Democrat, and Paul Laxalt, a Republican.

ART OF CERAMICS

Fair Goers To Have Chance To Watch Throwing Of Pots

By PAUL CANE

Steven Hernandez and Steven Williams are experts at throwing ceramic pots.

In the jargon of the pottery trade, that means making them — not breaking them.

The two young men will join more than 40 other craftsmen Thursday to display and sell their wares at the Marin County Fair, running through Monday at the Civic Center.

Williams, 21, is a graduate of the Pacific Crest alternative high school in Terra Linda, and Hernandez, 17, will complete his studies there this year.

Both of the ceramicists have been putting in long hours recently turning out — literally — the bowls, mugs, vases and pots they hope to sell to fair patrons over the Labor Day weekend.

The technique they use is called throwing — putting a lump of clay on a spinning wheel and fashioning into it into a curvaceous container much as a lathe operator molds wood.

The tools they use are simple: fingers for the preliminary work, and simple wire gouges for finishing touches.

The results of their labors are a myriad of containers of all shapes and sizes, glazed to a glossy finish and fired in a 2,300-degree kiln.

Why make pottery?

"At first I had no intention of doing this as a living," said Williams, who is a partner in a cooperative ceramic studio, The Pottery, of San Rafael. "But then I realized you can't enjoy your work unless you can grow at the same time. Pottery does that for me."

Hernandez lives with his parents in Terra Linda, and operates his business from a garage-studio containing his wheel, glazes, kiln and countless shelves of partially-completed pottery.

Commenting on his work while fashioning eight-inch beer mug handles from damp clay, Hernandez said he became interested in craftsmanship through his parents, both artists. The love of art was nurtured in high school, through art classes taken at Terra Linda High School on a cooperative arrangement with his alternative school.

Each takes his work to local shops and stores to sell, in addition to the summer county fair sales.

The first-hand knowledge each has gained of business practices might be startling to those who believe alternative schools fail to prepare their students for the realities of life.

Each is acutely aware of problems of consignment sale, commission contracts, income tax regulations, fire department and zoning restrictions, bulk purchasing advantages, pricing strategy and consumer psychology — business knowledge learned not from books, but from the day-to-day battle to outsell competitors.

And yet, each young artist considers himself a craftsman first and businessman second.

"I'm generally never satisfied with my pots," Hernandez said. "I don't like to aim for high quantity — production pieces — but then I have trouble keeping my stores supplied with work."

The Marin ceramics market is becoming tigher for the young aritsts because of a flood of work put out by inexperienced artists out only to make a little money, the two agreed.

"There are a lot of people who get a wheel, learn to throw a pot or two, buy some glaze and say, 'Hey, I'm an artist!' " Williams, an eight-year student of ceramics, commented sadly.

The situation is not improved by the number of county fair buyers who go from booth to booth looking for the cheapest pots, with no regard for quality. "I see so many people that go shopping around and look at pricetags without even looking at the quality of what they're buying," Hernandez said.

Class Victory For Girl, 12

MEDINA, Ohio (UPI) — When Theresa Hickey, 12, of Homerville, Ohio, tried to enroll in industrial arts classes at the Black River School District officials had told her she had to take home economics instead, because she was a girl.

Theresa filed a sex discrimination suit in U.S. District Court in Cleveland and was informed yesterday she has won her case when the school decided to settle out of court.

The school board voted during the weekend to allow girls to enter the male dominated classes after all, thus avoiding a court battle. Theresa said she asked to take industrial arts because she wants to help her father with his farm chores.

Ballet, Prize-Winning Films To Highlight Fair's First Day

A Marin Civic Ballet performance and showings of prize-winning film festival entries will highlight opening-day entertainment at the Marin County Fair Thursday

The gates will open at 10 a.m. and remain open until 10 p.m. each day through Monday, at the fairgrounds alongside the Marin Civic Center Lagoon in northern San Rafael.

Winners in the art, photography, garden and flower competitions will be on display throughout the fair, and 31 booths will offer craft and commercial products.

There will be a large carnival, and a circus, boat rides, food booths and all the other traditional trappings of the annual fair

Introducing The United Account.

It accounts for everything.

At United California Bank, we figured that if we could simplify day-to-day banking, the world would beat a path to our vault

So we came up with The United Account.

The United Account takes a wealth of everyday banking services and unites them into one convenient package Instead of paying a separate fee each time you use one of these services, you pay just one low monthly charge that covers them all

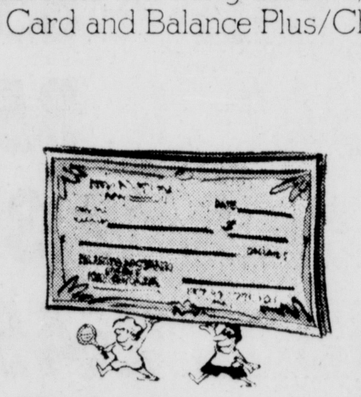
There are two United Account plans

The $2-a-month plan includes a UCB personal checking account, regular savings account, Master Charge Card and Balance Plus/Check Guarantee Account Plus all the other banking services you're likely to want, at no additional charge (Of course, monthly interest charges for Master Charge® and Balance Plus® are not covered by the $2 charge.)

The $3-a-month plan includes the UCB personal checking account and the regular savings account Plus the other banking services at no additional charge.

Whichever plan you choose, there's no minimum balance required

Now that we've told you how The United Account works, the pictures will tell you what you get.



Money orders and cashier's checks.

You can get as many as you want There's no additional service charge

Bank-by-mail.

We pay the postage, coming and going

Unlimited check writing and overdraft protection.

Write as many checks as you need, with no additional service charge And if you ever get carried away, your Balance Plus (included in $2 plan) will cover any overdrafts up to your established credit limit

Safe deposit box.

Unlimited personalized checks. Check Guarantee Card.

Pick your checks from a wide selection, including our new California Scenic checks Your Check Guarantee Card (included in $2 plan) gets them accepted by all UCB offices and many merchants master charge THE INTERBANK CARD

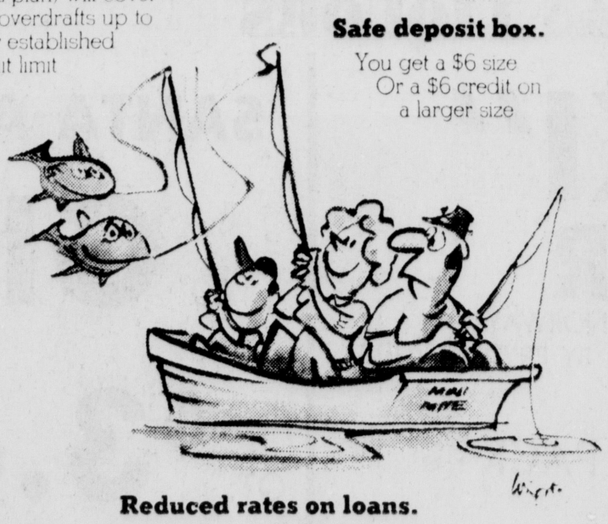
Master Charge Card.

Master Charge (included in $2 plan) is accepted at over 1,000,000 places, from California to the New York Island And good for cash at 5,600 banks

Traveler's checks.

First National City Bank Traveler's Checks are as good as money, but a lot safer And you can get as many as you like with no extra service charge



Reduced rates on loans.

When you qualify for your personal loan of $1,000 or more – boat loan, vacation loan, whatever – you qualify for a special reduced simple-interest rate

ART OF CERAMICS

Fair Goers To Have Chance To Watch Throwing Of Pots

By PAUL CANE

Steven Hernandez and Steven Williams are experts at throwing ceramic pots.

In the jargon of the pottery trade, that means making them — not breaking them.

The two young men will join more than 40 other craftsmen Thursday to display and sell their wares at the Marin County Fair, running through Monday at the Civic Center.

Williams, 21, is a graduate of the Pacific Crest alternative high school in Terra Linda, and Hernandez, 17, will complete his studies there this year.

Both of the ceramicists have been putting in long hours recently turning out — literally — the bowls, mugs, vases and pots they hope to sell to fair patrons over the Labor Day weekend.

The technique they use is called throwing — putting a lump of clay on a spinning wheel and fashioning into it into a curvaceous container much as a lathe operator molds wood.

The tools they use are simple: fingers for the preliminary work, and simple wire gouges for finishing touches.

The results of their labors are a myriad of containers of all shapes and sizes, glazed to a glossy finish and fired in a 2,300-degree kiln.

Why make pottery?

"At first I had no intention of doing this as a living," said Williams, who is a partner in a cooperative ceramic studio, The Pottery, of San Rafael. "But then I realized you can't enjoy your work unless you can grow at the same time. Pottery does that for me."

Hernandez lives with his parents in Terra Linda, and operates his business from a garage-studio containing his wheel, glazes, kiln and countless shelves of partially-completed pottery.

Commenting on his work while fashioning eight-inch beer mug handles from damp clay, Hernandez said he became interested in craftsmanship through his parents, both artists. The love of art was nurtured in high school, through art classes taken at Terra Linda High School on a cooperative arrangement with his alternative school.

Each takes his work to local shops and stores to sell, in addition to the summer county fair sales.

The first-hand knowledge each has gained of business practices might be startling to those who believe alternative schools fail to prepare their students for the realities of life.

Each is acutely aware of problems of consignment sale,commission contracts, income tax regulations, fire department and zoning restrictions, bulk purchasing advantages, pricing strategy and consumer psychology — business knowledge learned not from books, but from the day-to-day battle to outsell competitors.

And yet, each young artist considers himself a craftsman first and businessman second.

"I'm generally never satisfied with my pots," Hernandez said. "I don't like to aim for high quantity — production pieces — but then I have trouble keeping my stores supplied with work."

The Marin ceramics market is becoming tigher for the young aritsts because of a flood of work put out by inexperienced artists out only to make a little money, the two agreed.

"There are a lot of people who get a wheel, learn to throw a pot or two, buy some glaze and say, 'Hey, I'm an artist!' " Williams, an eight-year student of ceramics, commented sadly.

The situation is not improved by the number of county fair buyers who go from booth to booth looking for the cheapest pots, with no regard for quality. "I see so many people that go shopping around and look at pricetags without even looking at the quality of what they're buying," Hernandez said.

Class Victory For Girl, 12

MEDINA, Ohio (UPI) — When Theresa Hickey, 12, of Homerville, Ohio, tried to enroll in industrial arts classes at the Black River School District officials had told her she had to take home economics instead, because she was a girl.

Theresa filed a sex discrimination suit in U.S. District Court in Cleveland and was informed yesterday she has won her case when the school decided to settle out of court.

The school board voted during the weekend to allow girls to enter the male dominated classes after all, thus avoiding a court battle. Theresa said she asked to take industrial arts because she wants to help her father with his farm chores.

Introducing The United Account.

It accounts for everything.

At United California Bank, we figured that if we could simplify day-to-day banking, the world would beat a path to our vault

So we came up with The United Account.

The United Account takes a wealth of everyday banking services and unites them into one convenient package. Instead of paying a separate fee each time you use one of these services, you pay just one low monthly charge that covers them all.

There are two United Account plans.

The $2-a-month plan includes a UCB personal checking account, regular savings account, Master Charge Card and Balance Plus/Check Guarantee Account. Plus all the other banking services you're likely to want, at no additional charge. (Of course, monthly interest charges for Master Charge® and Balance Plus® are not covered by the $2 charge.)

The $3-a-month plan includes the UCB personal checking account and the regular savings account. Plus the other banking services at no additional charge.

Whichever plan you choose, there's no minimum balance required.

Now that we've told you how The United Account works, the pictures will tell you what you get.

Regulations Are Set On Meat Cuts

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI) — The Department of Consumer Protection has released new labeling regulations directing butchers to tell it like it is.

The regulations, published yesterday in the Connecticut Law Journal, give detailed instructions on how meat cuts are to be made and named.

The main point is that all cuts of cattle, pork, and lamb are to be displayed with a conspicuous label telling exactly what the cut is. The label must also tell whether the bone is removed or still remains in the cut.

Certain display names are strictly prohibited, as being "fanciful names." These include such terms as "his and her steaks," "chicken steak" and others.

Various non-technical names not considered fanciful are permitted, such as "pot roast" or "delmonico steak," provided the regulation name of the cut appears ahead of and equal in size to the common name.

The regulations apply both to shelf labeling and to newspaper and broadcast advertising. Exemptions may be granted for kosher meats or other possible ethnic preferences.

The regulations were adopted earlier in the year and actually became effective Aug. 6. However, retailers are being allowed 60 days from that date to comply with the regulations.

Other administrative rule changes published in the Connecticut Law Journal included one by the Commission on Special Revenue to encourage the sale of lottery tickets in vending machines.

The Department of Consumer Protection gave notice of intent to amend regulations on unit pricing,advertisements in newspapers and on broadcast media. A hearing will be held on the matter Oct. 2 at the state capitol.

Economic Expansion Slowed During July

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nation's economic expansion slowed slightly in July, the Commerce Department said today.

The department issued a report of leading economic indicators, regarded as an economic early warning system, which showed a 1.1 per cent overall rise in July compared to an average of more than 1.5 per cent in the first three months of the year.

The index, made up of eight indicators, stood at 167.5 for July, based on a 1967 level of 100. But four indicator statistics, usually included in the index, were not available.

The rise in interest rates dampened plans for investment in construction and new plants and equipment orders for durable goods, such as cars and appliances.

On the growth side, industrial material prices, unemployment insurance claims, stock prices and the average work week went up.

The gain in industrial materials prices, rising from a June index level of 170.1 to 178.1 for July, contributed most to the gain in the indicators index.

The main downward pressure in the index was in building permits, dropping from an index of 174.9 to 156.5.

The other indicators signaling further growth included a drop in the initial claims for unemployment insurance, from 238,000 to 221,000. The average work week increased from 40.6 hours in June to 40.9 hours in July.

The declining indicators included a drop in new orders for durable goods, from $43.02 billion in June to $42.71 in July. The price-labor cost ratio declined from 105.9 to 105.6 in July and contracts for orders for plant and equipment dropped slightly from $13.64 billion to $13.62 billion.

Directory Aid Charge Is Set

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Persons calling information through the Cincinnati Bell Telephone Co. soon will be charged for the service, telephone company officials announced yesterday.

The firm said it believes it is the first telephone company in the nation to receive permission from a state to charge for directory assistance.

The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio has authorized a 20 cent charge for each information call after three free calls each month.

The Issue Of Presidential Confidentiality

Independent-Journal
SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY
10 SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA, TUESDAY, AUGUST 28, 1973 EDITORIAL PAGE

Judge John J. Sirica is expected to announce tomorrow his decision on whether President Richard M. Nixon should produce tape recordings of White House conversations sought by Special Prosecutor Archibald Cox as evidence for the Watergate grand jury.

We have no idea what Judge Sirica's decision will be. Whatever it is, it is sure to be appealed. The issue is headed for the Supreme Court, and likely will get there with little delay — perhaps in time for the court's reconvening in October after its summer vacation.

WHATEVER the decision, however, there is one contention of the President regarding these tapes that is so extraordinary it deserves comment. This is the issue of confidentiality as a presidential necessity, apart from the argument over executive privilege.

President Nixon raised this issue in his refusal to give the tapes to the Ervin Committee. He stressed it at length in his television address to the nation on Aug. 15. And he referred to it again in his press conference last week.

In his televised speech, the President said:

"It is absolutely essential, if the President is to be able to do his job as the country expects, that he be able to talk openly and candidly with his advisers about issues and individuals and that they be able to talk in the same fashion with him."

After expanding this line for several minutes, he further said:

"If I were to make public these tapes . . . persons talking with a President would never again be sure that recordings or notes of what they said would not at some future time be made public, and they would guard their words against that possibility."

WE AGREE with the President that those who have initimate discussions with him on important issues — whether they be White House advisers, members of Congress, or foreign diplomats — should have assurance that what they say will remain confidential.

But President Nixon already has destroyed that assurance. He did it by recording the conversations without telling the participants they were to be recorded.

It is to prevent just that kind of destruction of confidentiality that we have laws, both state and federal, against clandestinely recording conversations. California law provides a $2,500 fine and up to three years in prison for such recording. It is called an invasion of privacy.

SINCE PRESIDENT Nixon saw fit to have these conversations taped — without advising the participants they they were being recorded — he himself destroyed confidence in the confidentiality of Oval Room discussions.

He further destroyed it when he permitted his former aide, Robert Haldeman, to take some of the tapes home with him and listen to them. In light of that, can anyone talking with the President ever again be sure that recordings of what he said will not at some future time be made public?

We do not think Judge Sirica's decision — or those by higher courts which follow it — will hinge at all on this particular contention. But we wonder why Mr. Nixon is so intent on preserving confidentiality that his own actions have made impossible.

"I thank you gentlemen for this confidential little chat — and posterity thanks you."

Familiar Refrain Is Heard Again: U.S. Menaced By Russ Arms Gains

WASHINGTON — The curtain is going up on an old familiar drama. The scene opens with wild cries of alarm, "The Russians are coming, the Russians are coming," and we are all defenseless, at their mercy, because of a few mushy-headed disarmament idiots.

The centerpiece this time is the revelation that the Soviet Union has successfully tested on two of their missiles an independently targeted multiple reentry vehicle (MIRV). The curtain raiser is faithful to the well-tried formula. News of the MIRV breakthrough is leaked to heralds of doom and they promptly set the drums to beating.

This is based, it seems to me, on a fundamental illusion of America's inevitable superiority. It has been true since the beginning of the nuclear age when the United States was the sole possessor of the atomic bomb. Years would pass before the Russians could come up with a bomb, it was said.

When they tested their first atomic device several years in advance of most estimates, it brought a shock of surprise. The parallel with MIRV is close. For more than three years the United States has been installing multiple warheads on land-based missiles and on those carried by Polaris and Poseidon submarines. While Sec. of Defense Melvin R. Laird warned that the Russians would develop MIRV the prevailing belief was that their achievement of this advanced technology was some way off. There was even the suggestion that the Russians might refrain from MIRVing with the hope that this would make it easier to reach agreement in SALT II on limiting the number of offensive missiles.

ANY TECHNOLOGY the United States can achieve, so can the Soviet Union. That is the lesson which seems never to be learned as this rerun of the old drama is on once again.

America's MIRV missiles were the reason we could accept the fact of a superior number overall of Soviet missiles without MIRVs. In the next four to five years, as the first Russian tests move on to deployment, that advantage will disappear.

For the doom sayers, not only does this put the nation in deadly peril but it rules out any further effort to arrive at a mutual agreement to cut back strategic armaments. There is, however, a less cataclysmic view. With several years still to go for deployment, the Russians may regard their MIRV as a bargaining chip in the SALT talks to resume in the fall in Geneva.

On our side we hear a lot about bargaining chips. The $12 billion plus long-range submarine Trident is justified as a bargaining counter against a reported similar new sub the Russians are said to have in the works.

WITH THE WHOLE disarmament apparatus so downgraded by the President, the burden of trying to reconcile the new MIRV development will fall on Henry A. Kissinger, the new secretary of state. Kissinger played a leading part in the talks between the President and Leonid I. Brezhnev in the White House in June. The surprising news out of those talks was that the two leaders had agreed a limitation on offensive missiles could be reached in 1974.

Kissinger, along with Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin, played the central role in he breakthrough on SALT I, first in May, 1971, and then in the climax which came just before the Moscow summit a year later. In the Byzantine atmosphere of the White House he was subjected to attacks from two directions. First it was leaked that he had been so dovish as to yield to Soviet blandishments and accept a secondary position for the United States. Later his enemies in the White Huse put it out that he was the supreme hawk who had taken in all his liberal admirers.

One of the imponderables is how much Kissinger has been sideswiped by the Watergate mess. His role at this point is supremely important if the strategic arms race is not to go into a new and perhaps irrevocable spiral.

Registration Figure Higher Than Listed

Your editorial of Aug. 21 on local campaign spending was interesting and informative, but not exactly accurate.

As you probably have since learned, the actual voter registration for the April 27 San Rafael City Council election was 22,094, not the 19,571 you reported.

Using these higher figures, Mr. O'Toole spent 58.3 cents (not 66 cents) per registered voter. Mr. Nixon's correct total would be 24.9 cents (versus 27.5), and Mr. Mulryan's 23.2 cents against the 26 cents reported.

While all this seems like trifling with pennies, it becomes more relevant when you consider that Mr. O'Toole would have had to spend $14,582 instead of the $12,880 he actually reported.

Incidentally, most professional campaign managers regard 50 cents per registered voter as the minimum budget for a successful campaign where there is serious competition.

(The correction is appreciated. The registration figure used did not include voters added by the Terra Linda annexation. This does not change the editorial's point, as the expenses cited still exceeded those that would be allowed if the proposed federal campaign reform bill were applied to local elections. — Editor)

Little Man In Hovel Supports King In Castle

As a reader looking for enlightment from the daily press I must say bravo! And many thanks for two items on page 10, I-J, Aug. 21. One was your editorial: "Tax Reform: or the Old Skin Game?" The other was Earl G. Water's column: "Down Goes the Rate; Up Goes the Evaluation". The messages overlap but if there is any true story needing to be retold it is the one told in those articles. We might label the story "More Taxes for More Waste in Government and More Insipid Education." I personally wish you could reprint the cited articles everyday for a week — by subscribers' request.

I may be overly sensitive to the results of increased property assessment since it happened to us after I retired and it reduced our standard of living. However, whether any of us find it difficult to get by or easy, the time has come for all citizens, even elected officials and hired help of tax-supported institutions, to realize there is a limit to what the private sector can pay for. Juggling the problem back and forth from local tax to state tax and to federal tax does not change the fact that the little man in his hovel is made to support the king in his castle.

May your readers wake up to what is going on! May they assert the necessary influence to change things. None of us wish for financial and moral bankruptcy of our tax-supported institutions.

Terminal Endorsement Only Tentative

In your Aug. 21 edition a report was made by Mr. Peterzell on the meeting of the Marin Conservation League board of directors, held the previous evening. That report stated that the league board voted to "reverse itself" in terms of its position on the preferred location for the central Marin ferry terminal. While Mr. Peterzell reported accurately on the substance of the discussion of the EIR prepared by the Golden Gate Bridge, Highway and Transportation District, I would like to clarify for your readers the intent and meaning of the league action on Aug. 20.

Since the preferred terminal location at San Quentin is no longer available for that use. . .and since as a part of its plans for development of the ferry terminal at the Larkspur site the bridge district has committed to acquire 255 acres of bay front marshland (the Muzzi property) and restore it to a viable salt marsh, it was recommended to the Marin Conservation League board that it tentatively endorse the EIR as drafted, subject to firming up the Bridge District's intentions for acquisition of the Muzzi property for use solely as open space. The board action on Aug. 20 was intended to convey that tentative endorsement of the EIR.

In connection with the proposed development of the Larkspur ferry terminal, a number of environmental questions remain to be resolved. . .These. . .need to be examined in depth at the public hearing at the bridge district offices on Aug. 30. Marin Conservation League is reserving its final position on the central Marin ferry terminal until these serious questions have been resolved in the forthcoming public processes.

North Vietnam Has Potential Strength To Launch Offensive

With no more bombs falling in Cambodia, the obvious question is the effect this will have on the propsects for survival of the Thieu government in South Vietnam. That survival is what the war has been about all along. Can the anti-Communist cause live in Vietnam without the presence or the threat of American bombs?

We have been asking questions about this from people who should have some information. Not all of them agree. Here is a report on what the experts say.

NORTH VIETNAM and allied forces now occupy the mountain spine which runs down from North Vietnam almost to the southern tip of the peninsula. They have been busy using the time since the cease-fire to improve their road and communications systems along this mountain line.

The military forces strung out all along this line have been fully refreshed and replenished. Their strength and general state of military readiness is estimated to be about what it was when they launched their last big offensive on March 31, 1972. At that time they launched attacks all along their front with forces of some 13 divisions. The attacks were powerfully delivered and made some initial breakthroughs, but ultimately were all contained.

The present state of Communist military readiness was completed about two months ago. But the weather is not now suitable for major military operations. It will become suitable in January. The best fighting season is usually considered to be January, February, and March. The Communists will certainly have offensive capability at that time.

Of course the South Vietnam Army is also growing stronger by the day and its morale is generally good. It consists of 410,000 men organized into 12 regular Army divisions, other regular forces equal to about two more divisions, regional forces available to provincial governors of 280,000 men, and popular forces (home guard) of 240,000 men. These full-time forces are backed by 1,400,000 men organized into part-time village militia.

The regulars plus regionals and home guards total 930,000. The U.S. Army today stands at a little under 800,000 men. South Vietnam has am impressive military force which should be more than a match for all that its enemies can bring against it.

HANOI'S INTENTIONS are, of course, unknown in Washington. Some think the North Vietnamese will strike when the weather is suitable. Others think they are settling down for a long-term strategy of consolidation of their positions and an effort to win population into their mountain region from the coastal plane controlled from Saigon.

Peking and Moscow both have some leverage on Hanoi. How that is being used is another variable unknown in Washington. The total volume of aid going to North Vietnam from China and Russia is believed to be about at normal levels, but there are some indications that both have reduced the flow of weapons while increasing the flow of economic aid. This may reflect a deliberate effort to restrain Hanoi from an offensive.

It is believed that Peking does not want any decisive Hanoi conquest of all of Indochina. That would put a strong military power on China's southern flank. China usually prefers small and weak neighbors.

Events in Cambodia are unlikely to have much effect on this general situation in Vietnam. A reneutralization under Prince Sihanouk is preferred in Washington as the lesser evil. But the North Vietnamese forces in their mountain line no longer need supplies through Cambodia. They get all they need now from their new roads down from the north.

SACRAMENTO SCENE

Drug Advertising Bill Survives Behr's Assault

By EARL G. WATERS

Probably one of the most significant consumer measures to come before the legislature in many a moon is that authoried by Assembly Speaker Robert Moretti.

The bill, AB 684, would remove the restrictions against price advertising of drugs.

THE IRONY is that the measure is opposed by those who ordinarily are the foremost advocates of free enterprise. The opposition includes the Pharmaceutical Association, the State Board of Pharmacy and the Department of Health Care Services.

The state board and the administrators of health care are all apointees of Governor Reagan. This makes the paradox even more pronounced since Reagan's stance on free enterprise is crystal clear.

For the real issue is the right to advertise. American free enterprise is geared to the promotion of sales through advertising. Still, here has been a growing trend of various segments of society to restrict advertising. Often these efforts have been enthusiastically supported by government, sometimes even generated by government.

THE PHARMACISTS argue that advertising prescription drugs will promote drug culture. The same contention could be made for the thousands of patent items now advertised, starting with aspirin. Prescriptive items are not limited to habit-forming drugs. Over the years the list of items restricted to prescription has grown to ridiculous proportions. The federal government has been working overtime to bring food supplements, including vitamins, under the cover of prescriptive items.

While Moretti's bill may not do much to lower drug costs, it strikes a blow for the right to advertise and is a good bill. The section requiring the posting of prices of prescriptions, however, seems an unnecessary burden on the pharmacists. And because of this provision the measure must now clear Senate Finance since there would be a state cost in printing the price list forms to be displayed in each drug store.

Strangely, Sen. Peter Behr, R-San Rafael, sought to gut it by amending out the permissive advertising clause. It was an odd position for one who professes to be consumer oriented. However, Moretti held firm for the right to advertise and won approval of the Senate Health Committee.

Pigs resemble humans in their social drinking habits, University of Missouri researchers have found.

At the university's experimental cocktail party the boss pig lost his social status by drinking too much.

Another porker who imbibed too enthusiastically had a pig-size hangover and went on the water wagon.

The lowest pig in the social rooting order passed up the cocktails but ate all the hors d'oeuvres.

We don't know whether the moral is that certain pigs drink like men or that some men drink like pigs.

The Age Of Specialization, Or, Surgeon, Spare That Tree

(Art Buchwald has gone off for a few weeks to forget about Watergate. He left behind some of his all-time favorite columns which he insists to the best of his recollection, at that point in time and in hindsight, everyone wanted to read again.)

WASHINGTON — The age of specialization has touched every part of our society. Recently I had tree trouble. A beautiful large oak was dying, and I immediately called a tree surgeon.

At first he didn't want to come. "I'm sorry, I don't make house calls," he explained.

"Then I'll cut down the tree and bring it into your office," I cried hysterically.

"Don't panic. I'll come over."

THREE DAYS LATER he arrived. He walked over to the oak and shook his head. He touched the trunk once, looked up at the branches and said:

"You have a very sick tree here."

"I know it. What can you do to save it?"

"I don't like the look of those lower limbs."

"Neither do I," I said. "What can you do about the limbs?"

"I'm not a limb man," the tree surgeon explained. "I only do general trunk work."

"DO YOU KNOW of a good limb man?"

"I know of one and I only hope for your sake he's available. That will be $25, please."

A few days later the limb man came. He was all business.

"You've got two broken limbs and a wound on your main branch. Also, I don't like those stub lesions which are bleeding sap."

"Do whatever has to be done," I said.

"Then heal them."

"I'm not a stub lesion expert. I'll give you the name of one. Whe he gets finished, I'll come back and work on the limbs. That will be $50, please."

THE STUB LESION sugreon arrived and worked for 20 minutes. Then he said, "Your tree is suffering from malnutrition. It has to be fed."

"Feed it," I begged, "and don't worry about the cost."

"I don't feed trees," he said indignantly. "You need a root man for that."

"You don't know of a root man, do you?" I asked.

"There's one out in Chevy Chase. I'll see if I can get him to come. That will be $75."

A WEEK LATER the root man arrived with his drill and started operating on the oak. He poured nourishment into the ground near the roots.

"Will it be all right?" I asked him.

"The well you have around the tree is much too small. You're strangling it. I can give it all the food in the world and it won't do any good if the tree can't get any air or water."

"Then why did you feed it?" I asked.

"You told me to," he replied.

"I don't suppose you have anything to do with tree wells?" I asked.

"I should hope not. You have to get a stonemason to do your well work. No tree surgeon will touch a well."

"That's what I thought."

I FINALLY FOUND a stonemason who agreed to build a well around the tree for $400. It took him two days to do it and when he finally finished he said, "You know, mister, you got a real sick tree there."

"I know it," I said.

"It's none of my business, but if I was you I'd get myself a good tree surgeon."

Registration Figure Higher Than Listed

Your editorial of Aug. 21 on local campaign spending was interesting and informative, but not exactly accurate.

As you probably have since learned, the actual voter registration for the April 27 San Rafael City Council election was 22,094, not the 19,571 you reported.

Using these higher figures, Mr. O'Toole spent 58.3 cents (not 66 cents) per registered voter. Mr. Nixon's correct total would be 24.9 cents (versus 27.5), and Mr. Mulryan's 23.2 cents against the 26 cents reported.

While all this seems like trifling with pennies, it becomes more relevant when you consider that Mr. O'Toole would have had to spend $14,582 instead of the $12,880 he actually reported.

Incidentally, most professional campaign managers regard 50 cents per registered voter as the minimum budget for a successful campaign where there is serious competition.

(The correction is appreciated. The registration figure used did not include voters added by the Terra Linda annexation. This does not change the editorial's point, as the expenses cited still exceeded those that would be allowed if the proposed federal campaign reform bill were applied to local elections. — Editor)

Little Man In Hovel Supports King In Castle

As a reader looking for enlightment from the daily press I must say bravo! And many thanks for two items on page 10, I-J, Aug. 21. One was your editorial: "Tax Reform: or the Old Skin Game?" The other was Earl G. Water's column: "Down Goes the Rate; Up Goes the Evaluation". The messages overlap but if there is any true story needing to be retold it is the one told in those articles. We might label the story "More Taxes for More Waste in Government and More Insipid Education." I personally wish you could reprint the cited articles everyday for a week — by subscribers' request.

I may be overly sensitive to the results of increased property assessment since it happened to us after I retired and it reduced our standard of living. However, whether any of us find it difficult to get by or easy, the time has come for all citizens, even elected officials and hired help of tax-supported institutions, to realize there is a limit to what the private sector can pay for. Juggling the problem back and forth from local tax to state tax and to federal tax does not change the fact that the little man in his hovel is made to support the king in his castle.

May your readers wake up to what is going on! May they assert the necessary influence to change things. None of us wish for financial and moral bankruptcy of our tax-supported institutions.

Terminal Endorsement Only Tentative

In your Aug. 21 edition a report was made by Mr. Peterzell on the meeting of the Marin Conservation League board of directors, held the previous evening. That report stated that the league board voted to "reverse itself" in terms of its position on the preferred location for the central Marin ferry terminal. While Mr. Peterzell reported accurately on the substance of the discussion of the EIR prepared by the Golden Gate Bridge, Highway and Transportation District, I would like to clarify for your readers the intent and meaning of the league action on Aug. 20.

Since the preferred terminal location at San Quentin is no longer available for that use. . .and since as a part of its plans for development of the ferry terminal at the Larkspur site the bridge district has committed to acquire 255 acres of bay front marshland (the Muzzi property) and restore it to a viable salt marsh, it was recommended to the Marin Conservation League board that it tentatively endorse the EIR as drafted, subject to firming up the Bridge District's intentions for acquisition of the Muzzi property for use solely as open space. The board action on Aug. 20 was intended to convey that tentative endorsement of the EIR.

In connection with the proposed development of the Larkspur ferry terminal, a number of environmental questions remain to be resolved. . .These. . .need to be examined in depth at the public hearing at the bridge district offices on Aug. 30. Marin Conservation League is reserving its final position on the central Marin ferry terminal until these serious questions have been resolved in the forthcoming public processes.

North Vietnam Has Potential Strength To Launch Offensive

With no more bombs falling in Cambodia, the obvious question is the effect this will have on the propsects for survival of the Thieu government in South Vietnam. That survival is what the war has been about all along. Can the anti-Communist cause live in Vietnam without the presence or the threat of American bombs?

We have been asking questions about this from people who should have some information. Not all of them agree. Here is a report on what the experts say.

NORTH VIETNAM and allied forces now occupy the mountain spine which runs down from North Vietnam almost to the southern tip of the peninsula. They have been busy using the time since the cease-fire to improve their road and communications systems along this mountain line.

The military forces strung out all along this line have been fully refreshed and replenished. Their strength and general state of military readiness is estimated to be about what it was when they launched their last big offensive on March 31, 1972. At that time they launched attacks all along their front with forces of some 13 divisions. The attacks were powerfully delivered and made some initial breakthroughs, but ultimately were all contained.

The present state of Communist military readiness was completed about two months ago. But the weather is not now suitable for major military operations. It will become suitable in January. The best fighting season is usually considered to be January, February, and March. The Communists will certainly have offensive capability at that time.

Of course the South Vietnam Army is also growing stronger by the day and its morale is generally good. It consists of 410,000 men organized into 12 regular Army divisions, other regular forces equal to about two more divisions, regional forces available to provincial governors of 280,000 men, and popular forces (home guard) of 240,000 men. These full-time forces are backed by 1,400,000 men organized into part-time village militia.

The regulars plus regionals and home guards total 930,000. The U.S. Army today stands at a little under 800,000 men. South Vietnam has am impressive military force which should be more than a match for all that its enemies can bring against it.

HANOI'S INTENTIONS are, of course, unknown in Washington. Some think the North Vietnamese will strike when the weather is suitable. Others think they are settling down for a long-term strategy of consolidation of their positions and an effort to win population into their mountain region from the coastal plane controlled from Saigon.

Peking and Moscow both have some leverage on Hanoi. How that is being used is another variable unknown in Washington. The total volume of aid going to North Vietnam from China and Russia is believed to be about at normal levels, but there are some indications that both have reduced the flow of weapons while increasing the flow of economic aid. This may reflect a deliberate effort to restrain Hanoi from an offensive.

It is believed that Peking does not want any decisive Hanoi conquest of all of Indochina. That would put a strong military power on China's southern flank. China usually prefers small and weak neighbors.

Events in Cambodia are unlikely to have much effect on this general situation in Vietnam. A reneutralization under Prince Sihanouk is preferred in Washington as the lesser evil. But the North Vietnamese forces in their mountain line no longer need supplies through Cambodia. They get all they need now from their new roads down from the north.

Drug Advertising Bill Survives Behr's Assdult

By EARL G. WATERS

Probably one of the most significant consumer measures to come before the legislature in many a moon is that authoried by Assembly Speaker Robert Moretti.

The bill, AB 684, would remove the restrictions against price advertising of drugs.

THE IRONY is that the measure is opposed by those who ordinarily are the foremost advocates of free enterprise. The opposition includes the Pharmaceutical Association, the State Board of Pharmacy and the Department of Health Care Services.

The state board and the administrators of health care are all apointees of Governor Reagan. This makes the paradox even more pronounced since Reagan's stance on free enterprise is crystal clear.

For the real issue is the right to advertise. American free enterprise is geared to the promotion of sales through advertising. Still, here has been a growing trend of various segments of society to restrict advertising. Often these efforts have been enthusiastically supported by government, sometimes even generated by government.

THE PHARMACISTS argue that advertising prescription drugs will promote drug culture. The same contention could be made for the thousands of patent items now advertised, starting with aspirin. Prescriptive items are not limited to habit-forming drugs. Over the years the list of items restricted to prescription has grown to ridiculous proportions. The federal government has been working overtime to bring food supplements, including vitamins, under the cover of prescriptive items.

While Moretti's bill may not do much to lower drug costs, it strikes a blow for the right to advertise and is a good bill. The section requiring the posting of prices of prescriptions, however, seems an unnecessary burden on the pharmacists. And because of this provision the measure must now clear Senate Finance since there would be a state cost in printing the price list forms to be displayed in each drug store.

Strangely, Sen. Peter Behr, R-San Rafael, sought to gut it by amending out the permissive advertising clause. It was an odd position for one who professes to be consumer oriented. However, Moretti held firm for the right to advertise and won approval of the Senate Health Committee.

THE NEEDLE

By HAROLD COFFIN

Pigs resemble humans in their social drinking habits, University of Missouri researchers have found.

At the university's experimental cocktail party the boss pig lost his social status by drinking too much.

Another porker who imbibed too enthusiastically had a pig-size hangover and went on the water wagon.

The lowest pig in the social rooting order passed up the cocktails but ate all the hors d'oeuvres.

We don't know whether the moral is that certain pigs drink like men or that some men drink like pigs.

The Age Of Specialization, Or, Surgeon, Spare That Tree

(Art Buchwald has gone off for a few weeks to forget about Watergate. He left behind some of his all-time favorite columns which he insists to the best of his recollection, at that point in time and in hindsight, everyone wanted to read again.)

WASHINGTON — The age of specialization has touched every part of our society. Recently I had tree trouble. A beautiful large oak was dying, and I immediately called a tree surgeon.

At first he didn't want to come. "I'm sorry, I don't make house calls," he explained.

"Then I'll cut down the tree and bring it into your office," I cried hysterically.

"Don't panic. I'll come over."

THREE DAYS LATER he arrived. He walked over to the oak and shook his head. He touched the trunk once, looked up at the branches and said:

"You have a very sick tree here."

"I know it. What can you do to save it?"

"I don't like the look of those lower limbs."

"Neither do I," I said. "What can you do about the limbs?"

"DO YOU KNOW of a good limb man?"

"I know of one and I only hope for your sake he's available. That will be $25, please."

A few days later the limb man came. He was all business.

"You've got two broken limbs and a wound on your main branch. Also, I don't like those stub lesions which are bleeding sap."

"Do whatever has to be done," I said.

"Then heal them."

"I'm not a stub lesion expert. I'll give you the name of one. Whe he gets finished, I'll come back and work on the limbs. That will be $50, please."

THE STUB LESION sugreon arrived and worked for 20 minutes. Then he said, "Your tree is suffering from malnutrition. It has to be fed."

"Feed it," I begged, "and don't worry about the cost."

"I don't feed trees," he said indignantly. "You need a root man for that."

"You don't know of a root man, do you?" I asked.

"There's one out in Chevy Chase. I'll see if I can get him to come. That will be $75."

A WEEK LATER the root man arrived with his drill and started operating on the oak. He poured nourishment into the ground near the roots.

"Will it be all right?" I asked him.

"The well you have around the tree is much too small. You're strangling it. I can give it all the food in the world and it won't do any good if the tree can't get any air or water."

"Then why did you feed it?" I asked.

"You told me to," he replied.

"I don't suppose you have anything to do with tree wells?" I asked.

"I should hope not. You have to get a stonemason to do your well work. No tree surgeon will touch a well."

"That's what I thought."

I FINALLY FOUND a stonemason who agreed to build a well around the tree for $400. It took him two days to do it and when he finally finished he said, "You know, mister, you got a real sick tree there."

"I know it," I said.

"It's none of my business, but if I was you I'd get myself a good tree surgeon."

Novato Headed For Quarter Of Marin County Population

Horses still tread the streets of Novato and some southern Marin residents think of it as a wide spot in the road, but it may someday contain a quarter of Marin's population.

Arthur D. Little Inc., without any preconceived ideas about its being a hick town, recently reported that Novato will increase its share of the total county population.

The firm estimated that the Novato area, which had 19 per cent of the county population in 1970, could increase to 25 per cent by the year 2000.

WHEN THE CITY of Novato was incorporated in 1960, it had a population of 17,881, representing 12.2 per cent of the county's population.

Novato also has increased its share of Marin commuters to San Francisco and "commuters are representing a rising proportion of Novato workers," the firm said.

In 1960 about 16 per cent of the workers from Novato commuted outside Marin to work, as compared to 22 per cent in 1970.

With a change in the makeup of the working force, Novato also is experiencing a shift in housing from single-family detached homes to townhouses, condominiums and apartments.

The consultants expected that 45 to 50 per cent of future construction in the Novato area will be townhouses and other attached housing, 25 to 30 per cent single family detached homes, and 25 per cent apartments.

AS ANY HOME BUYER can tell, the cost of housing has risen with homes valued at $20,000, $24,000 and $28,500 in 1967 having values of $28,000, $32,500 and $36,000 respectively in 1972, the firm reported.

All the statistics were gathered for a report to the North Marin County Water District on the growth-inducing impact of a new aqueduct to Russian River.

The firm determined that the aqueduct wouldn't induce growth, and that a study showed that "water in and of itself will not encourage growth."

While North Marin directors are worrying about having enough water and builders are worrying about growth limits, the firm said sewer capacity, rather than water, might be the limiting factor.

"The capacity of the sewage treatment system, measured in terms of regional discharge and treatment requirements, may become a new constraint of growth," it reported.

It is possible that the Novato Sanitary District may face a problem in 1977 or 1978, similar to that faced by the water district several months ago.

Voters approved a $4.1 million bond measure to finance the new aqueduct to Russian River and concerns were eased about a potential water shortage.

If Arthur D. Little Inc. is anywhere near the mark, it appears that the next hurdle will be sewer treatment and the next expense sewer bonds.

A Quick-Decaying Plastic Is Invented

CHICAGO (UPI) — Plastics are called "the immortal trash" in ecological circles because when discarded they take 10 years or more to decay. But British scientist Gerry J. L. Griffin says he has invented a plastic which rots within one year.

Griffin told the American Chemical Society yesterday the secret to his discovery was making plastic with starches, which breed bacteria and hasten the decaying process.

Griffin also said his plastic is durable. The new plastic, he said, will not begin to decompose until it is buried.

He said the starch-plastic material, which can be produced in any variety and in any gauge, is now ready for commercial use. Coloroll Ltd. of London, which sponsored Griffin's research at Brunel University, Uxbridge, Middlesex, England, reportedly has made several contacts in an effort to obtain licenses to produce the new plastic.

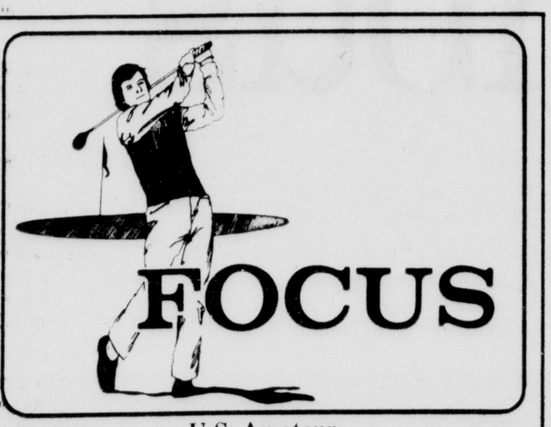
Agency Charges Laxness In Curbing Of Pollution

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government's General Accounting Office (GAO) has charged there has been laxness in the enforcement of antipollution laws because agencies have relied too heavily on voluntary compliance.

The GAO, which is the investigative arm of Congress, said in a report yesterday that many violators of antipollution regulations do not obey the law voluntarily.

"Greater progress could have been made if federal, state and local agencies had more effectively enforced air pollution control laws and regulations when negotiation failed to achieve compliance," the GAO said.

The report was based on a survey of enforcement actions taken in seven states—Florida, Georgia, Indiana, Massachusetts, New Jersey, North Carolina and West Virginia.



U.S. Amateur

The top amateur golfers of today, and perhaps the pros of tomorrow, are competing for a coveted crown. The 73rd U.S. Amateur golf championship starts today and runs through September 2nd at the Inverness Club in Toledo, Ohio. Qualifying rounds held throughout the country earlier this month saw a field of over 2000 players narrowed to 200. The tournament will be the first match-play U.S. Amateur since 1963. In match play, the game is scored by holes. The winner of the match is the player winning the most holes and is not necessarily the one with the fewest total strokes. The prestigious amateur title is often a stepping stone into the world of professional golf.

Pitch For Cyclamates Is Expected

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Since 1970, the government has banned artificial sweeteners called cyclamates from all foods because rats given large doses got cancer. Since then, cyclamates generally have been replaced by saccharin.

The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) reported yesterday it understands that Abbott Laboratories plans to file within a month a petition to put cyclamates back on the market, which FDA would then be legally bound to review.

Meanwhile, studies at the University of Wisconsin have shown that when saccharin is implanted in mouse bladders, increased incidence of bladder cancer follows. The FDA found tumors in test animals given large doses of saccharin and has asked the National Academy of Sciences to review the studies to determine whether the tumors were cancerous and whether they were caused by saccharin.

Asked whether it was possible saccharin might be banned and cyclamates restored, FDA Commissioner Alexander M. Schmidt said: "That would take a lot of explaining. I don't think we are going to do anything that we can't explain and explain very well."

Brazil has 22 states, four territories and the Federal Capital District.

Researcher Defends Intake Of Cholesterol

CHICAGO (UPI) — Cholesterol and saturated fats may actually prolong life instead of shortening it, as previously believed, an Ohio medical researcher told newsmen at the American Chemical Society meeting yesterday.

Dr. Teh C. Huang, doctor of veterinary medicine, said there is no proof that low blood cholesterol will prolong life expectancy nor any proof that diet, saturated fat or cholesterol show any relationship with cholesteremia or coronary disease.

"But evidences have accumulated to show that unsaturated fat causes more cancer in humans and animals and that low blood cholesterol is a fatal syndrome in many human diseases," he said.

Huang said he conducted experiments for more than 15 years, feeding rats diets containing cholesterol and saturated fats. He said in the experiment, using four feeding programs, he found that rats fed a diet containing bulk saturated fats and cholesterol lived longest while rats fed unsaturates with cholesterol had the shortest life span.

However, Huang reported "a trace of cholesterol in the 10 per cent saturated diet seems to be essential to the normality of growth, longevity and especiallly resistance to infection.

"The beneficial effects of the cholestrol supplement to saturated fat were more significant in the males than in the females," Huang said.

"The blood cholesterol level in man increases after the fourth decade whereas that of a woman increases continuously. A supplement of cholesterol to men may prolong their lives, allowing them to live as long as women," he said, noting that women have a longer life expectancy than men.

Huang, who is with the Timken Mercy Hospital, Canton, Ohio and the president of the East Central Ohio district of the American Heart Association, said he believes a person could eat as many as seven eggs a week without danger of impairing his health. Previous researchers have advised people to restrict their intake to two eggs per week.

Plea Changed In Drug Case

A San Rafael man accused of possessing heroin June 6 in a San Rafael hotel has changed his plea in Marin Superior Court and admitted the charge.

Sentencing of David Brian Denison, 24, was set for Sept. 17 by Judge Charles Read Best.

The Marin District Attorney's office has recommended that Denison be sent to the California Rehabilitation Center for treatment of his addiction.

He was arrested after a San Rafael police inspector saw him injecting heroin into his arm in a San Rafael hotel room.

Scarcity Of Home Fuels Hearing Set

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government has decided that, in the immediate future, warmth is more important than clean air.

It has proposed a one-year suspension of industrial conversion to cleaner burning fuels in order to conserve scarce heating oil.

A proposed government rule to this effect was announced yesterday by the administration's energy chief John A. Love. Public hearings will be held on it Sept. 6 and 7, and then a decision will be made whether to implement it.

It was the government's first concrete step toward mandatory controls on scarce fuels.

The proposed rule would halt for one year conversion of power plants and other big industrial users from coal to oil or from high sulfur oil to low sulfur oil including heating oil.

But it could be waived in any specific case to avoid a danger to public health or allow firms to comply with primary air quality standards.

Factories and power plants have been burning more heating oil in recent years to reduce air pollution, and this has contributed to shortages of oil to heat homes.

Lawrence Moss, president of the Sierra Club, an environmental group which has been fighting for more progress on cleaning up the air and preserving clean air where it now exists, said: "We're willing to be flexible on such short-term postponements."

"The beneficial effects of the cholestrol supplement to saturated fat were more significant in the males than in the females," Huang said.

"The blood cholesterol level in man increases after the fourth decade whereas that of a woman increases continuously. A supplement of cholesterol to men may prolong their lives, allowing them to live as long as women," he said, noting that women have a longer life expectancy than men.

Huang, who is with the Timken Mercy Hospital, Canton, Ohio and the president of the East Central Ohio district of the American Heart Association, said he believes a person could eat as many as seven eggs a week without danger of impairing his health. Previous researchers have advised people to restrict their intake to two eggs per week.

Plea Changed In Drug Case

A San Rafael man accused of possessing heroin June 6 in a San Rafael hotel has changed his plea in Marin Superior Court and admitted the charge.

Sentencing of David Brian Denison, 24, was set for Sept. 17 by Judge Charles Read Best.

The Marin District Attorney's office has recommended that Denison be sent to the California Rehabilitation Center for treatment of his addiction.

He was arrested after a San Rafael police inspector saw him injecting heroin into his arm in a San Rafael hotel room.

Scarcity Of Home Fuels Hearing Set

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government has decided that, in the immediate future, warmth is more important than clean air.

It has proposed a one-year suspension of industrial conversion to cleaner burning fuels in order to conserve scarce heating oil.

A proposed government rule to this effect was announced yesterday by the administration's energy chief John A. Love. Public hearings will be held on it Sept. 6 and 7, and then a decision will be made whether to implement it.

It was the government's first concrete step toward mandatory controls on scarce fuels.

The proposed rule would halt for one year conversion of power plants and other big industrial users from coal to oil or from high sulfur oil to low sulfur oil including heating oil.

But it could be waived in any specific case to avoid a danger to public health or allow firms to comply with primary air quality standards.

Factories and power plants have been burning more heating oil in recent years to reduce air pollution, and this has contributed to shortages of oil to heat homes.

Lawrence Moss, president of the Sierra Club, an environmental group which has been fighting for more progress on cleaning up the air and preserving clean air where it now exists, said: "We're willing to be flexible on such short-term postponements."

CHILD'S CAMP

Mules Part Of Big Dream

By PAT BALMES

Mary Anne Healy, 24, breeds mules at her San Anselmo home as part of a dream she shares with her husband of owning and operating a children's camp.

Mrs. Healy will train her mules for the Healys' riding and pack trips, until they buy their camp property, she said.

"On our honeymoon we packed in with two horses and two mules. I do not think we could have done anything better for the two of us."

Her husband Jack, a farrier (horseshoer), teaches a course on packing mules at University of California at Davis. During college he worked summers at a pack station near Mammoth, guiding horses, riders and pack mules into Sierra wilderness areas.

Mary Anne and Jack Healy are graduates of City College of San Francisco's hotel and restaurant department. Mrs. Healy, who had worked in restaurant management since she graduated in 1970, now teaches horseback riding at the Meadow Club Stables in Fairfax and in Sleepy Hollow. She taught a horsemastership course to Girls Scouts in Woodacre last week.

"If Jack really wants the children's camp. I should get involved with riding so my name becomes associated with horses," she explained.

Mrs. Healy is president of Tamalpais Trail Riders, 160 men, women and children who meet each month to ride Marin trails. She and her husband cook the chuckwagon lunches.

WHEN TTR members kid Mrs. Healy about raising mules instead of horses, she replies that the only way to get a good mule is by using a good mare. "We went to Mule Days in Bishop and saw good mules out of good thoroughbred and quarterhorse mares. I wouldn't mind being mounted on one of those," she said.

Her show quarterhorse is the dam of the eight-month-old mule colt, Cappy, and is rebred to his sire, a Mammoth jack donkey.

Walking to where the Healys' two quarter mares are pastured with two mule colts behind their house, Mrs. Healy said with a laugh, "You should have been here the night before last; the noise was awful. You can get a lot of variations from mules braying."

Fortunately the man next door is from Tennessee and thinks the mules are "fantastic," and the children on the other side love the mules, she said.

Another Sleepy Hollow couple, Dr. and Mrs. Edward Boero, also have mules, Tiger and Sam, which Mrs. Boero takes on mountain pack trips with other horsewomen.

Mrs. Healy was given a second mule colt who was starving because his dam rejected him. At first Mrs. Healy gave him formula from a bucket around the clock.

"My husband said, 'You're the soft hearted one who wanted him; you get up and feed Nipper'." But soon her mare, who was once an orphan herself, began to let Nipper nurse.

MRS. HEALY has already started to train Cappy, strapping a little pack on his back.

"The trick to getting something done is for both of you to want to do the same thing at the same time. You have lost your battle the minute you start hitting him. The minute your adrenalin goes up, he will start to act up," the horsewoman said.

Her horsemanship and restaurant management background will combine in the children's camp, but the first five years will be very hard, she believes. They want to find a site, possibly in Alturas, where Healy can still shoe horses and Mrs. Healy can do some outside restaurant management.

The couple first met when Healy shoed her horse. He suggested the restaurant program to Mary Anne, who was a business and home economies major in high school. She became one of the eight women in the college's hotel and restaurant department, where 286 students were enrolled.

"I had to be in uniform at school at 6:30 a.m.," she said.

HER SUMMER "in the field" was spent at Mt. Zion Hospital in the dietary department, where she relieved each cook who was on vacation. Mrs. Healy prepared patient and staff meals, did kosher cooking and worked in the bakery.

Another field assignment was in the catering and sales department of Hotel Jack Tar in San Francisco.

After she was graduated and married, she worked for chef John Worrel at Katharine Branson School in Ross, cooking lunches, decorating foods for buffets and keeping books.

Next she ran the food service at College of Marin, working from 5:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. directing part-time student help who "sometimes didn't show up."

A more pleasant job was working for Richard Willet of Tamal Food Service at San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo, where she served, directed catering, decorated food for buffets, cooked student lunches and prepared meals for outside club meetings there.

MARY ANNE grew up in San Francisco where, at 14, she lost her first horse in a stable fire. She exhibited her sister's saddle-bred at horse shows, took Western lessons from Marvin Mayfield and Red Lott and learned English equitation from Michael Hondler, whose father is master of the Spanish Riding Academy in Vienna.

The highlight of her riding education was participating in dressage meets taught in Atherton by Col. Alois Podhajsky, former master of the Spanish Riding Academy, who was preparing one of the U.S. candidates for the Olympic dressage competition.

Now the horsewoman has decided that "the children's camp is the way we are going to go."

MRS. JACK Healy, president of Tamalpais Trail Riders, halters the mule, Cappy, which she bred at her San Anselmo home to stock the children's camp she plans to operate someday. Mary Anne Healy, presently a riding teacher, was one of eight women in the 286-student hotel and restaurant department of City College of San Francisco.

GENERATION RAP

by Helen and Sue Bottel

Illegal Abortion Terrorizing Experience For 15-Year-Old

DEAR HELEN AND SUE:

You probably won't believe this, but you'll know the Hell I've been through is the truth, if you check my letter with the man who helps run the hot line in our city — I'm sending you his name and address, though I can't send mine.

I turned 15 and found out I was pregnant in the same month. My boyfriend Bill and I were scared: telling our parents seemed the worst thing possible. Then an older friend of Bill's told him about a lady that did abortions (they're illegal in our state). She was supposed to have worked in the gynecology department of a hospital, and the price was only $200, much less than a trip to New York even if I could have made it secretly.

Bill put $50 down, and then I got cold feet and called the Rap Line. They warned me about this lady, and offered to help me, but Bill didn't trust anyone who might tell his folks.

When I insisted, Bill said we'd have to go by this woman's house to get his $50 back. He went to her door and then, before I knew what was happening, a man came to the car, pulled me out and carried me to the basement. I was tied to a table, tape put over my mouth and around my wrists. All I remember after that was terrible pain I thought would never end. Finally it was over and I couldn't quit crying. They kept saying, "Everything's okay, you're not pregnant any more.

Bill took me home — my parents had gone out. When they returned, they found me lying on the floor hemorrhaging. They rushed me to a hospital (gave a fake name) and I was there six days. I still wake up screaming. The doctor said if my folks had been ten minutes later getting home I would have bled to death.

My parents are hurt, angry and ashamed. They wouldn't report this and I couldn't. You see, the abortion woman said they took pictures of me in that basement and they're horrible. If I say anything, they'll pass them around, and I could never face anyone again if they did.

Dad says I am lucky the doctor didn't report it and that this will be a secret; but I'll never, never forget. I can't have babies now.

Please, Helen and Sue, warn people about illegal abortions. If this letter helps one girl from going through what I did, it will be worthwhile. — SHERRY

DEAR SHERRY:

You ask us to warn girls about illegal operations when you have it in your power to put this abortionist out of business! By caving in to her blackmail, you may be endangering many other lives. Is your parents' "pride" — and a few pictures which she probably can't distribute anyway — worth that risk? — HELEN AND SUE

NOTE TO READERS: We couldn't believe such things still happen — not in 1973 — so we wrote to the clergyman Sherry mentioned, sending him her letter. His answer read in part:

"Unbelievable, yes! Incredible, yes! Authentic, yet!!

"As of this date I know of four others who have gone the same route as Sherry. All are in high school, minors; their boyfriends heard about this abortionist; they called the Rap Line for advice, made appointments to see me, and then didn't show up. Later they called me with post abortion complications — medically for referrals, or just to talk about the sordid procedure, and their fear of the pictures. They refuse to give more than their first names.

"Undercover attempts by authorities are awfully slow but are being pursued.

"Apparently the biggest fear these kids have is that if they see me, or anyone who could legally help, we will call their parents. They don't trust anyone, but have implicit faith in the frightened response of their boyfriends — who indicate 'either my way or you go it alone.'" — RABBI M.D.

One last word: the name of the city from which these letters came is: Knoxville, Tennessee! — HELEN AND SUE

Newlyweds Will Live In Seattle

Anne Strathairn and Robert William Jean III were married Saturday at Stewart Memorial Chapel in San Anselmo.

Anne is the daughter of Dr. T. Scott Strathairn of San Rafael and Mrs. M. M. Francis Strathairn of Mountain View.

Janet Jobe of Prairie City, Ore., was the maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Andi Pedersen of Kentfield and Mary Frances Jean of Seattle, Wash.

Mark Schulz of San Francisco performed best man duties and Grant Jahr of Chicago and Peter Wubbenhaust of Honolulu seated the guests.

The reception followed at Mapel Lawn in San Rafael. The couple will live in Seattle after their wedding trip to the Sierra.

Anne is a Redwood High School and University of Puget Sound graduate. She is the sister of Tom Strathairn of Seattle, David Strathairn of Bennington, Vt. and Mrs. R.E. Frazier of Salt Lake City, Utah.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Jean of Lynwood, Wash., and the grandson of Mrs. Charles Simonson of Stanwood, Wash.

A graduate of Los Gatos High School, he received a degree from the University of California at Santa Barbara.

Some Rooms Tough To Decorate

By CAROLYN S. MURRAY
Distributed by General Features Corp.

Some rooms just dress themselves. They have nifty bits of architectural detail or a great big window framing a view. A few choice furnishings and the job is done.

But try to pull together a four-square job, with nothing very special going for it. That's really tough on the decorating genes. Then you have to use your wits and your dollars to create an introverted room.

What will it cost? Well, I often quote the round figure of $2,000 for decorating a living room from scratch. That sounds like a big investment, but if you prorate it over a 10-year period that's only $200 a year or less than $20 a month. Not too much for a great space, is it?

The $2,000 can be spread over several years, too. For example, in the room shown today, every item of furnishings is new. But they didn't all have to come along in one 12-month period. The first investments might have been the sofa and the storage wall. In fact, I'd say the storage wall may well be the more significant purchase for a "nothing" room. It gives an instant character to the space, and provides lots of decorateable surfaces. And today's floor-sitting generation doesn't miss the seating too much!

The storage units cost about $600 as shown and that includes the floor-to-ceiling standards that support brackets for shelves and drawer units. There are dozens of systems from which to choose, but these are by Directional Industries, Inc., as are all of the other furnishings.

Okay, there went $600. Assume that you blow $400 on the sofa. That leaves another $1,000. A good area rug, some tables and lamps, one or two good lounge chairs should easily fit into that budget. And if the whole project takes three or four years it just doesn't matter.

If your floors are already covered with a wall-to-wall carpet in a neutral color, the decorative area rug could still help perk up the room. More and more decorators are doing that carpet-on-carpet thing with good results.

Another nice note in the room shown today is the use of chopping block-topped tables. When this natural-looking surface is combined with polished aluminum, you've got a combination that's bound to be at home in any kind of interior.

GENERATION RAP

by Helen and Sue Bottel

DEAR HELEN AND SUE:

You probably won't believe this, but you'll know the Hell I've been through is the truth, if you check my letter with the man who helps run the hot line in our city — I'm sending you his name and address, though I can't send mine.

I turned 15 and found out I was pregnant in the same month. My boyfriend Bill and I were scared: telling our parents seemed the worst thing possible. Then an older friend of Bill's told him about a lady that did abortions (they're illegal in our state). She was supposed to have worked in the gynecology department of a hospital, and the price was only $200, much less than a trip to New York even if I could have made it secretly.

Bill put $50 down, and then I got cold feet and called the Rap Line. They warned me about this lady, and offered to help me, but Bill didn't trust anyone who might tell his folks.

When I insisted, Bill said we'd have to go by this woman's house to get his $50 back. He went to her door and then, before I knew what was happening, a man came to the car, pulled me out and carried me to the basement. I was tied to a table, tape put over my mouth and around my wrists. All I remember after that was terrible pain I thought would never end. Finally it was over and I couldn't quit crying. They kept saying, "Everything's okay, you're not pregnant any more.

Bill took me home — my parents had gone out. When they returned, they found me lying on the floor hemorrhaging. They rushed me to a hospital (gave a fake name) and I was there six days. Subsidies For Crops Under Study

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Increases in grain and cotton prices may mean that the government will not have to pay crop subsidies in 1974, Department of Agriculture economists predicted today

The government paid grain and cotton growers more than $30 billion in subsidies over the past 13 growing seasons. Payments during the current crop year are estimated at $2.3 billion.

Grover C. Chappel, head of a program analysis unit in the Agriculture Department's price support agency, predicted in an interview today that average market prices next year probably will top the target support price levels of $2.05 a bushel for wheat, $1.38 a bushel for corn, and 38 cents a pound for cotton.

A new farm law which takes effect on 1974 crops allows farmers to receive grain and cotton subsidy payments only if market prices fall below "target price" support levels set by law

Several months ago, while Congress was considering the bill, administration experts had predicted 1974 payment costs at about $1.8 billion. even that figure would have been a sharp drop from subsidies of recent years. Chappel said booming market prices for wheat, feed grains and cotton in recent months have sharply improved the price outlook for 1974, thus eliminating the probability that next year's market prices would be below the new targets.

There could be some small payments under a special insurance feature of the new farm law which takes effect next year, Chappel pointed out. This provision allows payments to farmers whose crops are substantially reduced or wiped out by weather disasters.

HOUSTON (UPI) — The Skylab astronauts were to add photographs of volcanos, swamps and possible hidden oil deposits to their scientific treasure chest today.

Alan L. Bean, Owen K. Garriott and Jack R. Lousma, in the 33rd day of their record 59-day flight, also planned medical experiments, sun gazing and a televised guided tour through their living quarters in the eight-room space home.

Flight controllers asked the pilots to aim cameras out the station's window at special sites in southwestern New Mexico, Sudan, Africa, Mexico, and Central and South America.

In Paraguay, the astronauts were asked to photograph Gran Chaco, a swampy and grassy area west of Concepcion. Researchers want to know about both native and developed settlements, possibly transportation routes through the thicketed area and water sources for the sparse population. The Sudd Swamp in Southern Sudan was of interest to analyze the area for unusual features and the relationship between the wetlands and habitable areas.

In Central America the objective was volcanos, both active and inactive and their correspondence to other geological features in the area.

The astronauts, who were slowed early in their flight by motion sickness and mechican problems, are well ahead of their research schedule, the science-pilot of the next Skylab flight, Edward G. Gibson said Monday.

"Once Al and his crew got oriented, they went full bore," Gibson said. "I don't expect them to slow down much. It's exceptional. By a long shot they have surpassed where they were supposed to be and are still going."

Vault Described As A 'Tortue Chamber'

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — A gunman described as a "psychopath" holding three young women and a man hostage inside a bank vault for the fourth day has turned the vault into a "torture chamber," police said today.

Police put into action a new plan to launch simultaneous assaults through the thick steel double-door of the vault and through the thick concrete roof, police sources said.

The trapped gunman, armed with a submachine gun and explosives, wounded a policeman today by firing through one of the holes police drilled through the concrete roof of the vault He was the second policemen shot since Thursday

Police denied reports that the gunman, identified as Jan-Erik Olsson, 32, had repeatedly raped one of the hostages, a 31-year-old mother of two.

But one officer said: "What's happening down there makes me want to throw up."

Another officer said Olsson and his convict friend, Clark Olofsson, "have turned the vault into a virtual torture chamber. They are extremely brutal in their dealings with the hostages."

Officers listening to conversations inside the vault through eavesdropping equipment said Olsson "uses a language and behaves in a way one wouldn't believe if we didn't know it was true."

One conversation between Olsson and Olofsson went like this, according to police sources:

Olsson: "If we get out of this tank, I bet we get at least 10 years at Kumla (a maximum security prison)." Olofsson: "You're nuts. They'll lock you up at Saeter (a maximum security prison for violent criminals) for the rest of your lousy life."

Police officials described Olsson as "a completely cold and emotionless psychopath, who might just kill the hostages if he feels like it."

Olsson has held his hostages in the bank for five days. They have been in the 10-by-40 foot vault since Friday night, fed by sandwiches and water lowered through holes drilled into the vault. But they have no sanitary facilities inside the vault. The nightmare began with an abortive bank robbery last Thursday.

Police originally planned to force gas into the holes drilled in the roof of the vault to knock out Olsson and Olofsson brought to the bank at Olsson's demand.

The plan was "temporarily" abandoned when Olsson announced he had put nooses around the necks of the four hostages and tied the rope to handles of safe deposit boxes high on the wall. If the hostages fell unconscious from the gas, he said, they would strangle.

Today police used giant pneumatic mining drills to bore more one-foot-thick holes through the roof. They also brought a cutting torch into the bank capable of cutting through the thick steel door of the vault in 20 seconds, police sources said.

The renewed activity appeared to be the "secret" plan announced on yesterday by Stockholm Police Chief Kurt Lindroth. The lengthy drama has become a political issue in Sweden, with conservative opposition newspapers and politicians demanding immediate action.

MOSCOW (UPI) —Communist Party General Secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev met today with Donald M. Kendall, chairman of the board of the new U.S.-Soviet Chamber of Commerce, the Tass news agency said.

Tass said the two men discussed "the importance of the activities of the chamber in expanding commercial and economic cooperation between the two countries."

CHP Plans Heavy Labor Day Duty

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The California Highway Patrol will keep its black and white squad cars on the road an additional 15,326 hours during the Labor Day weekend in a concentrated effort to reduce traffic deaths, it was announced today.

"The drinker, the narcotics user, the tailgater, the speeder, slow drivers in fast freeway lanes — we will be ought to get them in particular," said CHP Commissioner Walter Pudinski.

The overtime program, which Pudinski predicted would better the safety record compiled last year when 48 persons were killed in the state, will be financed with federal funds channeled to the patrol through the State Office of Traffic safety.

Pudinski said most of the money, about $300,000, would pay for officers' overtime. Some $50,000 will pay for gas and vehicle operations and $17,000 will be held to pay officers who later must be called into court from off duty status to testify regarding arrests.

Pudinski said that although the five day long program was "statewide in scope, 40 high risk locations had been singled out for intensive coverage. They included the Santa Ana area with 841 extra hours, Bakersfield area with 606 extra hours, Sacramento area with 761 extra hours, and the Golden Gate Bridge area with 405 extra hours.

Pudinski also said that "so far as the drinkers are concerned we intend to really beef up our four part program that calls for identifying, arresting, jailing and prosecuting them."

The highest priority, however, will go to assisting the driver who is in trouble because of mechanical failure or lack of fuel, Pudinski added.

GLOBETROTTING TEXAN

Carey Von Tidwell of Waco, Tex.. trotted down the Champs Elysees pulling a mini-cart yesterday on a goodwill tour that will take him 13,000 miles across three continents, 19 countries and nine islands. The cart, which he dubbed The Pigeon-Toed Toad, carries his gear and food. Von Tidwell's immediate itinerary calls for a trip across Europe, then to Istanbul, India and, hopefully, China. The Arc de Triomphe is in the background.

Subsidies For Crops Under Study

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Increases in grain and cotton prices may mean that the government will not have to pay crop subsidies in 1974, Department of Agriculture economists predicted today

The government paid grain and cotton growers more than $30 billion in subsidies over the past 13 growing seasons. Payments during the current crop year are estimated at $2.3 billion.

Grover C. Chappel, head of a program analysis unit in the Agriculture Department's price support agency, predicted in an interview today that average market prices next year probably will top the target support price levels of $2.05 a bushel for wheat, $1.38 a bushel for corn, and 38 cents a pound for cotton.

A new farm law which takes effect on 1974 crops allows farmers to receive grain and cotton subsidy payments only if market prices fall below "target price" support levels set by law

Several months ago, while Congress was considering the bill, administration experts had predicted 1974 payment costs at about $1.8 billion. even that figure would have been a sharp drop from subsidies of recent years. Chappel said booming market prices for wheat, feed grains and cotton in recent months have sharply improved the price outlook for 1974, thus eliminating the probability that next year's market prices would be below the new targets.

There could be some small payments under a special insurance feature of the new farm law which takes effect next year, Chappel pointed out. This provision allows payments to farmers whose crops are substantially reduced or wiped out by weather disasters.

HOUSTON (UPI) — The Skylab astronauts were to add photographs of volcanos, swamps and possible hidden oil deposits to their scientific treasure chest today.

Alan L. Bean, Owen K. Garriott and Jack R. Lousma, in the 33rd day of their record 59-day flight, also planned medical experiments, sun gazing and a televised guided tour through their living quarters in the eight-room space home.

Flight controllers asked the pilots to aim cameras out the station's window at special sites in southwestern New Mexico, Sudan, Africa, Mexico, and Central and South America.

In Paraguay, the astronauts were asked to photograph Gran Chaco, a swampy and grassy area west of Concepcion. Researchers want to know about both native and developed settlements, possibly transportation routes through the thicketed area and water sources for the sparse population. The Sudd Swamp in Southern Sudan was of interest to analyze the area for unusual features and the relationship between the wetlands and habitable areas.

In Central America the objective was volcanos, both active and inactive and their correspondence to other geological features in the area.

The astronauts, who were slowed early in their flight by motion sickness and mechican problems, are well ahead of their research schedule, the science-pilot of the next Skylab flight, Edward G. Gibson said Monday.

"Once Al and his crew got oriented, they went full bore," Gibson said. "I don't expect them to slow down much. It's exceptional. By a long shot they have surpassed where they were supposed to be and are still going."

Golden Hinde's Outfitting Near

APPLEDORE, England (UPI) —A replica of Sir Francis Drake's Golden Hinde, due to sail to America sometime in October, is nearly ready to be fitted with cannons, furniture and period artifacts, a spokesman for the company which built the boat said today.

The replica, which cost more than $1 million, will sail up the Thames to Tower Pier about Sept. 7 where it will be open to the public until the end of the month, the spokesman said.

The ship is now undergoing sea trials which were delayed because government inspectors refused to let the ship put to sea. It was not stable enough to meet modern standards, they said.

San Francisco's Tax Rate Is Cut

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Mayor Joseph L. Alioto announced yesterday that the city's new tax rate will be the lowest in four years.

The figure of $12.15 per $100 assessed value, if approved by the Board of Supervisors, will be a 34 cent reduction from last year's rate.

Alioto credited "more than $100 million worth of increases on the city's tax rolls."

He said the increase came mainly "from new construction in the downtown area, income from federal revenue sharing and tough budgetary controls."

It seems like a hundred years ago that I played my first bridge hand. I took four finesses, and they all lost! This taught me that my partner knew some words he hadn't learned at the college we were both attending — and also that a losing finesse is no bargain.

South led a heart to dummy's king and returned a trump in order to finesse with the queen. It was a poor idea. West won with the king of spades, and East eventually took the setting trick with the jack of spades.

SURE TO LOSE

The trump finesse was sure to lose. East had already played the queen and jack of diamonds. If East also had the king of spades, he would have responded to his partner's opening bid. Hence East could not have the king of spades, and the finesse could not win.

There was another clue leading in the same direction. If West didn't have the king of spades, how could he open the bidding?

DON'T TAKE IT

When you know a finesse is going to lose, don't take it. In this case, South should lead out the ace of trumps and then a small trump.

West would have to win the second trick with the king, and South would still have the queen of trumps to capture East's jack. This would allow South to make his game contract.

May West To Be 'Kissing' Judge

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Mae West is listed as the judge for the UCLA "First Annual Romeo and Juliet Kissing Contest" tonight.

"Her name is a symbol of love," said Rick Rose, the student coordinator of the event. "She's the most expert judge on this subject in the whole world." Four finalists, selected from a field of 32 in earlier rounds, are to be judged on "beauty of embrace, position of lips during osculation, breath and noise control, inventiveness and sex appeal engendered."

May West To Be 'Kissing' Judge

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Mae West is listed as the judge for the UCLA "First Annual Romeo and Juliet Kissing Contest" tonight.

"Her name is a symbol of love," said Rick Rose, the student coordinator of the event. "She's the most expert judge on this subject in the whole world." Four finalists, selected from a field of 32 in earlier rounds, are to be judged on "beauty of embrace, position of lips during osculation, breath and noise control, inventiveness and sex appeal engendered."

SUPER DIRECTOR

George Schaefer Puts Genius Into His Work

By MIMI MEAD
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

NEW YORK — Alfred Lunt called him masterful. Julie Harris said he was touched by genius. Trevor Howard once agreed to appear in a play without reading it on hearing that he would direct.

He is director-producer George Schaefer, whose list of awards — Emmys, Tonys, Peabodys, Silvanias — and whose credits for quality production, are mind-boggling.

"Gentle" and "enthusiastic" are still probably not the first adjectives that leap to mind when describing your average top-notch film director. Yet George Schaefer is a gentle, courteous, somewhat rotund man who much resembles your favorite seventh-grade math teacher. In 15 years he produced and directed over 50 programs for TV's "Hallmark Hall of Fame."

Schaefer's theater credits are also considerable, starting with "G. I. Hamlet" starring Maurice Evans, which was created for servicemen in World War II and later ran scucessfully on Broadway.

He also co-produced "Teahouse of the August Moon" with Evans and, over the years, "The Apple Cart," "Man and Superman," "Write Me A Murder," "Idiots Delight" and "The Last of Mrs. Lincoln," among others.

Turning to Hollywood, he directed George Peppard and Richard Kiley in "Pendulum," as well as "Generation," "Doctors' Wives" and "Once Upon A Scoundrel." His film, "A War of Children," won an Emmy in 1973.

Now Schaefer is returning to television as executive producer of a Paramount series, "Love Story," premiering on NBC in the fall, as well as a two-hour special for ABC, "F. Scott Fitzgerald and the Last of the Belles," which he recently completed filming in Savannah, Ga.

"The series is not really a series in that it's going to be a different story evry week," Schaefer said. "I will actually produce three or maybe four of them, and probably direct two if I can squeeze it in. The main reason I'm doing it, in addition to being a challenge, is because there's nothing like that on television anymore. I really miss not only 'Playhouse 90' but the 'Bob Hope Theater' and that sort of thing.

"I did about everything I wanted to do in 'Hallmark.' I left because I thought I was getting into a kind of rut. I wanted to get back to the theater and do some feature films and some different things in my somewhat older age. My first reaction to doing a series was no, ridiculous; I'd always turned them down. But it turned out that everything I would have objected to didn't exist," except perhaps the name which Schaefer admits is too closely connected with Erich Segal's best-selling book. "They are going to use the musical theme from the movie — after all, Paramount owns the rights — but the series has nothing to do with the book. The stories are going to be love stories, in the sense that everything I've ever done for television has been a love story," he added gently.

"It does mean that we will not be doing whodunits or medical stories or cowboys. It will be modern, it will be American, it will be realistic," he said, quoting from the network description of the series. Asked why "American," Schaefer shrugged and said, "Being American is not my limitation, I admit. One of the requirements NBC had was that in both time and surroundings it connect with the audience. You're not going to get into the problem of a French mistress or whatever. They must have immediate identification."

It was suggested that perhaps a series titled "Love Story" would lose the male viewers, and Schaefer said, "I would think a lot of our appeal would be to the women, but that would also depend on who's in it. We might get some people who still believe in romance. I did a revival of 'The Student Prince' this summer and it's doing a fantastic business down in Washington, D.C.

"I have accepted that out of the 17 programs maybe five will be really above average," said Schaefer fatalistically, but then he added with a grin, "Subject to network policy and censorship, I have the say-so on the scripts. The reason they're buying me presumably is to bring some of the standards that I have used elsewhere."

Schaefer says he would not, however, consider a regular, on-going series. "I find that when you have to have the same people in the same situation every week there's no challenge. I've always been a great believer in the special show, the one-shot."

As far as the theater goes, Schaefer intends to go on. "In fact, the Mrs. Lincoln play is planning to go on tour.

"Julie Harris has gotten herself into a pickle factory this year," Schaefer added with a chuckle, referring to the weak ABC series, 'Thicker Than Blood,' "so it's planning to go on tour in a year. It was very pleasant doing Mrs. Lincoln. I'd like to do at least one a year if anyone is foolish enough to produce anything on Broadway today. The country overall would really be better off if we could abandon this idea that Broadway is the only place. Washington actually is a better place — the audiences are better, that Kennedy Center is wonderful — but no, Broadway has the mystique. I think they've broken that thing in London. You hear people say, 'Oh, I'm so glad, I'm opening for three weeks in Nottingham.'"

Perhaps one reason Schaefer is so good at his profession is because he says it is the only thing he ever wanted to do. "Even as a little boy of 8 or 10, I'm told, I did church plays and grammar-school productions. Airplanes always fascinated me and I would have loved to do something in planes, but directing is what I want to do. I really prefer directing to producing — which is why I approach this new assignment somewhat skeptically, and why I said I'd only do it for one season. I've enjoyed producing in the past, but in general enjoy working with actors and fussing with every detail."

Schaefer has been quoted as one of those directors who think all actors are children. Questioned on this, he paused a perfect beat and said wryly, "No, I wouldn't say that. Let's say they are in need of parental guidance — you can put it that way. They need to be handled with tenderness. No, I really haven't ever wanted to be an actor myself. In the course of winning the war I trod the boards out in the Pacific and then played a few things here, but again I find the repetition of every night is too much.

"My favorite form I think was electronic television, not film, when you'd rehearse the show for three weeks and then go in and shoot it for two or three days and say good-bye. I'm going to insist we have at least three days' rehearsal for 'Love Story.' But I imagine I'll get some directors who haven't worked in the theater who will say, 'What do you do in rehearsal?' They'd rather work in a set."

ART REVIEW

County Fair Show Well Co-ordinated

By ADA GARFINKEL

One may expect to be surprised — even puzzled — but definitely not bored with the 28th Annual Marin County Art Show which opens Thursday in conjunction with the 1973 Marin County Fair on the Civic Center grounds.

Much more space has been allocated to the fine arts display in the Veterans Memorial Building than in previous years and the installation of the art works has been well co-ordinated.

Styles in art have changed as rapidly as life itself in the past few years. One will note in this exhibit that op, pop, funk, primitive, and psychedelic styles of the very recent past give way to this year's newer concerns with meditation, permutation, and overt and subliminal sensory experience.

Perhaps the most striking change is the absence of garnishness and social stridency with protest seen more in low-keyed wit and humour, and great concern with materials, craftsmanship, and personal development.

Whether this inward-turning will endure, only time can tell, but the hand-written message in Houlgate Davenport's color-etching entitled "Storm" might be a clue. It reads: "Raw energy exploding on earth, once spent gives way to gentleness and growth."

A better example of this impending creative force would be hard to find than in Gerald Sisco's "Best-in-Show" award-winning entry "For Janine." This seven-by-nine foot, unframed black-on-black drawing is rendered in graphite on industrial construction paper. It gleams and pulsates with inner energy as the light accents slight variations in the rhythmic, undulating swaths of the small, plume-shaped, continuous repeat-patterns.

Another industrial material — plastic — has also weathered the transition to aesthetics and "felt" experience very well in Sharon Schwartzman's sensously, softly puffed-and-pearlescent "Soft Grid," and in her lucite, netting, and stained-canvas construction "Net Effect."

Original in every way and with a social impact, and scale far beyond its miniature size, is a diamond-shaped line drawing by Gregor Weiss entitled "Pencil Cups." Within a frame made of ordinary yellow pencils, and textural accents of pencil-sharpener shavings outlining the inner corners, Weiss illustrates the road to poverty showing denuded logs, hatchets, cups, and the words "Earth Shaker" in blocky lettering, interspersed throughout.

Exquisite attention to detail and originality of conception extends to sculpture, weaving, and mixed-media in pieces such as Richard Colombini's metallic "Tricycle Press," Myles Babcock's outsized ceramic and fiber sea monster, John Burke's cast bronze "Balloon Man II," Alexandra Jacopetti's fiber-and-sisal "Spirit Catcher," and Alice Liff's assemblage "Dream Box."

And for a gentle tapering-off and the further delight of a fresh point of view, Herschel Ferguson's "House in the Country," Lois Nelson's "Out to Dinner," Tim Brown's "Self-Portrait," and "Meditation I," and John Soderholm's "Reconstruction of the Rocky Mountains."

This exhibit which was open to artists throughout California, was juried by Wanda Hansen, Martin Stoelzel, and Ian White. It will continue through Monday, and may be viewed during regular fair hours.

Knox Aide Hired By Marin Agency

An aide to Assemblyman John T. Knox, D-Richmond, has been hired as the assistant executive officer of the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission.

Lari I. Sheehan, 28, of Sacramento accepted the $15,000-per-year job yesterday and will start Oct. 1.

Miss Sheehan was one of three applicants interviewed last week by the formation commission for the newly created full-time slot. County Administrator John F. Barrows will remain the executive officer.

She has worked for Assemblyman Knox since 1970 as assistant committee consultant for the Assembly Committee on Local Government.

The new slot was created in June by the formation commission on the recommendation of the county grand jury which said the part-time staff should be expanded to provide more planning.

Miss Sheehan is a 1968 graduate of the University of California at Los Angeles with a bachelor of arts degree in economics.

Sausalito Art Festival Planned As Tribute To Late Jean Varda

The Sausalito Art Festival, which has become a tradition in the city since it was begun by a coterie of artists in the early 1950s, will feature the works of 100 Marin artists and craftsmen from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday, Sunday and Monday at Central School, Caledonia and Litho streets.

Planned as a tribute to the late Jean Varda, one of the festival's founders, who died in Mexico in 1971. Varda, a renowned painter, moved to Sausalito from Big Sur in 1950, making his home on an old ferryboat at Waldo Point and earning the unofficial title of "Sausalito's Grand Old Man of Art."

The mainsail of his sailboat, Cythera, will be used as a backdrop for the festival stage and a collage by Varda will be presented to the city by the Sausalito Foundation.

A weaving exhibit by Bea Bernardi and Christine Sunier will be shown as will displays of paintings and sculpture, including watercolors by Ken Potter of Corte Madera and wood carvings by Ron Butler, a San Quentin Prison inmate. Visitors will be able to watch artists at work on creations.

Entertainment will be continuous during all three days. Performers include puppeteer Mary Wynn Ekstrom, folksingers Bill Forshay and Crazy Wolf, harpists Pamela Galehouse and Lynn Hiatt, guitarist Mark Hatfield, the Sound Gallery jazz ensemble, the Young Sounds singing group, belly dancers Kamar and Kahruba and Ale And His Ladies with seafaring songs and dances.

Poets Jack Micheline, Kel Robertson, Eugene Ruggles, David Sapp, Bernie Uronovitz and Nanos Valaoritis will read beginning at 2 p.m. each day An open poetry reading session also will be held from 3 to 5 p.m. all three days in the school auditorium.

Designed around the theme Sausalito Now and Then, the festival will include a display of early photographs of the town.

Parking will be available at Martin Luther King School, where a shuttle bus will carry visitors to and from the festival, sponsored this year by the Sausalito Chamber of Commerce, according to Barbara Veatch Vorhees, festival director

Mills Is Floored By Back Ailment

NORTH LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI) — A back ailment that may force Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., to retire from politics flared up again during the weekend and forced cancelation of an appearance he was to make last night.

An aide appeared on behalf of the chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee and delivered the speech Mills intended to make to the North Little Rock Chamber of Commerce.

Physical Therapist Talk Saturday

A talk by physical therapist Dorothy Weller about her work with injured civilians in South Vietnam will take place Saturday at 8 p.m. at St. Isabella's Center in Terra Linda.

Due to a typographical error, the day the talk is to take place was omitted from yesterday's Independent-Journal.

Another industrial material — plastic — has also weathered the transition to aesthetics and "felt" experience very well in Sharon Schwartzman's sensously, softly puffed-and-pearlescent "Soft Grid," and in her lucite, netting, and stained-canvas construction "Net Effect."

Original in every way and with a social impact, and scale far beyond its miniature size, is a diamond-shaped line drawing by Gregor Weiss entitled "Pencil Cups." Within a frame made of ordinary yellow pencils, and textural accents of pencil-sharpener shavings outlining the inner corners, Weiss illustrates the road to poverty showing denuded logs, hatchets, cups, and the words "Earth Shaker" in blocky lettering, interspersed throughout.

Exquisite attention to detail and originality of conception extends to sculpture, weaving, and mixed-media in pieces such as Richard Colombini's metallic "Tricycle Press," Myles Babcock's outsized ceramic and fiber sea monster, John Burke's cast bronze "Balloon Man II," Alexandra Jacopetti's fiber-and-sisal "Spirit Catcher," and Alice Liff's assemblage "Dream Box."

And for a gentle tapering-off and the further delight of a fresh point of view, Herschel Ferguson's "House in the Country," Lois Nelson's "Out to Dinner," Tim Brown's "Self-Portrait," and "Meditation I," and John Soderholm's "Reconstruction of the Rocky Mountains."

This exhibit which was open to artists throughout California, was juried by Wanda Hansen, Martin Stoelzel, and Ian White. It will continue through Monday, and may be viewed during regular fair hours.

Knox Aide Hired By Marin Agency

An aide to Assemblyman John T. Knox, D-Richmond, has been hired as the assistant executive officer of the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission.

Lari I. Sheehan, 28, of Sacramento accepted the $15,000-per-year job yesterday and will start Oct. 1.

Miss Sheehan was one of three applicants interviewed last week by the formation commission for the newly created full-time slot. County Administrator John F. Barrows will remain the executive officer.

She has worked for Assemblyman Knox since 1970 as assistant committee consultant for the Assembly Committee on Local Government.

The new slot was created in June by the formation commission on the recommendation of the county grand jury which said the part-time staff should be expanded to provide more planning.

Miss Sheehan is a 1968 graduate of the University of California at Los Angeles with a bachelor of arts degree in economics.

Sausalito Art Festival Planned As Tribute To Late Jean Varda

The Sausalito Art Festival, which has become a tradition in the city since it was begun by a coterie of artists in the early 1950s, will feature the works of 100 Marin artists and craftsmen from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday, Sunday and Monday at Central School, Caledonia and Litho streets.

Planned as a tribute to the late Jean Varda, one of the festival's founders, who died in Mexico in 1971. Varda, a renowned painter, moved to Sausalito from Big Sur in 1950, making his home on an old ferryboat at Waldo Point and earning the unofficial title of "Sausalito's Grand Old Man of Art."

The mainsail of his sailboat, Cythera, will be used as a backdrop for the festival stage and a collage by Varda will be presented to the city by the Sausalito Foundation.

A weaving exhibit by Bea Bernardi and Christine Sunier will be shown as will displays of paintings and sculpture, including watercolors by Ken Potter of Corte Madera and wood carvings by Ron Butler, a San Quentin Prison inmate. Visitors will be able to watch artists at work on creations.

Entertainment will be continuous during all three days. Performers include puppeteer Mary Wynn Ekstrom, folksingers Bill Forshay and Crazy Wolf, harpists Pamela Galehouse and Lynn Hiatt, guitarist Mark Hatfield, the Sound Gallery jazz ensemble, the Young Sounds singing group, belly dancers Kamar and Kahruba and Ale And His Ladies with seafaring songs and dances.

Poets Jack Micheline, Kel Robertson, Eugene Ruggles, David Sapp, Bernie Uronovitz and Nanos Valaoritis will read beginning at 2 p.m. each day An open poetry reading session also will be held from 3 to 5 p.m. all three days in the school auditorium.

Designed around the theme Sausalito Now and Then, the festival will include a display of early photographs of the town.

Parking will be available at Martin Luther King School, where a shuttle bus will carry visitors to and from the festival, sponsored this year by the Sausalito Chamber of Commerce, according to Barbara Veatch Vorhees, festival director

Mills Is Floored By Back Ailment

NORTH LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI) — A back ailment that may force Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., to retire from politics flared up again during the weekend and forced cancelation of an appearance he was to make last night.

An aide appeared on behalf of the chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee and delivered the speech Mills intended to make to the North Little Rock Chamber of Commerce.

Physical Therapist Talk Saturday

A talk by physical therapist Dorothy Weller about her work with injured civilians in South Vietnam will take place Saturday at 8 p.m. at St. Isabella's Center in Terra Linda.

Due to a typographical error, the day the talk is to take place was omitted from yesterday's Independent-Journal.

Wrecker Is Given 90 Days' Grace

A Tamalpais Valley auto wrecker was given 90 days yesterday to solve community unrest over the appearance of his "storage yard" or be forced by the county to move his old junkers elsewhere.

Spokesmen for MacAndy Auto Parts of 242 Shoreline Highway told Marin County planning commissioners they will spend the time trying to find some better way to enclose the fenced junk yard.

Marvin McCabe, owner of MacAndy's, drew support from a contingent of other Shoreline businessmen who have long been at odds with some Tamalpais Valley residents over the appearance of their business area.

The issue was before planning commissioners on appeal of a zoning administrator's decision to renew a use permit for the rebuilding of autos and sale of parts but to phase out the junk yard.

The zoning administrator's decision was appealed by both McCabe, who said the phase out order was based on unsubstantiated charges that he violated his original use permit, and by the Tamalpais Valley Improvement Club, which said the decision did not go far enough.

Joan Panek of the improvement club read a list of complaints including charges that the business draws rodents, blocks pedestrian and bicycle paths and is unsightly.

Spokesmen for MacAndy's said use permit violations of parking junkers in front of the business were caused when heavy winter rains made it impossible to move heavy equipment in the junk yard and by old cars belonging to a neighboring businessman.

In a "minority geport" from the county planning department, Harvey E. Bragdon, chief of current planning, urged the 20-year-old business be forced from its location completely.

Bragdon said the auto wrecking business is located at the gateway to the West Marin recreation areas as well as the residential areas of Tamalpais Valley, Almonte, Homestead Valley and Mill Valley.

Because of its unsightliness, he continued, it should be moved to a rural, "low visibility area."

Such action would aid general clean up and redevelopment of the area, he said.

Commission action on the use permit appeals was postponed to Nov. 26 when MacAndy's is expected to return with some solution for beautifying the junking operation.

Bradley Better

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Gen. Omar Bradley, 80, who was listed in serious condition following emergency surgery less than two weeks ago, is up and walking and wants to go home, UCLA Medical Center reported yesterday.

Carson Is Due A Day In Court

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Johnny Carson was ordered to appear in court Sept. 10 on charges of ignoring a red light after his auto was involved in a three-car accident.

No one was hurt. Carson was cited following the accident Sunday morning when his car collided with another auto, which then hit a third car, police said.

The accident happened east of the Sahara Hotel on the "strip," where Carson is in the midst of a two week engagement.

Deadline Monday On Fairfax Post

Deadline for filing applications for a vacant seat on the Fairfax Planning Commission is 5 p.m. Monday, according to town clerk Eileen Foster.

Gratia E. Landley, John Grybel and Arthur A. Chartock have applied for the seat vacated by Gloria Duncan, she said.

Move Is Rejected To Block Senior Housing

The action followed brief discussion of Hawkins' appeal of the design of the 102-unit project sponsored by the Catholic Social Service of Marin.

Hawkins, who lives at 4 Hanken Drive, has waged a two-year battle with the county over the project, claiming it is unfair to put a high-density development in a single-family residential area.

The project, to be located on the old Catholic Priory site at 217 Laurel Grove Avenue, won county approval last year but the action was overturned by the courts when Hawkins, an attorney, successfully argued that the county zoning code made no provision for such use in a single-family area.

County supervisors revised the code and the Priory project was resubmitted and is only now reaching final approval stage again.

Hawkins is expected to appeal the planning commission's decision to county supervisors as he has in the past on other matters dealing with the project.

Commissioner Margaret B. Azevedo, long active in low and moderate-income housing causes, labeled Hawkins' appeal "meretricious" and said "it's a question whether the people of Laurel Grove will share their affluent, stable neighborhood with the elderly poor."

The Marin County Planning Commission also:

HOWARD JOHNSON — Approval an amendment to the master plan for the Howard Johnson Motel complex near Mill Valley to allow 20 more rooms and a 14-unit office building. The new additions will replace a planned 40-room expansion.

SYNANON — Postponed to Sept. 17 discussion of growth controls for the Synanon Foundation which operates three ranches near Marshall as part of a rehabilitation program for alcoholics and drug addicts. Planning Director Werner von Gundell asked for the delay so he can tour the facilities.

REZONING — Postponed to Sept. 17 a request from residents of the Sorich Park area near San Anselmo to rezone undeveloped parcels of property to low-density residential use. The delay was requested by several property owners who said they had not had time to study the residents' request.

BOLINAS — Postponed to Oct. 1 a variance request from Verr L. Bradley on the zoning administrator's denial of his proposal to convert Smiley's Bar in Bolinas into a bar and restaurant. The request was originally denied because of a lack of nearby parking but Bradley said yesterday he has an option on an adjacent parcel.

COMMITTEE — Took under review a proposal from commission chairman William C. Long that use permit, variance, design review and precise development plan hearings be conducted by committees of the commission.

Hung Jury Ends Trial Of Newton

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI) — The trial of Black Panther party founder Huey P. Newton, 30, and his bodyguard charged with beating a disc jockey ended yesterday in a hung jury.

Municipal Judge Winton McKibben set Sept. 6 for a hearing on whether there will be a second trial for Newton and Robert L. Bay, 29.

Newton and Bay were charged with battery and carrying concealed weapons. The disc jockey said he was beaten at a tavern by the two men last April.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

IT'S THE REAL THING

This sturdy building at 35 Canal Street, being built by contractor Ken W. Thorne of Castro Valley, stands near completion and ready for occupants. It has no relationship whatsoever to a structure toppled by high winds at 330 Canal Street, a structure which the Independent-Journal erroneously reported Saturday was being built by contractor Ken Thorn. Actually, the beams and wooden siding that toppled Friday formed the frame of a building owned by Continental Development Co. and being built by Transwestern Builders on Concord, according to Jack K. Coates, San Rafael building inspector.

Jury Finds Man Guilty In Absentia

A San Francisco man, who failed to appear for the second day of his trial on burglary charges, was found guilty in absentia yesterday.

After four hours deliberation, a Marin Superior Court jury convicted Bruce Virgil Szajek, 31, of burglarizing the east San Rafael home of Fire Capt. Paul W. Sasse on May 30.

Szajek was not present to hear the verdict. He did not appear in court after the first day of his four-day trial. Judge Joseph G. Wilson ordered a bench warrant issued for his arrest, with bail set at $5,000.

Szajek's partner in the burglary, James Doyle Richards, 32, also of San Francisco, pleaded guilty Aug. 14 to second degree burglary in return for a promise of no more than a year in county jail and two years' probation. He will be sentenced Sept. 17.

Szajek and Richards were arrested about a half-mile from Sasse's Tiburon Boulevard home, after Sasse's son, James, interrupted the burglary and disabled the pair's station wagon.

The two had piled loot near the front door of the house before fleeing, police said.

Homes Vandalized

Vandals splattered stain on kitchen cabinets at homes under construction on Canyon Drive over the weekend, Petaluma police reported. Damage was estimated at $1,000 to homes being built by Camille Enterprises.

Marin, Sonoma Officials Deadlock On Faire Talks

By JEFF GREER

Much talk but no solutions resulted yesterday from a joint meeting of Marin and Sonoma county supervisors on Highway 101 traffic problems and the Renaissance Pleasure Faire.

After the 90-minute joint meeting in the Marin Civic Center, Sonoma County's suit against Marin still stood; the Marin supervisors still must decide eventually whether the fair will be permitted on the Veronda Ranch at the Marin-Sonoma County line.

The boards were given a set of maps and new proposals for work needed on Highway 101 from Gnoss Field to Petaluma to halt increasing traffic congestion, as well as to handle traffic from the proposed fair site.

The projects, jointly presented by Ray W. Foreaker Jr., Marin County public works director, and Donald B. Head, Sonoma County public works director, could require up to $9 million.

The most costly proposal was to construct a median barrier all the way from the Redwood Sanitary Fill access road south of the county line to Petaluma, and build a frontage road west of Highway 101 for access to San Antonio Road, where the fair is planned.

Another idea would convert the existing southbound lanes of Highway 101 to a frontage road and build new northbound lanes east of the present highway.

The two engineers suggested that a $1,750,000 freeway interchange just north of the county line would be compatible with either alignment, and would serve the fair.

Marin Board Chairman Arnold M. Baptiste said it was "pie in the sky" for anyone even to consider building an interchange just because of the fair. "We're talking about six weekends a year" that the fair operates, he said. He proposed adding conditions to the fair permit that would require it to close early on Sundays so as not to add to the heavy traffic coming home from Redwood Empire weekend jaunts.

Head warned that state traffic studies show that even with suggested improvements on 101, the road will face congestion problems by 1975. A state highway spokesman added that "maximum freeway" development of 101 between Atherton Avenue in Novato and Petaluma "is at least 10 years off," on the state schedule.

Both counties' officials agreed neither county was willing to use their funds for an interchange. Marin Supervisor Gary T. Giacomini warned that even if the fair operators financed interim improvements "it would upset" Sonoma county's long-range plans to keep the county line area "zero population growth."

Sonoma Supervisor Ignazio A. Vella suggested that Marin prevent buildup along San Antonio Road because eventually it may be the long-sought link to West Marin.

The meeting left unchanged the status of Sonoma County's appeal against the Marin County use permit for the Renaissance Center, and the Sonoma County suit challenging the environmental impact report approved by Marin.

The Marin planning commission probably will act on the permit Sept. 17. If the permit issued by deputy zoning administrator Harvey Bragdon is upheld, Sonoma County will appeal to the Marin supervisors, Bragdon predicted after yesterday's meeting.

Special Session

A special meeting of the Marin County Redevelopment Agency board will be held at 9 a.m. tomorrow in the agency office in San Rafael to authorize execution of escrow instructions in the sale of land to Highland Associates and discuss the Marin City flea market operation.

Youth Held In Petaluma Auto Accident

A 16-year-old Rohnert Park youth was arrested yesterday on suspicion of felony drunken driving after a Petaluma traffic accident which injured two women.

Mercedes L. Pedrotti, 23, of 832 Daniel Drive, Petaluma, was reported in serious condition at Marin General Hospital with head injuries. Her passenger, Felipa Gutierrez, 41, of 203-A Upham Street, Petaluma, was reported in good condition at Hillcrest Hospital with multiple cuts.

Police said a car driven by Steven Dale Kennedy, 460 Anson Avenue, collided with Mrs. Pedrotti's car on Petaluma Boulevard North about 8 a.m.

Kennedy was booked into Sonoma County Juvenile Hall.

X-Rated Film Policy Is Delayed

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — A plan to ban pornographic films at outdoor theaters was delayed yesterday by the Sonoma County Board of Supervisors after constitutional questions were raised. Supervisors had been prepared to adopt an ordinance banning X-rated films at drive-in movies, but received several objections.

James L. Melikian, director of public affairs for the National Association of Theater Owners, and Martin Spiegel, an attorney for the American Civil Liberties Union, said the proposed ordinance violates the Constitution.

The supervisors directed them to meet with Sonoma County Counsel James P. Botz to draft a more acceptable ordinance for consideration at the Sept. 17 board meeting.

Supervisors Philip L. Joerger of Petaluma pushed for passage of the measure, saying persons driving along roadways should not be subjected to pornographic films being shown outdoors.

"Good old common decency dictates that we take some action to curb the outdoor showing of this type of film," Joerger said. "I think the theater people are being very inconsistent. They demand that a person be 18 or over to see these films in indoor theaters, yet they show them in outdoor theaters where any 12-year-old can park across the road and view this trash."

Bedayan Guilty Of Manslaughter

Brent William Bedayan was found guilty last night of voluntary manslaughter in the deaths of three members of a Mill Valley family, the least serious of three possible verdicts the jury could have returned.

Only the defendant's father, Torcom Bedayan, and two reporters were in the courtroom when the jury returned the verdict at 9:15 p.m., following 15 hours of deliberations over two days.

Bedayan showed no sign of emotion as the verdict was read.

In the sanity phase of the trial, which began today, the jury will determine Bedayan's mental state at the time of the killings.

The finding was the least serious of three possible choices open to the jury. Judge Henry J. Broderick told the panel Friday it had to find the former mental patient guilty of first or second degree murder or voluntary manslaughter.

In opting for the third choice, the jury found that Bedayan harbored no malice when he shot and killed 19-year-old Daniel R. Schallock and his parents, Melvin, 61, and Ruth, 56, outside their home March 16.

Broderick explained the jury must find Bedayan understood the act was forbidden by society at the moment he pulled the trigger for the crime to be first or second degree murder.

Bedayan's defense attorney, Frank J. Cox, today praised the verdict and said he would be "awfully pleased if we can get this boy into a hospital."

After a long period of psychiatric treatment, Bedayan, who had "no pattern of antisocial behavior toward anyone" before he shot the Schallocks, will "be able to step out very tentatively into the community," Cox said.

If the jury decides Bedayan was sane when he killed the Schallocks, he could be sent to prison for 15 years. If declared insane, Bedayan would be turned over to state mental health authorities until he is determined to have recovered.

During the 20-day trial, five psychiatrists testified Bedayan acted out of fear and hatred for young Daniel Schallock in killing him and his parents.

The hatred apparently was set off when Schallock struck Bedayan in the groin during a basketball game last summer, the psychiatrists said.

Shelter Hill Plans Win Approval

Designs for the Shelter Hill low and moderate income housing project were approved last night by the Mill Valley Planning Commission, overturning the city architectural advisory committee's recent rejection of the plans.

The architectural committee had said the buildings included too many flights of stairs for family living.

Robert J. Hanna, associate planner, said the planning commission agreed that five flights per building were perhaps too many but probably the only architectural solution possible on the sloping site.

The commission asked the nonprofit developers, the Interfaith Housing Foundation, to shift buildings slightly to save Indian remains under part of the site. It also returned the plans to the architectural advisory committee for further study of the landscaping.

Prezoning Proposed For Novato Property

The Novato Planning Commission last night recommended rezoning about 80 parcels of land to bring them into conformance with the city's new general plan.

In the majority of cases, the commission called for rezoning from agricultural to single-family residential. The suggestions will be forwarded to the city council.

The Novato Planning Commission also:

HAUNTED HOUSE — Granted the Jolly Rogers chapter of Children's Home Society a use permit to conduct a haunted house Oct. 24-30 at 1485 South Novato Boulevard.

HORSES — Granted Joyce Marinsik a permit to keep a horse at 2136 Center Road and Wayne Dudley a permit to keep three horses at 1079 Simmons Lane.

OFFICE BUILDING — Recommended rezoning land at 890 Tamalpais Avenue from single-family residential to administrative professional.

HEARING — Set Sept. 10 for a public hearing on prezoning — to 10-acre lots — of 102 acres at the southwest corner of Novato Boulevard and Sutro Avenue.

NEXT MEETING — Adjourned to a joint meeting with the city council at 8 p.m. Thursday at the Novato Community House. The next regular meeting will be at 8 p.m. Sept. 10 at the Community House.

Open Space Bond Vote Scheduled

The Rohnert Park City Council officially set the Nov. 6 $1 million open space bond election at a special meeting last night.

The council had tentatively approved the election last week. If approved by voters, funds would be used to preserve open space on the perimeter of the city by buying either the land outright or its development rights.

City Mgr. Peter M. Callinan said the council directed the ad hoc committee on open space to prepare ballot arguments.

Four Added To School Seat Races

Four more candidates have filed for seats in three of 24 special districts which will hold elections Nov. 6.

Returning completed candidacy papers to the county elections office yesterday were:

Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District (three seats): Sesto Lucchi, incumbent, engineer, 8 Clover Hill Court, San Rafael and Charles P. Carle, 39, chemical engineer, 2155 Las Gallinas Avenue, San Rafael.

The four were the first to file for posts in their respective districts. Filing deadline is 5 p.m. Friday.

Cotati Council To Set Tax Rate

The Cotati city council will set the city's 1973-74 tax rate at a special session Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at city hall.

Councilmen have said they hope to reduce the 1972-73 tax rate of $1.25 per $100 assessed valuation.

Sewer Connect Charge Boosted

The Homestead Valley Sanitary District board approved a $260 increase last night in its basic sewer connection charge.

Board president James G. MacNichols said that the basic charge will go up from $240 to $500 for a single-family home.

The new charges will be figured on the basis of fixture units instead of on the number of rooms in the house as was done before. The $500 will pay for up to 13 fixture units with additional units costing $20 each.

MacNichols said the increase was part of a review of the district's ordinances which are being changed to make them uniform with those of other Southern Marin sanitary districts.

Trucker Hurt In Sniper Attack

CORCKETT (UPI) — A sniper injured a trucker passing on Interstate 80 early today, according to the California Highway Patrol.

The patrol said Herbert Stubbs, 43, the driver, suffered a head wound caused either by a bullet or shattered glass. Stubbs was taken to Pinole Hospital.

He was hit while driving a load of almonds westbound, the CHP said. No motive for the attack was apparent.

Elderly Man's Body Found In Apartment

The badly decomposed body of an elderly man was found last night on a couch in a Mill Valley apartment, police reported.

Elmer Lyman Nelson, 70, of 158 E. Blithedale Avenue, Apt. 4, had been dead for several days, according to officers, who said there was no evidence of foul play.

Police were called to the apartment at 9:38 p.m. after the landlord entered the apartment and found the body after a neighbor said Nelson had not been seen for several days.

An autopsy is planned.

Sewerage Agency Funds Approved

The Almonte Sanitary District board last night approved paying its share of the budget for the Southern Marin Subregional Sewerage Agency for 1973-74.

According to John J. Crncich, board secretary, the district will pay $1,000 out of the total budget of $107,500.

IT'S THE REAL THING

This sturdy building at 35 Canal Street, being built by contractor Ken W. Thorne of Castro Valley, stands near completion and ready for occupants. It has no relationship whatsoever to a structure toppled by high winds at 330 Canal Street, a structure which the Independent-Journal erroneously reported Saturday was being built by contractor Ken Thorn. Actually, the beams and wooden siding that toppled Friday formed the frame of a building owned by Continental Development Co. and being built by Transwestern Builders on Concord, according to Jack K. Coates, San Rafael building inspector.

Jury Finds Man Guilty In Absentia

A San Francisco man, who failed to appear for the second day of his trial on burglary charges, was found guilty in absentia yesterday.

After four hours deliberation, a Marin Superior Court jury convicted Bruce Virgil Szajek, 31, of burglarizing the east San Rafael home of Fire Capt. Paul W. Sasse on May 30.

Szajek was not present to hear the verdict. He did not appear in court after the first day of his four-day trial. Judge Joseph G. Wilson ordered a bench warrant issued for his arrest, with bail set at $5,000.

Szajek's partner in the burglary, James Doyle Richards, 32, also of San Francisco, pleaded guilty Aug. 14 to second degree burglary in return for a promise of no more than a year in county jail and two years' probation. He will be sentenced Sept. 17.

Szajek and Richards were arrested about a half-mile from Sasse's Tiburon Boulevard home, after Sasse's son, James, interrupted the burglary and disabled the pair's station wagon.

The two had piled loot near the front door of the house before fleeing, police said.

Homes Vandalized

Vandals splattered stain on kitchen cabinets at homes under construction on Canyon Drive over the weekend, Petaluma police reported. Damage was estimated at $1,000 to homes being built by Camille Enterprises.

Marin, Sonoma Officials Deadlock On Faire Talks

By JEFF GREER

Much talk but no solutions resulted yesterday from a joint meeting of Marin and Sonoma county supervisors on Highway 101 traffic problems and the Renaissance Pleasure Faire.

After the 90-minute joint meeting in the Marin Civic Center, Sonoma County's suit against Marin still stood; the Marin supervisors still must decide eventually whether the fair will be permitted on the Veronda Ranch at the Marin-Sonoma County line.

The boards were given a set of maps and new proposals for work needed on Highway 101 from Gnoss Field to Petaluma to halt increasing traffic congestion, as well as to handle traffic from the proposed fair site.

The projects, jointly presented by Ray W. Foreaker Jr., Marin County public works director, and Donald B. Head, Sonoma County public works director, could require up to $9 million.

The most costly proposal was to construct a median barrier all the way from the Redwood Sanitary Fill access road south of the county line to Petaluma, and build a frontage road west of Highway 101 for access to San Antonio Road, where the fair is planned.

Another idea would convert the existing southbound lanes of Highway 101 to a frontage road and build new northbound lanes east of the present highway.

The two engineers suggested that a $1,750,000 freeway interchange just north of the county line would be compatible with either alignment, and would serve the fair.

Marin Board Chairman Arnold M. Baptiste said it was "pie in the sky" for anyone even to consider building an interchange just because of the fair. "We're talking about six weekends a year" that the fair operates, he said. He proposed adding conditions to the fair permit that would require it to close early on Sundays so as not to add to the heavy traffic coming home from Redwood Empire weekend jaunts.

Head warned that state traffic studies show that even with suggested improvements on 101, the road will face congestion problems by 1975. A state highway spokesman added that "maximum freeway" development of 101 between Atherton Avenue in Novato and Petaluma "is at least 10 years off," on the state schedule.

Both counties' officials agreed neither county was willing to use their funds for an interchange. Marin Supervisor Gary T. Sonoma Supervisor Ignazio A. Vella suggested that Marin prevent buildup along San Antonio Road because eventually it may be the long-sought link to West Marin.

The meeting left unchanged the status of Sonoma County's appeal against the Marin County use permit for the Renaissance Center, and the Sonoma County suit challenging the environmental impact report approved by Marin.

The Marin planning commission probably will act on the permit Sept. 17. If the permit issued by deputy zoning administrator Harvey Bragdon is upheld, Sonoma County will appeal to the Marin supervisors, Bragdon predicted after yesterday's meeting.

A special meeting of the Marin County Redevelopment Agency board will be held at 9 a.m. tomorrow in the agency office in San Rafael to authorize execution of escrow instructions in the sale of land to Highland Associates and discuss the Marin City flea market operation.

Board president James G. MacNichols said that the basic charge will go up from $240 to $500 for a single-family home.

The new charges will be figured on the basis of fixture units instead of on the number of rooms in the house as was done before. The $500 will pay for up to 13 fixture units with additional units costing $20 each.

SELLING MARIN SINCE 1919

SEPARATE HOUSE FOR TEENAGERS. This Novato home offers convenience to the freeway plus a big lot with fruit trees and a separate new cottage for teenagers (or big rumpus room). There's dining room, deck, BBQ and fireplace. There's even another little playhouse. Nicely decorated — move right in. $33,500.

SMALL, BUT LOVELY. It's tops in popularity — this premium Novato area and this lovely street. There're pine trees all around and the home is immaculate. Lava fireplace, carpeted living room. Wood cabinet kitchen and 3 bdrms. Beautiful yard with outdoor living room, bar and sparkling fountain. It has everything! Eves. 472-2107 $36,950.

HOME OF THE WEEK

An absolutely perfect, beautifully decorated — transferred owner must sell by Wednesday — a rare opportunity! 4 bdrms., 2½ baths, family room-dining room and big level yard. It's even air conditioned and has lovely carpeting, laundry room, oversized garage and storage space. It's a perfect location for children — Novato's finest — and it's nicer than new. $49,950.

UNDER CONSTRUCTION. Another well built beauty in the hills of Fairfax. A very private lot utilizing the trees to the fullest. Lots of appeal in this 2 bdrm. home — 1½ baths, dining room and decks. Exclusive. Eves. 454-5567. $48,950.

LOTS OF ROOM! Big Atherton model. A warm friendly 2 story home with 4 bdrms. (1 super size) dining room, breakfast bar and fresh all elec. kitchen. So nicely landscaped! And you can walk to schools and bus from this well loved home. A real Novato discovery. Eves. 453-8850. $47,950.

KENTFIELD ESTATE. On choice Laurel Grove Ave., this spacious level property is truly one of a kind. Meandering brick walk thru beautiful garden to charming Dutch door entry. Woodsy and private, large cabana with fireplace, kitchen and 2 baths, overlooks the completely secluded oversize swimming pool. Charming home has large living room, huge separate dining room, kitchen with spacious eating area, 4 bdrms., 3 baths plus a maid's room. One of a kind! Eves. 456-3835. $120,000.

DOWNTOWN ROSS. Live in a park practically downtown, choice level property with circular driveway. Look out to the woods and enjoy the patio in quiet and comfort — even complete with fish pond, 3 bdrms., 2 baths, modern kitchen and dining room, all on 1 level. Perfect for grandma and grandpa. See quickly. $69,500.

IT'S HEAVENLY. Thru iron gates to this hideaway Shangri-La. 1 year old with professional landscaping. Private court entry to this large family home. 5 bdrms., huge master bdrm. suite. Beautiful wood kitchen, dining room, swimming pool and the largest rumpus room we've ever seen. A breathtaking home in this fine Novato area. See! Eves. 456-3835. $65,950.

A COTTAGE IN THE WOODS. Extra large lot with view — in Fairfax — good sun and privacy. A cottage with 2 bdrms. upstairs and a studio unit downstairs for extra income. It's legal, nonconforming waiting for your organic garden and creative instincts. Exclusive. Eves. 456-5854. $34,500.

SELLING MARIN SINCE 1919

SEPARATE HOUSE FOR TEENAGERS. This Novato home offers convenience to the freeway plus a big lot with fruit trees and a separate new cottage for teenagers (or big rumpus room). There's dining room, deck, BBQ and fireplace. There's even another little playhouse. Nicely decorated — move right in. $33,500.

SMALL, BUT LOVELY. It's tops in popularity — this premium Novato area and this lovely street. There're pine trees all around and the home is immaculate. Lava fireplace, carpeted living room. Wood cabinet kitchen and 3 bdrms. Beautiful yard with outdoor living room, bar and sparkling fountain. It has everything! Eves. 472-2107 $36,950

HOME OF THE WEEK

An absolutely perfect, beautifully decorated — transferred owner must sell by Wednesday — a rare opportunity! 4 bdrms., 2½ baths, family room-dining room and big level yard. It's even air conditioned and has lovely carpeting, laundry room, oversized garage and storage space. It's a perfect location for children — Novato's finest — and it's nicer than new. $49,950.

UNDER CONSTRUCTION. Another well built beauty in the hills of Fairfax. A very private lot utilizing the trees to the fullest. Lots of appeal in this 2 bdrm. home — 1½ baths, dining room and decks. Exclusive. Eves. 454-5567. $48,950

LOTS OF ROOM! Big Atherton model. A warm friendly 2 story home with 4 bdrms. (1 super size) dining room, breakfast bar and fresh all elec. kitchen. So nicely landscaped! And you can walk to schools and bus from this well loved home. A real Novato discovery. Eves. 453-8850. $47,950

KENTFIELD ESTATE. On choice Laurel Grove Ave., this spacious level property is truly one of a kind. Meandering brick walk thru beautiful garden to charming Dutch door entry. Woodsy and private, large cabana with fireplace, kitchen and 2 baths, overlooks the completely secluded oversize swimming pool. Charming home has large living room, huge separate dining room, kitchen with spacious eating area, 4 bdrms., 3 baths plus a maid's room. One of a kind! Eves. 456-3835. $120,000.

DOWNTOWN ROSS. Live in a park practically downtown, choice level property with circular driveway. Look out to the woods and enjoy the patio in quiet and comfort — even complete with fish pond, 3 bdrms., 2 baths, modern kitchen and dining room, all on 1 level. Perfect for grandma and grandpa. See quickly. $69,500.

IT'S HEAVENLY. Thru iron gates to this hideaway Shangri-La. 1 year old with professional landscaping. Private court entry to this large family home. 5 bdrms., huge master bdrm. suite. Beautiful wood kitchen, dining room, swimming pool and the largest rumpus room we've ever seen. A breathtaking home in this fine Novato area. See! Eves. 456-3835. $65,950.

A COTTAGE IN THE WOODS. Extra large lot with view — in Fairfax — good sun and privacy. A cottage with 2 bdrms. upstairs and a studio unit downstairs for extra income. It's legal, nonconforming waiting for your organic garden and creative instincts. Exclusive. Eves. 456-5854. $34,500.

De Long's Deal

If you are thinking of buying a new Ford . . .

DON'T!

I'm a 1973 Ford Torino Grand Sport with automatic transmission, power steering, power brakes, air conditioning, AM/FM/Stereo radio and I'm dressed in a vibrant metallic blue topped with a sparkling white vinyl roof.
I will amaze you with my performance. Own me for a fraction of my original cost. I'm really worth a call and a viewing. KXN 915.

De Long's Deal

If you are thinking of buying a new Ford . . .

DON'T!

I'm a 1973 Ford Torino Grand Sport with automatic transmission, power steering, power brakes, air conditioning, AM/FM/Stereo radio and I'm dressed in a vibrant metallic blue topped with a sparkling white vinyl roof.
I will amaze you with my performance. Own me for a fraction of my original cost. I'm really worth a call and a viewing. KXN 915.

NOTICE OF HEARING BEFORE THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF MARIN COUNTY

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Board of Supervisors of Marin County has fixed 1:45 p.m. on Tuesday, September 11, 1973, at the Chambers of the Board of Supervisors, Marin County Civic Center, San Rafael, California, as the time and place for a hearing on the questions stated in the Resolution of the Board of Supervisors of Marin County duly passed and adopted on August 14, 1973, a full, true and correct copy of which Resolution is as follows:

COUNTY OF MARIN
COUNTY SERVICE AREA NO. 17
RESOLUTION NO. 73-249
RESOLUTION DECLARING NECESSITY FOR INCURRING BONDED INDEBTEDNESS AND FIXING TIME AND PLACE FOR A HEARING ON QUESTION WHETHER WHOLE AREA OR ONLY A PORTION THEREOF WILL BE BENEFITED BY THE ACQUISITION, CONSTRUCTION AND COMPLETION OF PARK AND RECREATION FACILITIES

WHEREAS, County Service Area No. 17 (herein called the "Area") is a county service area duly organized and existing under the County Service Area Law; and

WHEREAS, this Board of Supervisors has duly investigated and considered the advisability and necessity of acquiring, constrcuing and completing park and recreation facilities for the area; and

WHEREAS, it has been found and determined, and this Board of Supervisors does hereby find and determine, that the cost of acquisition, construction and completion of said park and recreation facilities will be approximately $850,000.00, which sum is in excess of any available funds of the Area now on hand and is also in excess of the present income and revenue of the Area for the current year and is and will be too great to be paid from the levy and collection of taxes within the Area in any one year;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED AND ORDERED by the Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin as follows:

Section 1. All of the above recitals are true and correct and this Board of Supervisors so finds and determines.

Section 2. The public interest and necessity require the acquisition, construction and completion of park and recreation facilities for the Area, as hereinafter described.

Section 3. It is hereby determined and declared that it is necessary for the Area to incur a bonded indebtedness for the purpose of defraying the cost of said park and recreation facilities. The estimated cost of said park and recreation facilities is the sum of $850,000.00, and the amount of the proposed debt to be incurred therefor is the sum of $850,000.00.

Section 4. The purpose for which said proposed debt is to be incurred is the acquisition, construction and completion of the following described park and recreation facilities, to-wit:

Park and recreation facilities for County Service Area No. 17, comprising the acquisition and improvement of approximately 27.5 acres of land for preservation of open space for park and recreation facilities for County Service Area No. 17.

Section 5. 1:45 o'clock p.m. on Tuesday, September 11, 1973, at the Chambers of the Board of Supervisors, Marin County Civic Center, San Rafael, California, be and the same are hereby fixed as the time and place for a hearing by the Board of Supervisors on the questions as to whether the whole of the Area or only a portion thereof will be benefited by the accomplishment of the aforesaid purpose for which said proposed debt is to be incurred, and if only a portion thereof will be so benefited, what portion will be so benefited. Said hearing may be adjourned from time to time. At said time and place, or at such time and place to which said hearing may be adjourned, any interested person, including any and all persons owning property in the Area, may appear and present any and all such matters material to said questions hereinabove stated as he may desire and he will be heard upon the questions herein stated. Upon the conclusion of said hearing hereinabove fixed, this Board of Supervisors shall by resolution determine whether the whole of the Area will be benefited by the accomplishment of the purpose hereinabove stated, and if it determines that the whole of the Area will not be so benefited by the accomplishment of said purpose, then it shall state what portion of the Area will be so benefited, describing the same in a manner sufficient for identification, and that portion of the Area so described shall thereupon constitute and be known as "Improvement Area No. 1 of County Service Area No. 17" and the proceedings thereafter for the purpose of the bond election and for the purpose of taxation for the payment of said bonds and interest shall be limited and apply only to said improvement area of the Area. The determination of this Board of Supervisors on said questions shall be final and conclusive.

Section 6. Notice of said hearing shall be given by the Clerk of this Board of Supervisors by causing a copy of this Resolution to be published for at least two weeks before the time fixed for said hearing in the INDEPENDENT JOURNAL, a newspaper of general circulation circulated within the Area. The copy of this resolution so published shall be accompanied by a notice subscribed by the Clerk of this Board of Supervisors to the effect that the hearing herein referred to will be had at the time and place specified herein and that at said time and place any person interested, including all persons owning property in the Area, will be heard upon the questions stated in this resolution.

PASSED AND ADOPTED this 14th day of August, 1973, by the following vote.

AYES: SUPERVISORS Peter R. Arrigoni, Gary Giacomini, Bob Roumiguiere, Michael Wornum, Arnold M. Baptiste.

Sears Is Silent In Shoplift Case

GLEN BURNIE, Md. (UPI) — Officials of Sears Roebuck Company refused to comment yesterday on reports that Elizabeth McAlister, a defendant in the Harrisburg, Pa., trial on charges involving antiwar activities had been arrested on shoplifting charges.

The former nun and wife of antiwar priest Phillip Berrigan was arrested with another woman, Judith Lafemina, also a former nun, on charges by a security guard at the Sears store in Glen Burnie, Md.

The type and amount of merchandise the women allegedly took was not disclosed. Mrs. Berrigan lives in Baltimore.

NOTICE OF HEARING BEFORE THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF MARIN COUNTY

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Board of Supervisors of Marin County has fixed 1:45 p.m. on Tuesday, September 11, 1973, at the Chambers of the Board of Supervisors, Marin County Civic Center, San Rafael, California, as the time and place for a hearing on the questions stated in the Resolution of the Board of Supervisors of Marin County duly passed and adopted on August 14, 1973, a full, true and correct copy of which Resolution is as follows:

COUNTY OF MARIN
COUNTY SERVICE AREA NO. 17
RESOLUTION NO. 73-249
RESOLUTION DECLARING NECESSITY FOR INCURRING BONDED INDEBTEDNESS AND FIXING TIME AND PLACE FOR A HEARING ON QUESTION WHETHER WHOLE AREA OR ONLY A PORTION THEREOF WILL BE BENEFITED BY THE ACQUISITION, CONSTRUCTION AND COMPLETION OF PARK AND RECREATION FACILITIES

WHEREAS, County Service Area No. 17 (herein called the "Area") is a county service area duly organized and existing under the County Service Area Law; and

WHEREAS, this Board of Supervisors has duly investigated and considered the advisability and necessity of acquiring, construcing and completing park and recreation facilities for the area; and

WHEREAS, it has been found and determined, and this Board of Supervisors does hereby find and determine, that the cost of acquisition, construction and completion of said park and recreation facilities will be approximately $850,000.00, which sum is in excess of any available funds of the Area now on hand and is also in excess of the present income and revenue of the Area for the current year and is and will be too great to be paid from the levy and collection of taxes within the Area in any one year;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED AND ORDERED by the Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin as follows:

Section 1. All of the above recitals are true and correct and this Board of Supervisors so finds and determines.

Section 2. The public interest and necessity require the acquisition, construction and completion of park and recreation facilities for the Area, as hereinafter described.

Section 3. It is hereby determined and declared that it is necessary for the Area to incur a bonded indebtedness for the purpose of defraying the cost of said park and recreation facilities. The estimated cost of said park and recreation facilities is the sum of $850,000.00, and the amount of the proposed debt to be incurred therefor is the sum of $850,000.00.

Section 4. The purpose for which said proposed debt is to be incurred is the acquisition, construction and completion of the following described park and recreation facilities, to-wit:

Park and recreation facilities for County Service Area No. 17, comprising the acquisition and improvement of approximately 27.5 acres of land for preservation of open space for park and recreation facilities for County Service Area No. 17.

Section 5. 1:45 o'clock p.m. on Tuesday, September 11, 1973, at the Chambers of the Board of Supervisors, Marin County Civic Center, San Rafael, California, be and the same are hereby fixed as the time and place for a hearing by the Board of Supervisors on the questions as to whether the whole of the Area or only a portion thereof will be benefited by the accomplishment of the aforesaid purpose for which said proposed debt is to be incurred, and if only a portion thereof will be so benefited, what portion will be so benefited. Said hearing may be adjourned from time to time. At said time and place, or at such time and place to which said hearing may be adjourned, any interested person, including any and all persons owning property in the Area, may appear and present any and all such matters material to said questions hereinabove stated as he may desire and he will be heard upon the questions herein stated. Upon the conclusion of said hearing hereinabove fixed, this Board of Supervisors shall by resolution determine whether the whole of the Area will be benefited by the accomplishment of the purpose hereinabove stated, and if it determines that the whole of the Area will not be so benefited by the accomplishment of said purpose, then it shall state what portion of the Area will be so benefited, describing the same in a manner sufficient for identification, and that portion of the Area so described shall thereupon constitute and be known as "Improvement Area No. 1 of County Service Area No. 17" and the proceedings thereafter for the purpose of the bond election and for the purpose of taxation for the payment of said bonds and interest shall be limited and apply only to said improvement area of the Area. The determination of this Board of Supervisors on said questions shall be final and conclusive.

Section 6. Notice of said hearing shall be given by the Clerk of this Board of Supervisors by causing a copy of this Resolution to be published for at least two weeks before the time fixed for said hearing in the INDEPENDENT JOURNAL, a newspaper of general circulation circulated within the Area. The copy of this resolution so published shall be accompanied by a notice subscribed by the Clerk of this Board of Supervisors to the effect that the hearing herein referred to will be had at the time and place specified herein and that at said time and place any person interested, including all persons owning property in the Area, will be heard upon the questions stated in this resolution.

AYES: SUPERVISORS Peter R. Arrigoni, Gary Giacomini, Bob Roumiguiere, Michael Wornum, Arnold M. Baptiste.

NOES: SUPERVISORS: None

ABSENT: SUPERVISORS: None

ARNOLD M BAPTISTE
Chairman of the Board of Supervisors

ATTEST:
/s/ GEO. H. GNOSS, Clerk

NOTICE IS HEREBY FURTHER GIVEN that the hearing on the questions stated in said Resolution will be had at the time and place specified therein, and may be adjourned to a different time and place, and that at such time and place to which said hearing may be adjourned, The Board of Supervisors of Marin County will proceed with said hearing, and any interested person, including any and all persons owning property within County Service Area No. 17 will be heard upon the questions stated in said Resolution and he may appear and present any and all matters material to the questions stated in said resolution as he may desire. Upon the conclusion of said hearing the Board of Supervisors of Marin County will determine whether the whole of County Service Area No. 17 will be benefited by the accomplishment of the purpose stated in said resolution, or whether only a portion of said County Service Area will be so benefited, and if so, what portion. In the latter event, the Board of Supervisors of Marin County will describe the portion of said County Service Area determined to be so benefited to be known as "Improvement Area No. 1 of County Serivce Area No. 17", and the proceedings thereafter for the purpose of the bond election and for the purpose of taxation for the payment of said bonds and interest shall be limited and apply only to said improvement area of County Service Area No. 17. The determination of the Board of Supervisors of Marin County upon said questions in said resolution will be final and conclusive.

Sears Is Silent In Shoplift Case

GLEN BURNIE, Md. (UPI) — Officials of Sears Roebuck Company refused to comment yesterday on reports that Elizabeth McAlister, a defendant in the Harrisburg, Pa., trial on charges involving antiwar activities had been arrested on shoplifting charges.

The former nun and wife of antiwar priest Phillip Berrigan was arrested with another woman, Judith Lafemina, also a former nun, on charges by a security guard at the Sears store in Glen Burnie, Md.

The type and amount of merchandise the women allegedly took was not disclosed. Mrs. Berrigan lives in Baltimore.

Plea Of Guilty Is Entered On Pot Growing

A Larkspur man has pleaded guilty to cultivating marijuana in what was called by police "an elaborate tinfoil greenhouse."

Stephen Michael Laden, 19, admitted the charge Friday and in exchange was promised a maximum of 60 days in jail, one year probation and a $302 fine.

The plea bargain was struck in the court of Superior Judge Charles Read Best.

Laden is to be sentenced Sept. 17.

A neighbor of Laden, Paul Winkelmann, 21, is set to go to trial this week on the cultivation charge.

The two were arrested after Larkspur police, who went to Winkelmann's house May 16 during a burglary investigation, spotted pot plants growing in his bedroom.

Winkelmann later implicated Laden in the pot-growing scheme, which reportedly produced 10 thriving plants growing in boxes surrounded by a foil-covered frame.

Mayoral Runoff Amendment Eyed

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Board of Supervisors yesterday voted to place on the ballot an amendment to the City Charter that will provide runoffs in future elections for mayor.

The supervisors voted 9-1 to place the measure on the Nov. 6 ballot.

If approved by the voters, the plan will provide for a runoff in December if no candidate for mayor wins a majority of the votes in the regular mayoral election.

Kennedy Crash Victim Remains About The Same

HYANNIS, Mass. (UPI) — Two weeks after an accident in which she was seriously injured, Pamela Kelley, 18, remains paralyzed from the waist down, a spokesman at the Cape Cod Hospital said yesterday.

A hospital spokesman said it was "still too early to tell" whether Miss Kelley will be able to regain use of her limbs. Intensive therapy is scheduled, but has not begun yet.

The girl was injured Aug. 13, when a jeep-type auto driven by Joseph P. Kennedy III crashed on Nantucket Island. Kennedy, 20, the son of the late Sen. Robert Kennedy, was convicted of negligent driving and his license revoked for 60 days.

Mayoral Runoff Amendment Eyed

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Board of Supervisors yesterday voted to place on the ballot an amendment to the City Charter that will provide runoffs in future elections for mayor.

The supervisors voted 9-1 to place the measure on the Nov. 6 ballot.

If approved by the voters, the plan will provide for a runoff in December if no candidate for mayor wins a majority of the votes in the regular mayoral election.

Campaign Spy Role Admitted

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Veteran foreign correspondent Seymour Freidin was paid by a political aide to President Nixon to spy on George S. McGovern's campaign for the presidency last year, columnists Jack Anderson and Les Whitten reported today.

Anderson and Whitten said Freidin, reached by telephone in Europe, confirmed to them that he was hired by Murray Chotiner. But, he said, "I never spied."

Freidin, a former executive foreign editor of the old New York Herald Tribune, was a free-lance reporter at the time. He now works as London bureau chief for Hearst newspapers. The columnists said Hearst editors had not been aware of his employment by Chotiner when they hired him.

Chotiner said he hired Freidin to serve as a "reporter" during "a portion of the Democratic primaries and a portion of the time after the McGovern nomination" but denied that he was a "spy."

He used the code name "Mr. Chapman" when reporting information he obtained from the McGovern camp, the nationally syndicated columnists said.

Freidin said he took no money initially but was later paid $1,000 per week and collected $10,000 or $11,000 during the time he worked for Chotiner, according to the report.

The columnists said Freidin was the "mystery man of the Watergate investigation" because Senate Watergate Committee investigators had been unable to determine his identity.

It was revealed earlier this month that Lucy Goldberg, a free-lance writer, traveled on the McGovern campaign plane and turned in reports on McGovern's activities to Chotiner. She said she was paid $1,000 a week.

According to Anderson and Whitten, Freidin said he intended to write a book about the McGovern campaign but admitted giving "my unvarnished views which (former Atty. Gen. John N.) Mitchell told Chotiner were junk."

Dead Boy's Parents Await Resurrection

BARSTOW, Calif. (UPI) — Wesley Parker, 11, who died after his fundamentalist parents withdrew his insulin when they decided diabetes was caused by devils, was buried yesterday with only a gravedigger and a mortician looking on.

His father still says he is certain Wesley will rise rom the dead to prove that he was cured by faith healing.

The San Bernardino County district attorney's office said officials were reviewing police reports on the boy's death but had not yet decided whether to bring criminal charges.

The dead boy's father, Lawrence Parker, an unemployed NASA tracking station technician, at first left orders that the body was not to be buried, in expectation of his son's resurrection.

According to Wes Dixon, a spokesman for the O'Connell Funeral Home, Parker asked yesterday that the body be buried in private at Mountain View Cemetery.

But Parker remained steadfast, he said, in his belief that Wesley will "arise in four days."

"I think God is letting it go this far so He can receive the most glory from this when Wesley comes back," Parker said.

Ten days ago, Parker and his family — his wife, Alice, 29, and three other children—went with Wesley to hear a faith healer at the Assembly of God Church. The healer pronounced Wesley "cured" by a "laying on of hands."

Although Wesley had been suffering from diabetes for five years, his parents threw out the supply of insulin doctors said was vital to him.

Wesley fell ill three days later and died Wednesday.

"I knew then that diabetes was caused by two devils, and that we could no longer give him insulin without inviting the demon back," Parker said.

Intelligence Loss Is Called Myth

NEW YORK (UPI) — Among myths about the aged is one holding that after the age of middle sixties one loses intelligence.

Research has shown there is no drop in intelligence provided the person is free of high blood pressure. Among those with a history of hypertension there is some falling off of brainpower. The high blood pressure may have damaged the blood pipelines.

This diminishes their oxygen-transporting capability.

Ways Sought To Add Vitamin A

RECIFE, Brazil (UPI) — Researchers in Recife, largest city in the sugar-growing regions of Brazil, are seeking ways to add vitamin A to the sweetener.

Dr. Nelson Chaves, head of the National Institute of Nutrition, said lack of vitamin A is one of the most important of the world's nutritional problems because it causes vision impairment and nervous disorders. As sugar forms part of the daily diet of most people, the research has tremendous potential, he said.

Inflation Is Worse Elsewhere

PARIS (UPI) — You think you have it rough?

Maybe so, but the Organization of Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD) reported yesterday that things could be worse.

OECD experts reported that in the year ending in June, the United States had just about the lowest rate of inflation in the non-Communist world.

The United States was second from the bottom on a list of 23 countries. Only Australia had a lower annual rate of inflation, but spokesmen said that was based on the year ending in May. Australia did not submit statistics for June.

There was bad news too. It said the United States registered an inflation jump from 5.5 per cent in May to 5.9 per cent in June. But 5.9 per cent was Australia's 5.7.

The group reports inflation on an annual basis, so the percentages apply to a whole year rather than a month.

The list was topped by Iceland, which showed a whopping 18.2 per cent inflation rate, and Greece, which posted 13.2 per cent in June.

Austria, Belgium, Luxembourg and Finland were among the industrialized non-Communist nations that lowered their annual inflation rates during June, the OECD report said.

OECD gave the following annual rates of inflation for June, compared with May (figures are annual percentage rates):

Country	June	May
Iceland	18.2	18.2
Greece	13.2	10
Ireland	11.7	11.7
Portugal	11.7	9.2
Turkey	11.3	11.3

Austria	7.2	8.1
Belgium	6.9	7.5

Cross-Country Monitoring Of Acutely Ill

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The first cross-country computerized monitoring of acutely ill patients has begun between Pacific Medical Center here and Mount Sinai Hospital in New York.

Via a private line, patients in the intensive care unit at Mt. Sinai are being monitored on a 24-hour basis by a computer-based system originated and developed at the San Francisco Medical Center.

The system reports 35 different measurements every 10 minutes or, on request, every 45 seconds, through eight different sensors leading from the patient.

Outreach Program Aimed At Elderly

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Jewish Association for Services for the Aged (JASA) has launched a three-year outreach program for isolated and incapacitated elderly in three Brooklyn, N.Y., areas.

Called SUSTAIN (Student Unit Service To the Aged in Neighborhoods), the program assigns college students and older volunteers to help the elderly apply for supportive social services. The older persons call the program "lifelines."

Archaeologists Find Dates 3,000 Years

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — University of Tennessee archaeologists have found what they call the earliest known evidence of plant cultivation by prehistoric inhabitants of the eastern United States.

The group, directed by Dr. Charles H. Faulkner and Dr. Major McCollough, found the charred residue of domesticated sunflower seeds on Watts Bar Lake in eastern Tennessee. They dated them about 3,000 years ago.

Campaign Spy Role Admitted

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Veteran foreign correspondent Seymour Freidin was paid by a political aide to President Nixon to spy on George S. McGovern's campaign for the presidency last year, columnists Jack Anderson and Les Whitten reported today.

Anderson and Whitten said Freidin, reached by telephone in Europe, confirmed to them that he was hired by Murray Chotiner. But, he said, "I never spied."

Freidin, a former executive foreign editor of the old New York Herald Tribune, was a free-lance reporter at the time. He now works as London bureau chief for Hearst newspapers. The columnists said Hearst editors had not been aware of his employment by Chotiner when they hired him.

Chotiner said he hired Freidin to serve as a "reporter" during "a portion of the Democratic primaries and a portion of the time after the McGovern nomination" but denied that he was a "spy."

He used the code name "Mr. Chapman" when reporting information he obtained from the McGovern camp, the nationally syndicated columnists said.

Freidin said he took no money initially but was later paid $1,000 per week and collected $10,000 or $11,000 during the time he worked for Chotiner, according to the report.

The columnists said Freidin was the "mystery man of the Watergate investigation" because Senate Watergate Committee investigators had been unable to determine his identity.

It was revealed earlier this month that Lucy Goldberg, a free-lance writer, traveled on the McGovern campaign plane and turned in reports on McGovern's activities to Chotiner. She said she was paid $1,000 a week.

According to Anderson and Whitten, Freidin said he intended to write a book about the McGovern campaign but admitted giving "my unvarnished views which (former Atty. Gen. John N.) Mitchell told Chotiner were junk."

Dead Boy's Parents Await Resurrection

BARSTOW, Calif. (UPI) — Wesley Parker, 11, who died after his fundamentalist parents withdrew his insulin when they decided diabetes was caused by devils, was buried yesterday with only a gravedigger and a mortician looking on.

His father still says he is certain Wesley will rise rom the dead to prove that he was cured by faith healing.

The San Bernardino County district attorney's office said officials were reviewing police reports on the boy's death but had not yet decided whether to bring criminal charges.

The dead boy's father, Lawrence Parker, an unemployed NASA tracking station technician, at first left orders that the body was not to be buried, in expectation of his son's resurrection.

According to Wes Dixon, a spokesman for the O'Connell Funeral Home, Parker asked yesterday that the body be buried in private at Mountain View Cemetery.

But Parker remained steadfast, he said, in his belief that Wesley will "arise in four days."

"I think God is letting it go this far so He can receive the most glory from this when Wesley comes back," Parker said.

Ten days ago, Parker and his family — his wife, Alice, 29, and three other children—went with Wesley to hear a faith healer at the Assembly of God Church. The healer pronounced Wesley "cured" by a "laying on of hands."

Novato Coach In Hospital As Grid Drills Begin

By LEW CODDINGTON

Fall football practice just started yesterday and most of the high schools aren't "hitting" yet, but one major injury already has been reported.

Novato High School head coach Al Scott currently is recuperating in Ross General Hospital from what he termed a "very successful" operation removing a ruptured disc from his back last Thursday.

"I'm climbin' the walls to get out," Scott said. He expects to be released Thursday, recuperate at home for about a week and take over the team as the end of the second week of practice.

Two assistants, the veteran Marlin Olsen and newly-appointed Rich Woodall, ran the team through its initial drills yesterday Six schools began practice yesterday, and Tamalpais and Marin Catholic were to start today.

Marin's first game of 1973 will be played Saturday, Sept. 8, with independent Marin Catholic hosting Galileo of San Francisco at 1 p.m.

The seven Marin County Athletic League schools will scrimmage various rivals that weekend and will begin play Sept. 14-15. School opens the week of Sept. 10.

This year's schedule has been expanded from nine games to 10. The season will end the weekend of Nov 16-17, with Marin Catholic having a bye during the season and the other schools filling their bye dates with the 10th game.

The MCAL champion will face the North Bay League titleholder in the second annual Top of the Bay Bowl late in November

Coaches say adding the 10th game will not influence roster size or training-camp organization. "All it means is that some players will get more playing time," said San Rafael's Bob Muster "I'd rather have the game than the bye — the kids need the experience," said Tamalpais coach Jess Racines.

Racines is one of two new head coaches in the league, the other being Dean Lazzarini at Drake.

A sure sign of the arrival of football season is the publication of magazines analyzing the teams and claiming to foretell who the year's heroes will be.

Three Marin players were selected as probable all-stars for the San Francisco-Oakland-North Coast area by the 1973 edition of California Football magazine.

Redwood's John Troppmann was picked at quarterback, Terra Linda's Bruce Bollen at defensive lineman and Drake's Rick Herbert in the defensive backfield. Petaluma defensive back John Alejos also was tabbed.

Novato's Woodall is one of several newly-appointed assistant coaches in the county. Morrie Shepherd was transferred within the district from Drake to Redwood, and will be the Giants' head junior varsity coach, while art teacher Len Fitzgerald will assist him.

Drake added Mike Miller (an all-league Pirate defensive back in 1964) as head freshman coach, and shuffled its other assignments. Former head man Bob Franceschini is line coach under his pupil, Lazzarini, while Dick Creighton is defensive coordinator. Carl (Red) Brown and Dan Orr take over the J.V.s and Gerry Kobil assists Miller.

Terra Linda has shuffled assignments to eliminate overlapping duties among varisty, J.V. and freshmen, leaving Dick Schultze and Don Rodrigo with head coach Don Lucas on the varsity; Hank Yamagata and Jerry Leith with the J.V.s and Dan Losee and Barry Amsden with the frosh.

Empty Creel In Oregon

Ah, it's back to the old desk after three weeks of fishing, swimming, traveling and some good old fashioned loafing.

We call it a vacation and the British refer to it as "going on holiday." Whether you call it vacation or holiday, it's something my prematurely tired body needs every so often. Put a fly rod in my hand and point me toward a stream and believe me, I'll leave my worries on my doorstep.

After four years of getting away to Montana and Idaho for some August fly fishing, I was able to change direction this time and got a chance to see Oregon.

THERE WERE THREE of us — two junior college teachers and myself. Dick Cristofani, a long-time friend who teaches and coaches track and field at Cosumnes College near Sacramento, and Kent Rustin, mechanics teacher there, and I hitched up Kent's trailer to the back of his station wagon and headed north for a 10-day fishing trip.

Our first stop was at the North Umpqua River at Steamboat, about 50 miles east of Roseburg. It was a beautiful stretch, reserved for fly fishing only, and is noted primarily as one of the country's best steelhead streams. But since our equipment didn't include steelhead fly rods, we went after the rainbow and brown trout which call the North Umpqua their home.

We stopped off at the Steamboat Inn, run by Frank Moore, a member of the Oregon Fish and Game Commission and expert of the waters of the Umpqua, and picked up some local knowledge and bought a few flies.

I HAD PURCHASED a pair of stocking foot waders before leaving and I hurriedly got into them, put my rod together, tied on a fly and stepped into the cold water. Before I took three steps I realized that my left leg was cold and heavy. Looking down, I saw that the left leg of my waders was stretched out like a balloon. I got out of the water and quickly saw the reason for my discomfort. There was a two inch slit in the seam of the waders, just above the knee. What a start!

The few fish we caught in the Umpqua were small, the biggest just barely over 12 inches. But we did see a couple of large steelhead caught. And the river had its share of salmon heading for nearby creeks to spawn. While I was fishing at the end of a deep hole, one particularly brash salmon — it must have weighed 20 pounds — kept rolling and jumping right in front of me. On one of his jumps he landed squarely on top of my fly line which was stretched across the water. That was too much for me. I quit that hole and moved on.

WE LEFT THE NORTH Umpqua after two days of fishing. We didn't do too well but I would like to try for steelhead next time I'm around those parts.

We moved up to Oregon City, near Portland, where we had scheduled a meeting with one of Kent's friends who owned a 22-foot boat, ideal for salmon fishing. So we had a chance to try our luck at the mouth of the huge Columbia River on the weekend. On Saturday I caught a little 7½-pound salmon, Cristofani landed a nice 26-pounder, and Kent could only come up with a slight case of sea sickness. Sunday the fog made it impossible to get out of the harbor where we were berthed, at

Phillie Atones For Mistakes

Giants Fall On Homer By Schmidt

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Mike Schmidt is learning the hard way, by making mistakes in major league games in the heat of a close pennant race.

Sometimes Mike's hits, especially home runs, overcome his mistakes. Like last night, when he slammed a three-run homer in a 7-4 victory for the Philadelphia Phillies over the San Francisco Giants.

The 23-year-old Schmidt has good power as indicated by his 15 home runs, but he had lacked consistency at the bat and has been indecisive in the field.

He has been playing the last four days because Cesar Tovar is sidelined with a pulled muscle near his rib cage.

Schmidt is the first to admit he makes mental errors in the field, but he claims he is "thinking like hell. I want them to hit the ball to me. I'm thinking positive. I don't make the same mistake twice."

Last night, for example, the Phillies led 7-3 in the ninth inning. San Francisco had the bases loaded and one out with tough-hitting Gary Matthews at bat.

Matthews hit a sizzler to third baseman Schmidt. The obvious play was to tag third base, and then throw either home or to first base for the double play. Schmidt didn't make sure of the tag at third, missing the bag. He got the hitter, but a run scored and the Giants still had two on with two outs and Tito Fuentes representing the tying run at the plate. Reliever Mac Scarce got Fuentes to end the game, but Schmidt could easily have been a goat.

"He's just aggressive, overanxious, a little youthful," explained Phillies' manager Danny Ozark, who believes the rookie third-bagger someday will be a superstar in the National League.

"He wanted to end the game and made a mistake," Ozark said. "Let him give me 100 per cent of his ability and the rest will eventually take care of itself."

Schmidt was 0-for-17 when he

Boston Slugger Pleased With Pitches He's Getting

Cepeda Homers Off Fast Ball To Defeat A's

OAKLAND (UPI)—For 16 years major league clubs have been pitching Orlando Cepeda fastballs inside and for 16 years the veteran slugger has been pounding the ball.

Last night, the Oakland A's pitched Cepeda inside and he single-handedly beat them for the Boston Red Sox 5-2, driving in three runs with a single, double and his 19th homer.

"It's okay with me," Cepeda said. "They can pitch me that way all the time. It doesn't bother me but I remember last year when the A's let me go what Mr. (Charlie) Finley told me."

In that conversation the A's owner told Cepeda "don't kill yourself, Orlando. You're too old to play."

As Cepeda recalled that conversation last night, he laughed.

'Well, I'm still here," he said.

Cepeda was released by the A's last Nov. 17 two weeks before the American League voted in the designated hitter rule, a rule Finley had first proposed to his fellow owners the year before.

Several clubs immediately got into the bidding for Cepeda's service but once the Red Sox put in their pitch, Cepeda signed for an estimated $65,000.

The victim of Cepeda's hitting was John Odom, who suffered his 10th loss in 14 decisions, while the beneficiary was Roger Moret, a skinny Puerto Rican left-hander who now has a 9-0 record with seven of the victories coming since the Red Sox made him a starter at the end of July.

"I once won 14 games in a row in the Puerto Rican League," Moret said. "Baseball is baseball It makes no difference where you pitch You still have to throw strikes. I don't think about winning or streaks. If I did I would be too nervous to pitch well."

Moret spaced six hits and the only damaging blow he gave up was a solo homer to Deron Johnson. The other A's' run scored as a result of a single, two walks and a sacrifice fly.

The victory was the Red Sox' eighth in the last nine games but unfortunately for them front-running Baltimore now has won 14 in a row to stay five games ahead in the American League East.

The loss was only the second in the last 15 games for the A's, whose lead in the AL West is still a comfortable 4 ½ games.

The Red Sox and A's meet again tonight with Dick Pole pitching for Boston against Jim Hunter.

A'S TO ACCEPT TICKET REQUESTS

OAKLAND (UPI) — The Oakland A's announced last night they are accepting orders by mail for tickets to the American League championship playoffs.

Should the A's win the American League West title, the third, fourth and fifth games of the playoffs will be played in Oakland on Oct. 8, 9 and 10. All the Oakland games will start at 12:30 p.m. PDT.

The A's said they will accept orders for tickets on a single-game basis or on a strip basis for all three games. There will be no restriction on the number of tickets that may be purchased.

Ticket prices are set at $7, $5, $3 and $2.

The A's said fans should address orders to: Oakland A's Playoffs, P.O. Box 2044, Oakland, Calif. All orders should be accompanied with an extra dollar to cover mailing charges.

Lee Blasts Cronin Over The Spitball

OAKLAND (UPI) — Boston pitcher Bill Lee admitted yesterday he has thrown grease balls and said if American League President Joe Cronin is going to start issuing fines for such pitches, he should fine everyone who throws them.

Lee's comments came after Cronin fined Texas pitcher Jim Merritt yesterday for admitting he had thrown a "Gaylord Perry fastball," or a spittergrease ball.

"That is absolutely ridiculous" said Lee, a Terra Linda High School graduate. "So tell Joe Cronin this: I threw a spitter in Detroit a while back. It was to Tony Taylor. Of course, he hit it into the upper deck, but if Cronin's going to act like an idiot and fine Merritt, he'd better fine everyone who throws it."

Lee said he keeps a tube of K-Y petroleum jelly "in my locker So do a lot of other pitchers around the league who throw it a lot more than I do.

Meanwhile, Merritt, who admitted throwing the illegal pitch after shutting out Texas Sunday 9-0, was also miffed.

"Hell if K-Y jelly went off the market the whole California Angels pitching staff would be out of baseball Either that, or in Pittsfield They haven't gotten fined "

Meanwhile, Merritt, who admitted throwing the illegal pitch after shutting out Texas Sunday, 9-0, was also miffed.

"Next time I go out there, I'm going to do the same thing," Merritt said. But he added, "I just won't say anything, that's all."

Merritt had no comment on the fine but he seemed to be enjoying all the furor his statement had caused.

Cronin, who refused to announce the amount of the fine, said it was a "nominal" one.

OWNERS ADD 2 TEAMS

NHL Realigns Into 4 Divisions

NEW YORK UPI)—The National Hockey League owners announced yesterday that the league will be realigning into four divisions and adding two new teams. Now it remains to be seen how the National Hockey League players feel about the new program.

Starting with the 1974-75 season, the NHL will be composed of four divisions, two of four teams and two of five, and will play an 80-game schedule—one more home and away game for each team. But the NHL Players Association maintained that an increase in the number of games per season had to be agreed upon by the players before the plan could take effect

"They can't increase the size to 80 until the players agree on it," said Alan Eagleson, attorney for the players. "They will have to give us pro rata increases on contracts for the extra games.

"However, we don't expect too much trouble from the owners over this," said Eagleson.

NHL President Clarence Campbell more or less agreed 'I don't see why any contracts that cover that season 1974-75 on can't be renegotiated for a 2 ½ per cent increase for the extra games," said Campbell.

Eagleson was in favor of the new alignment, which places at least one of the six original clubs—Boston, Chicago, Detroit, Montreal, New York and Toronto—into each of the four divisions and also places West Coast and East Coast teams in the same divisions.

"It will be simpler for the clubs to make long trips," said Eagleson "There will be fewer trips for clubs outside their own

By LEW CODDINGTON

Fall football practice just started yesterday and most of the high schools aren't "hitting" yet, but one major injury already has been reported.

Novato High School head coach Al Scott currently is recuperating in Ross General Hospital from what he termed a "very successful" operation removing a ruptured disc from his back last Thursday.

"I'm climbin' the walls to get out," Scott said. He expects to be released Thursday, recuperate at home for about a week and take over the team as the end of the second week of practice.

Two assistants, the veteran Marlin Olsen and newly-appointed Rich Woodall, ran the team through its initial drills yesterday Six schools began practice yesterday, and Tamalpais and Marin Catholic were to start today.

Marin's first game of 1973 will be played Saturday, Sept. 8, with independent Marin Catholic hosting Galileo of San Francisco at 1 p.m.

The seven Marin County Athletic League schools will scrimmage various rivals that weekend and will begin play Sept. 14-15. School opens the week of Sept. 10.

This year's schedule has been expanded from nine games to 10. The season will end the weekend of Nov 16-17, with Marin Catholic having a bye during the season and the other schools filling their bye dates with the 10th game.

The MCAL champion will face the North Bay League titleholder in the second annual Top of the Bay Bowl late in November

Coaches say adding the 10th game will not influence roster size or training-camp organization. "All it means is that some players will get more playing time," said San Rafael's Bob Muster "I'd rather have the game than the bye — the kids need the experience," said Tamalpais coach Jess Racines.

Racines is one of two new head coaches in the league, the other being Dean Lazzarini at Drake.

A sure sign of the arrival of football season is the publication of magazines analyzing the teams and claiming to foretell who the year's heroes will be.

Three Marin players were selected as probable all-stars for the San Francisco-Oakland-North Coast area by the 1973 edition of California Football magazine.

Redwood's John Troppmann was picked at quarterback, Terra Linda's Bruce Bollen at defensive lineman and Drake's Rick Herbert in the defensive backfield. Petaluma defensive back John Alejos also was tabbed.

Novato's Woodall is one of several newly-appointed assistant coaches in the county. Morrie Shepherd was transferred within the district from Drake to Redwood, and will be the Giants' head junior varsity coach, while art teacher Len Fitzgerald will assist him.

Drake added Mike Miller (an all-league Pirate defensive back in 1964) as head freshman coach, and shuffled its other assignments. Former head man Bob Franceschini is line coach under his pupil, Lazzarini, while Dick Creighton is defensive coordinator. Carl (Red) Brown and Dan Orr take over the J.V.s and Gerry Kobil assists Miller.

Terra Linda has shuffled assignments to eliminate overlapping duties among varisty, J.V. and freshmen, leaving Dick Schultze and Don Rodrigo with head coach Don Lucas on the varsity; Hank Yamagata and Jerry Leith with the J.V.s and Dan Losee and Barry Amsden with the frosh.

"That is absolutely ridiculous" said Lee, a Terra Linda High School graduate. "So tell Joe Cronin this: I threw a spitter in Detroit a while back. It was to Tony Taylor. Of course, he hit it into the upper deck, but if Cronin's going to act like an idiot and fine Merritt, he'd better fine everyone who throws it."

Lee said he keeps a tube of K-Y petroleum jelly "in my locker So do a lot of other pitchers around the league who throw it a lot more than I do.

Meanwhile, Merritt, who admitted throwing the illegal pitch after shutting out Texas Sunday 9-0, was also miffed.

"Hell if K-Y jelly went off the market the whole California Angels pitching staff would be out of baseball Either that, or in Pittsfield They haven't gotten fined "

Meanwhile, Merritt, who admitted throwing the illegal pitch after shutting out Texas Sunday, 9-0, was also miffed.

"Next time I go out there, I'm going to do the same thing," Merritt said. But he added, "I just won't say anything, that's all."

Merritt had no comment on the fine but he seemed to be enjoying all the furor his statement had caused.

Cronin, who refused to announce the amount of the fine, said it was a "nominal" one.

NHL Realigns Into 4 Divisions

NEW YORK UPI)—The National Hockey League owners announced yesterday that the league will be realigning into four divisions and adding two new teams. Now it remains to be seen how the National Hockey League players feel about the new program.

Starting with the 1974-75 season, the NHL will be composed of four divisions, two of four teams and two of five, and will play an 80-game schedule—one more home and away game for each team. But the NHL Players Association maintained that an increase in the number of games per season had to be agreed upon by the players before the plan could take effect

"They can't increase the size to 80 until the players agree on it," said Alan Eagleson, attorney for the players. "They will have to give us pro rata increases on contracts for the extra games.

"However, we don't expect too much trouble from the owners over this," said Eagleson.

NHL President Clarence Campbell more or less agreed "I don't see why any contracts that cover that season 1974-75 can't be renegotiated for a 2 ½ per cent increase for the extra games," said Campbell.

Eagleson was in favor of the new alignment, which places at least one of the six original clubs—Boston, Chicago, Detroit, Montreal, New York and Toronto—into each of the four divisions and also places West Coast and East Coast teams in the same divisions.

"It will be simpler for the clubs to make long trips," said Eagleson "There will be fewer trips for clubs outside their own

Tuero Misses Net Pact Signing After A Threat

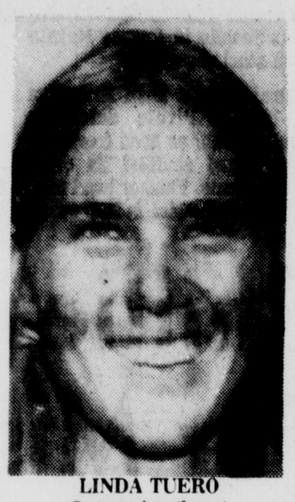
MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — The champagne was flowing and a cake decorated with "Welcome Linda" sat prominently displayed for all to see, but there was no Linda.

The refreshments were to be the backdrop for a news conference yesterday celebrating the signing of Linda Tuero to a World Team Tennis League contract with the Minnesota Buckskins.

Miss Tuero, captain of the U.S. Federation Cup Tennis team, faced a possible suspension from this week's U.S. Lawn Tennis Association (USLTA) Open at Forest Hills, N.Y. and according to Buckskins co-owner Lee Meade, she was "scared stiff of the authority of the USLTA."

Eugene Scott, Miss Tuero's agent and also a member of the USLTA's executive committee, said USLTA President Walter Elcock threatened Miss Tuero with the possible suspension during award ceremonies at Sunday's conclusion of the Wightman Cup matches in Brookline, Mass.

Scott said the direct approach of Elcock apparently shook Miss Tuero.



LINDA TUERO
Suspension threat

The 22-year-old from Metairie, La., who is seventh ranked among U.S. women won two matches in the Wightman Cup play which saw the U.S. best Britain. She was the Buckskins' No. 1 draft choice.

Miss Tuero is the only tennis pro to have announced her signing with the WTT since veterans John Newcombe and Billie Jean King announced their signings with the WTT at the time of the draft. They have not been threatened with suspensions so far.

Meade said he believed the league threatened Miss Tuero because it could more easily intimidate "a young kid."

Miss Tuero's situation was the subject of a scheduled meeting in New York Monday, but no aggreement was reached, partially because the International Lawn Tennis Federation (ILTF) has first jurisdiction over her case.

Mike Burns, executive secretary of the USLTA, said that Miss Tuero could be declared ineligible by the ILTF under a rule which forbids players to enter into a contract or participate in events which prevent the player from taking part in one or more of the ILTF official championships or in Davis cup competition.

Players signing WTT contracts would probably have to miss some of the tour events because of the 44-game WTT schedule which would extend from May through July.

division under the new setup, so there will be fewer coast-to-coast trips for the players."

Division I will include Atlanta, the New York Islanders, the New York Rangers, Philadelphia and, starting in the 1976-77 season, one of the new expansion teams, while Division II has Detroit, Los Angeles, Montreal, Pittsburgh and Washington (D.C.)—one of the new entrants for the 1974-75 season.

Division III includes Chicago, Kansas City—the other 1974-75 entrant—Minnesota, St. Louis and Vancouver, and Division IV includes Boston, Buffalo, California, Toronto and the other 1976-77 expansion team.

The new setup will feature 12 teams eligible for post-season competition, but the matchups will be determined solely by the points scored during the regular season.

The four divisional champions will draw a bye for the first round, while the other eight qualifiers will meet in best two-of-three based on their season point total — fifth highest meeting 12th highest, etc. All series after the first round will be best four-of-seven.

One of the two new clubs to enter the league for the 1976-77 season will likely be a city now in the Western Hockey League —Denver, Phoenix, Portland, Salt Lake City, San Diego and Seattle—and "it is conceivable that two WHL cities would be added," said Campbell. "Indianapolis is the only other city so far to apply."

North New Saints' Coach

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

J.D. Roberts' vote of confidence from owner John Mecom didn't even carry him into the 1973 season.

Roberts, who wethered a storm of controversy after last season and was rehired as coach of the New Orleans Saints, was fired late last night two days after his winless club suffered its fourth straight preseason loss, 31-6 to the New England Patriots.

John North, the Saints' offensive coordinator, will replace Roberts, who won only seven games in 2 ½ years as head coach of the Saints. Mecom, the young owner who fired Roberts, the second coach in the Saints' six-year history, will hold a news conference today to explain his decision.

Roberts took over from Tom Fears during the 1970 season and in his first game led New Orleans club to a stunning 19-17 upset of Detroit on Tom Dempsey's record 63-yard field goal.

Last year, revolution broke out when tight end Dave Parks and reserve quarterback Edd Hargett openly criticized Roberts' coaching and demanded to be traded. The Saints finished 2-11-1 last season, beating only San Francisco and Philadelphia, and Roberts was expected to be fired at the season's end.

But Mecom instead traded Parks and Hargett and handed Roberts a new contract. Roberts had two years remaining on his contract. North, his replacement, was receiver coach at Detroit for eight seasons before joining the Saints' staff.

In news from the camps, yesterday was cutdown date, with clubs required to reduce rosters to 49 players, with College All Stars excluded.

Washington dropped three players, including rookie quarterback Charlie Richards, and reacquired Bill Malinchak, a wide receiver who excels on special teams, from San Diego. Malinchak had two blocked punts for Washington in the first three games last season before being claimed on waivers by San Diego.

New Orleans cut six players, including veteran receivers Drew Buie and Gary Arthur, and Cincinnati announced five rookie cuts. Guard Allan Graf of Southern California, a member of the College All-Stars, was one of 11 players waived by Los Angeles.

The Cardinals announced that rookie running back Ken Garrett has a broken foot and will be out six to eight weeks and veteran safety Bob Atkins will be lost to Houston for three weeks with a knee injury.

Veteran Tom Nowatzke, who came out of retirement to try for a linebacking job with Chicago, announced his retirement.

Clubs were required to reduce to the 47 players Monday but most will make their announcements today after players have cleared waivers.

Amateur Groups Knock Sports Bill

CHICAGO (UPI) — Representatives of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, the Big Ten and the nation's high school were on record again today in opposition to the Senate's proposed "omnibus" bill which they contended would give the federal jurisdiction over all U.S. amateur sports.

"The bill would be a disaster insofar as the colleges, high schools and junior colleges are concerned," Dick Koenig, secretary treasurer of the NCAA, said.

"There are so many things in the omnibus bill it would be ruinous to our athletic programs," Cliff Fagan, executive director of the National Federation of High Schools, said.

"If the federal government is going to control sports where we're losing money, you'll find quite a few colleges who would not be interested in carrying on these sports," Mark Plant of the Big Ten said.

All spoke at a news conference called to put before the public the opposition of amateur sports groups to the bill, which would establish a government commission to take charge of all amateur sports in which U.S. teams compete internationally. Other speakers were Walter Haas of the University of Chicago and Big Ten Commissioner Wayne Duke.

Koenig reiterated the NCAA position that a federal commission, which should be operative for a specified period of time, should grant charters for supervision of various sports internationally, with no more than one franchise per organization.

The commission also, he said, should eliminate the "quota" system on coaches and competitors, study the U.S. Olympic Committee and recommend improvements, and complete a "bill of rights" for athletes.

The omnibus bill, he said, "definitely tries to take control of the sports we have as well as those we don't have. It would be a multi-headed monster."

"I know of no amateur sports organizations in the United States that supports the omnibus bill," Fagan said, "and this should raise some questions as to adoption of this legislation."

Koenig pointed out the bill did not provide for government financing of any sports and added that NCAA colleges showed a loss of $23.3 million on sports last year with deficits of $8.7 in track, $3.1 in wrestling, and $8.1 in basketball.

"Only 95 of our 690 NCAA schools made money on basketball last year," he said.

Plant said the colleges had no opportunity to present objections to the bill at Senate Commerce Committee hearings, and "the least they ought to do is recall the bill for public hearings."

All said they hoped for public support to contact congressmen and senators to express opposition to the bill.

"We are not echoing any party line," Duke said, "but showing our grass roots concern."

Lightweight Seeley Decisions Santiago

Judges Art Lurie and Ralph Mosa had the fourth-ranked light heavyweight contender the winner by 47-45 each. Judge Buss Massa voted for Bethea 46-45.

Red Hill Shell Wins On Homer Barrage

Dave Schwartz and Dave Fenzz belted home runs last night as Red Hill Shell shelled the Carpetbaggers, 15-1, in a San Rafael Recreation Department adult softball league game at Albert Field.

In other games, Mike Cicero homered to help King Realty to a 6-5 victory over Mainline Nine, and Rich Quinn threw a three-hitter as Ball Fours topped Jolly Roger, 5-2.

We had heard quite a bit about the Deschutes River out of Bend so decided to give that a try since we still needed a few Oregon trout to take home. Our cupboards were bare.

We must have caught 100 fish but all had to be returned to the stream since they were so tiny. We couldn't get a single keeper-size fish to take a fly. One day of this was enough for us. We headed back to California since we had only one day of fishing left.

"I didn't know I was 0-for-17," Schmidt said. "I did know I was 0-for-awhile. But I have been swinging the bat good, just not getting any hits. Then he hung that slider, or some kind of change up and I saw it good."

He saw it good enough to deposit it in the left field seats to make it 5-0. The three runs eventually became the margin of victory. It was the ninth time this season Schmidt's runs batted in were the difference in a game. Eight times those runs were produced with homers.

While Schmidt had a game of mixed emotions, righthander Jim Lonberg pitched eight strong innings on a hot muggy night in which breathing was a chore. He felt tired, legs got heavy after the eighth and Ozark took him out.

San Francisco picked up a run in the second on Dave Kingman's 13th homer. The Phillies, however, added a pair in the sixth on Bill Robinson's 22nd home run, Schmidt's double and a run-scoring single by Craig Robinson. Willie Montanez and Greg Luzinski extended consecutive game hitting streaks, Montanez through 10 and Luzinski 11, as the Phillies snapped a three-game losing streak.

Li'l League Team To Be Investigated

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (UPI) —The Little League World Series championship seemed to come too easy for the Tainan City Giants of Taiwan and now an investigation has been started to check on the players' ages.

League President Peter J. McGovern said yesterday the investigation was triggered when a Little League district administrator and the board of directors disclosed after Saturday's championship game that the team might be over age.

All Little League players must not be over 12 years old.

In winning the 27th world title, the Nationalist Chinese team amassed a record of 57 runs while holding their opposition hitless and scoreless in three games.

The age controversy came to light earlier Saturday when fans and opponents charged the players with being too old, but team officials quickly denied that.

"Not so," said Sen. K.C. Hsieh, administrator of Little League baseball in Taiwan. "Our boys are all under the rules of Little League."

McGovern said he has appointed a committee that has access to the proper information in the Far East region and in Taiwan.

He said committee members might be sent there to check Tainan City records. Details on the committee's findings will not be released until Oct. 26.

Tainan City and seven other teams that competed in the week-long tournament visited the White House and did some sightseeing in Washington yesterday.

"It was unwise and foolish, whether he was doing it or not. But these days you never know what some players will do or say," Cronin said.

This is the second time this season a player has been fined for making a statement about the spitball.

Bobby Murcer of the New York Yankees was fined $250 by Commissioner Bowie Kuhn for saying that the baseball officials were "gutless" for not stopping Cleveland's Gaylord Perry from throwing the spitter. Perry is the best known alleged spitballer in the majors these days. Merritt referred to his spitball as a "Gaylord Perry fastball."

"The whole thing has been bent out of shape," Merritt said. "The sinker ball I've been working on looks a lot like a spitter. I think pitchers have a psychological advantage when batters think you might be throwing what they think is a spitter."

came to bat in the first inning with two runners on and the Phillies already ahead 2-0. His last hit was Aug. 15 in San Francisco, his last homer against Los Angeles Aug. 10.

"I didn't know I was 0-for-17," Schmidt said. "I did know I was 0-for-awhile. But I have been swinging the bat good, just not getting any hits. Then he hung that slider, or some kind of change up and I saw it good."

He saw it good enough to deposit it in the left field seats to make it 5-0. The three runs eventually became the margin of victory. It was the ninth time this season Schmidt's runs batted in were the difference in a game. Eight times those runs were produced with homers.

While Schmidt had a game of mixed emotions, righthander Jim Lonberg pitched eight strong innings on a hot muggy night in which breathing was a chore. He felt tired, legs got heavy after the eighth and Ozark took him out.

San Francisco picked up a run in the second on Dave Kingman's 13th homer. The Phillies, however, added a pair in the sixth on Bill Robinson's 22nd home run, Schmidt's double and a run-scoring single by Craig Robinson. Willie Montanez and Greg Luzinski extended consecutive game hitting streaks, Montanez through 10 and Luzinski 11, as the Phillies snapped a three-game losing streak.

Red Hill Shell Wins On Homer Barrage

Dave Schwartz and Dave Fenzz belted home runs last night as Red Hill Shell shelled the Carpetbaggers, 15-1, in a San Rafael Recreation Department adult softball league game at Albert Field.

In other games, Mike Cicero homered to help King Realty to a 6-5 victory over Mainline Nine, and Rich Quinn threw a three-hitter as Ball Fours topped Jolly Roger, 5-2.

North New Saints' Coach

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

J.D. Roberts' vote of confidence from owner John Mecom didn't even carry him into the 1973 season.

Roberts, who wethered a storm of controversy after last season and was rehired as coach of the New Orleans Saints, was fired late last night two days after his winless club suffered its fourth straight preseason loss, 31-6 to the New England Patriots.

John North, the Saints' offensive coordinator, will replace Roberts, who won only seven games in 2 ½ years as head coach of the Saints. Mecom, the young owner who fired Roberts, the second coach in the Saints' six-year history, will hold a news conference today to explain his decision.

Roberts took over from Tom Fears during the 1970 season and in his first game led New Orleans club to a stunning 19-17 upset of Detroit on Tom Dempsey's record 63-yard field goal.

Last year, revolution broke out when tight end Dave Parks and reserve quarterback Edd Hargett openly criticized Roberts' coaching and demanded to be traded. The Saints finished 2-11-1 last season, beating only San Francisco and Philadelphia, and Roberts was expected to be fired at the season's end.

But Mecom instead traded Parks and Hargett and handed Roberts a new contract. Roberts had two years remaining on his contract. North, his replacement, was receiver coach at Detroit for eight seasons before joining the Saints' staff.

In news from the camps, yesterday was cutdown date, with clubs required to reduce rosters to 49 players, with College All Stars excluded.

Washington dropped three players, including rookie quarterback Charlie Richards, and reacquired Bill Malinchak, a wide receiver who excels on special teams, from San Diego. Malinchak had two blocked punts for Washington in the first three games last season before being claimed on waivers by San Diego.

New Orleans cut six players, including veteran receivers Drew Buie and Gary Arthur, and Cincinnati announced five rookie cuts. Guard Allan Graf of Southern California, a member of the College All-Stars, was one of 11 players waived by Los Angeles.

The Cardinals announced that rookie running back Ken Garrett has a broken foot and will be out six to eight weeks and veteran safety Bob Atkins will be lost to Houston for three weeks with a knee injury.

Veteran Tom Nowatzke, who came out of retirement to try for a linebacking job with Chicago, announced his retirement.

Clubs were required to reduce to the 47 players Monday but most will make their announcements today after players have cleared waivers.

Amateur Groups Knock Sports Bill

CHICAGO (UPI) — Representatives of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, the Big Ten and the nation's high school were on record again today in opposition to the Senate's proposed "omnibus" bill which they contended would give the federal jurisdiction over all U.S. amateur sports.

"The bill would be a disaster insofar as the colleges, high schools and junior colleges are concerned," Dick Koenig, secretary treasurer of the NCAA, said.

"There are so many things in the omnibus bill it would be ruinous to our athletic programs," Cliff Fagan, executive director of the National Federation of High Schools, said.

"If the federal government is going to control sports where we're losing money, you'll find quite a few colleges who would not be interested in carrying on these sports," Mark Plant of the Big Ten said.

All spoke at a news conference called to put before the public the opposition of amateur sports groups to the bill, which would establish a government commission to take charge of all amateur sports in which U.S. teams compete internationally. Other speakers were Walter Haas of the University of Chicago and Big Ten Commissioner Wayne Duke.

Koenig reiterated the NCAA position that a federal commission, which should be operative for a specified period of time, should grant charters for supervision of various sports internationally, with no more than one franchise per organization.

The commission also, he said, should eliminate the "quota" system on coaches and competitors, study the U.S. Olympic Committee and recommend improvements, and complete a "bill of rights" for athletes.

The omnibus bill, he said, "definitely tries to take control of the sports we have as well as those we don't have. It would be a multi-headed monster."

"I know of no amateur sports organizations in the United States that supports the omnibus bill," Fagan said, "and this should raise some questions as to adoption of this legislation."

Koenig pointed out the bill did not provide for government financing of any sports and added that NCAA colleges showed a loss of $23.3 million on sports last year with deficits of $8.7 in track, $3.1 in wrestling, and $8.1 in basketball.

"Only 95 of our 690 NCAA schools made money on basketball last year," he said.

Plant said the colleges had no opportunity to present objections to the bill at Senate Commerce Committee hearings, and "the least they ought to do is recall the bill for public hearings."

All said they hoped for public support to contact congressmen and senators to express opposition to the bill.

"We are not echoing any party line," Duke said, "but showing our grass roots concern."

Lightweight Seeley Decisions Santiago

Judges Art Lurie and Ralph Mosa had the fourth-ranked light heavyweight contender the winner by 47-45 each. Judge Buss Massa voted for Bethea 46-45.

The Dove Season Opening Saturday

Saturday, the dove season will open. The first part of the split season runs from Saturday through Sept. 30. The second part goes Nov. 24 to Dec. 9. The bag limit on doves is 10 per day, 20 in possession after the first day.

The band tailed piegon season runs from Dec. 15 through Jan. 13, 1974, except in the counties of Del Norte, Siskiyou, Modoc, Lassen, Shasta, Humboldt, Mendocino, Trinity, Tehema, Butte, Glenn, Plumas and Sierra, where the season opens Sept. 29 through Oct. 28. The daily bag and possession limit on pigeons is eight birds total. Shooting hours for doves anc' pigeons will be from one-half hour before sunrise to sunset.

With early season cold spells already setting in in the northern counties, the best shooting will be in the central California valleys and in southern California. Probably, as it was last year, the birds in Modoc and Lassen will be heading south. Temperatures as low as 28 degrees have been already logged in the Truckee areas. Even Marin County has had its share of fog and cold winds. I doubt that many limits will be taken here, though around Novato, at times 20 to 30 limits are checked opening day.

I ATTENDED a meeting of Fish and Game personnel which struck a happy chord in my body. The meeting was organized by the Fish and Game wildlife management people from the staff of the Fish and Game offices in Sacramento. They have been traveling throughout the state having meetings with all of the regional personnel. The meetings are for finding ways for improving the deer herds. The game management supervisors just listened to the wardens, regional game managers and even the fish management people. Everyone had a chance to speak at the meeting. This seemed to me to be a great step in the right direction. I heard some excellent suggestions. The Sacramento staff seemed intent on listening and learning, then pool the thoughts and suggestions into a solid program for the betterment of the deer statewide.

I felt it was a sincere and good approach taking all conceivable ideas into consideration. It was certainly one of the best meetings I ever attended. Much of the conversations were centered on range and enviornment improvements.

MARTY MEDIN of the Fire House gang in Woodacre got his buck this week — it was a big fork with eye guards. I hunted all day with him, and he finally jumped this buck at 8:15 p.m. We got it skinned out and home by 11 p.m. I think he got it in the thickest brush patch in West Marin — what a packout, but that's half the fun of buck hunting. I believe it was the same buck I missed a few days earlier.

LOCAL STRIPED BASS fishing has been good generally for most anglers. The Loch Lomond Lord of the Sea Derby has been showing a steady improvement in the sizes of the fish registered. Bob Armitage still leads with his 26-pound, two-ounce fish; Ed Gherman of Cloverdale is second at 25 pounds, eight ounces; Frank Sue of Corte Madera is third at 24 pounds, six ounces; Larry Mah of San Rafael has fourth and seventh places with a 23-pound, five-ounce and a 21 pound, three-ounce fish; Larry Bruce of San Rafael has fifth place with a 21-pound, six-ouncer; Jack Rosedear has sixth place with a 21-pound, four-ounce fish; Mas Ito has eighth with an 18-pound, seven-ouncer; and Eugene Tom has ninth and 10th places with a 17-pound, seven-ouncer and a 17-pound, one-ounce fish. The derby ends Sept. 9th.

SUNDAY, even with the gusty winds, some of the drift fishermen still connected. Grant Howe and Eugene Tom came in with six, total weight 93 pounds. Rex Morgan and two friends nailed seven Saturday trolling at Red Rock channel using two-pound weights and a spreader with a pet spoon and a jet-tailed jig.

Outside "The Gate", salmon fishing has been slow. Nicky Locki of Loch Lomond came in skunked which is most unusual for him, last Saturday.

Fred Miller of San Rafael took Hal Silbering of San Francisco out to California City hoping the salmon were there. Not so! But they did hook a halibut which by sworn statements weighed over 60 pounds. No gaff aboard, and it wouldn't fit in the landing net! It's still in the waters off California City.

Keith Fraser of the Loch Lomond Bait Barge says he sold 85 dozen shiners Saturday so by Sunday morning he was out. No one else seems to have shiners, so he can't keep pace with the orders.

Wiggin Lauds Better 49er Pass Rush

SANTA BARBARA (AP) — San Francisco 49ers defensive line coach Paul Wiggin thinks the 49ers pass rush has improved — and it was the best in the National Football League last year.

"Our harassment wasn't as good as it should have been last year," Wiggin said yesterday, "and now we've improved it quite a bit."

The 49ers send their defensive ends looping in from the outside while the tackles fight double team blocking in the middle to obscure the quarterback's vision, Wiggin said.

San Francisco got to the quarterback 46 times that way last year to lead the National Football League in quarterback sacks.

Defensive end Cedrick Hardman, only partly recovered from knee surgery last year, has helped the 49er front four increase pressure on the passer.

"Hardman makes a big difference," Wiggin said. "He just wasn't ready last year. Now he's better than ever before."

"I lost at least two of my leg-muscle groups with the long layoff," Hardman said, "Now they're developing again. I get a little leg pain as they grow, but I'm glad to have it."

The 49ers cut five players yesterday to reach the 49-man roster limit. However, the players' names were not released. By the final cut Sept. 10, all teams will be down to 40 active players and seven others on the taxi squad.

A Person Acquired By Raiders

SANTA ROSA (UPI) — The Oakland Raiders yesterday cut eight players and picked up tight end Ara Person on waivers from the St. Louis Cardinals.

Placed on waivers were former San Francisco 49er running back Jim Strong, tackle Glen Ray Hines, a former New Orleans Saint and Houston Oiler; running back Jerry List of Nebraska, tackle Brent Myers of Purdue, wide receiver Art Strozier, defensive back Bob Prout of Knox College, tackle Gene Ferguson, a former Oiler, and free agent guard O.Z. White of California.

The Raiders now have 51 players on their roster including two players from the College All Star game.

Person was the No. 4 draft choice of the Baltimore Colts in 1970. He had played tight end at Morgan State on the same team with Raymond Chester, the tight end whom the Raiders traded to Baltimore for defensive end Bubba Smith.

Person will be working behind regular tight end Bob Moore and Kent Gaydos, the No. 2 man from Florida State. Person also has played with New England and Pittsburgh.

Nervous Expos' Pitcher Shines

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Steve Rogers, the Montreal Expos' rookie pitching sensation, capitalized on his own nervousness last night.

Rogers pitched his third shutout of the season on a three-hitter and batterymate Bob Stinson drove in three runs as the Expos blanked the Los Angeles Dodgers 4-0 in a nationally-televised game.

Rogers won his fifth game in eight decisions since being called up from Peninsula of the International League on July 15. He has figured in four of the five shutouts turned in by Montreal pitchers this season.

"In 31 years, I've never seen a guy more keyed up for a game and nervous as he was," said Expos' Manager Gene Mauch. "Rogers made the game work for him."

Rogers, primarily a sinkerball pitcher, had the Dodgers hitting the ball on the ground all night.

"It really worked for me," Rogers said. "The guys backing me up in the field made the victory a lot easier for me."

Joe Ferguson, with two singles and Willie Davis, with one, were the only hits Rogers allowed the National League's Western Division leaders.

Stinson led off the second inning with a homer and in the eighth inning, he hit a two-run double off reliever Doug Rau after Ron Fairly and pinchhitter Bob Bailey both walked.

Montreal, in a pennant race for the first time in the club's five year existence, remained 4 ½ games behind the St. Louis Cardinals in the National League East. The Dodgers' lead over the idle Cincinnati Reds fell to 3 ½ games.

St. Louis defeated Houston 6-3 in 14 innings, New York edged San Diego 6-5 and Philadelphia downed San Francisco 7-4 in the only other National League games scheduled.

Utilityman Ken Reitz hit a bases-loaded, two-run single with two out in the 14th inning to give St. Louis its victory over the Astros. The Cardinals loaded the bases on walks to Tommie Agee, pinch-hitter Ken Heintzelman and Mike Kelleher. Agee tried to steal home but Reitz fouled off the ball and Agee had to retreat. Two pitches later, Reitz hit a two-run single.

Rusty Staub hit his second grand slam homer of the season to lead George Stone and the Mets over San Diego. Staub's 400-foot shot, the fifth slam of his career, was his first homer since July 18 and gave him 11 for the season.

It came in the fifth inning after New York had loaded the bases on a catcher's interference call, the first for a Met in club history, a walk and a bunt single by Felix Millan.

Swap Does Not Hurt Baltimore

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

It certainly didn't hurt the Baltimore Orioles when they traded away the leading home run hitter in the majors.

But Bobby Grich, the guy who replaced Johnson at second base this season, and catcher Earl Williams, the key figure in the Johnson deal, both homered last Monday night as the Orioles downed Texas 6-1 for their 14th consecutive victory.

It's the longest winning streak in the majors since 1965 in one season although the Orioles won their last 11 in 1970 and their first three in 1971 for a two-year 14-game winning streak. San Francisco did it in 1965 and the New York Yankees won 15 straight in 1960.

It was only the 11th homer for Grich compared to Johnson's 36 but the Braves are plodding along in fifth place in the National League West. The Orioles lead the American League East by five games.

"There was some pressure on me in the beginning but I have confidence in myself and actually I'm rooting for Dave Johnson," Grich said. "He's a good friend of mine and I hope he breaks the homer record for second basemen. (42 by Rogers Hornsby). In fact, I hope he hits 50 home runs. He was great to me here even though we were competing for the same job."

Grich has a shot at setting the Baltimore fielding record for second baseman. He's made only three errors all year and the record is five set by Jerry Adair.

Grich hit his homer in the third inning after Mark Belanger doubled. Williams, who singled in a fourth inning run, hit a three-run homer in the sixth inning, his 17th.

Mike Cuellar scattered 10 hits to boost his record to 13-12. He's now won nine of his last 10 decisions.

In the other games, Chicago downed Milwaukee 6-1, Minnesota downed Detroit 5-3 and Boston topped Oakland 5-2.

Taiwan Banned From Swim Meet

BELGRADE (UPI) — The Yugoslav Foreign Ministry has barred competitors from Taiwan from competing in the World Swimming Championships, which start here on Sept. 1, Hasim Husovic, president of the organizing committee said today.

Husovic told a news conference: "Despite the efforts of our committee to secure entry for a seven-strong team from Taiwan, our duty for all countries belonging to the International Swimming Federation—the foreign ministry did not issue the necessary visas."

No reasons for the ban were given but Yugoslavia does not recognize the Taiwan Government.

St. Francis V In Yacht Races Lead

Combined AP & UPI

BERKELEY — The American defender St. Francis V held a 2-0 lead today in the American-Australian Challenger Cup Series over challenger Pacemaker.

The St. Francis V, skippered by Tom Blackaller, yesterday beat the Royal Prince Alfred Yacht Club sloop by one minute and two seconds over a 12.5 mile course on San Francisco Bay.

The third race in the series is slated for tomorrow.

Football

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. — Veteran defensive back Lee Calland of the Chicago Bears was arrested yesterday on charges of possessing a dangerous weapon and attempted second degree assault.

According to police sources, Calland allegedly threatened to kill Norman Young, an investment manager indicted on charges of embezzling thousands of dollars from his clients, which included many professional athletes.

Baseball

SAN FRANCISCO — Joe Morgan, scrappy second baseman of the Cincinnati Reds, today was named the National League's Player of the Week for the period Aug. 20-26 by league president Charles S. Feeney.

During the week the Cincinnati infielder batted .333 with 10 hits in 30 at-bats, including his 20th home run of the season, adding to his own all-time club record for second basemen.

Golf

Crampton remainded the leader on the list with Jack Nicklaus, Tom Weiskopf, Lee Trevino, and Johnny Miller retaining their positions as second, third, fifth and sixth respectively.

Basketball

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — The Louisville Courier-Journal reported today it has learned that Adolph Rupp, former University of Kentucky basketball coach and most recently president of the American Basketball Association Memphis Tams, was named vice chairman of the Kentucky Colonels board of directors.

The Colonels' front office here would only announce a news conference is scheduled in Cincinnati, Ohio, today, but would not say what was to be discussed.

Rupp would be working with Ellie Brown, new woman owner of the Colonels, and an all-women board.

Tennis

LAS VEGAS, Nev. — Oddsmaker Jimmy "The Greek" Snyder has made Bobby Riggs a 5-2 favorite over Billie Jean King in their $100,000, best three-of-five sets tennis match in the Houston Astrodome Sept. 20.

Snyder also said Riggs, 55, is a 3-2 choice to beat the 29-year-old Mrs. King in any one set of their upcoming "Battle of the Sexes."

FISH AND GAME

The Dove Season Opening Saturday

Saturday, the dove season will open. The first part of the split season runs from Saturday through Sept. 30. The second part goes Nov. 24 to Dec. 9. The bag limit on doves is 10 per day, 20 in possession after the first day.

The band tailed piegon season runs from Dec. 15 through Jan. 13, 1974, except in the counties of Del Norte, Siskiyou, Modoc, Lassen, Shasta, Humboldt, Mendocino, Trinity, Tehema, Butte, Glenn, Plumas and Sierra, where the season opens Sept. 29 through Oct. 28. The daily bag and possession limit on pigeons is eight birds total. Shooting hours for doves and pigeons will be from one-half hour before sunrise to sunset.

With early season cold spells already setting in in the northern counties, the best shooting will be in the central California valleys and in southern California. Probably, as it was last year, the birds in Modoc and Lassen will be heading south. Temperatures as low as 28 degrees have been already logged in the Truckee areas. Even Marin County has had its share of fog and cold winds. I doubt that many limits will be taken here, though around Novato, at times 20 to 30 limits are checked opening day.

I ATTENDED a meeting of Fish and Game personnel which struck a happy chord in my body. The meeting was organized by the Fish and Game wildlife management people from the staff of the Fish and Game offices in Sacramento. They have been traveling throughout the state having meetings with all of the regional personnel. The meetings are for finding ways for improving the deer herds. The game management supervisors just listened to the wardens, regional game managers and even the fish management people. Everyone had a chance to speak at the meeting. This seemed to me to be a great step in the right direction. I heard some excellent suggestions. The Sacramento staff seemed intent on listening and learning, then pool the thoughts and suggestions into a solid program for the betterment of the deer statewide.

I felt it was a sincere and good approach taking all conceivable ideas into consideration. It was certainly one of the best meetings I ever attended. Much of the conversations were centered on range and enviornment improvements.

MARTY MEDIN of the Fire House gang in Woodacre got his buck this week — it was a big fork with eye guards. I hunted all day with him, and he finally jumped this buck at 8:15 p.m. We got it skinned out and home by 11 p.m. I think he got it in the thickest brush patch in West Marin — what a packout, but that's half the fun of buck hunting. I believe it was the same buck I missed a few days earlier.

LOCAL STRIPED BASS fishing has been good generally for most anglers. The Loch Lomond Lord of the Sea Derby has been showing a steady improvement in the sizes of the fish registered. Bob Armitage still leads with his 26-pound, two-ounce fish; Ed Gherman of Cloverdale is second at 25 pounds, eight ounces; Frank Sue of Corte Madera is third at 24 pounds, six ounces; Larry Mah of San Rafael has fourth and seventh places with a 23-pound, five-ounce and a 21 pound, three-ounce fish; Larry Bruce of San Rafael has fifth place with a 21-pound, six-ouncer; Jack Rosedear has sixth place with a 21-pound, four-ounce fish; Mas Ito has eighth with an 18-pound, seven-ouncer; and Eugene Tom has ninth and 10th places with a 17-pound, seven-ouncer and a 17-pound, one-ounce fish. The derby ends Sept. 9th.

SUNDAY, even with the gusty winds, some of the drift fishermen still connected. Grant Howe and Eugene Tom came in with six, total weight 93 pounds. Rex Morgan and two friends nailed seven Saturday trolling at Red Rock channel using two-pound weights and a spreader with a pet spoon and a jet-tailed jig.

Outside "The Gate", salmon fishing has been slow. Nicky Locki of Loch Lomond came in skunked which is most unusual for him, last Saturday.

Fred Miller of San Rafael took Hal Silbering of San Francisco out to California City hoping the salmon were there. Not so! But they did hook a halibut which by sworn statements weighed over 60 pounds. No gaff aboard, and it wouldn't fit in the landing net! It's still in the waters off California City.

Keith Fraser of the Loch Lomond Bait Barge says he sold 85 dozen shiners Saturday so by Sunday morning he was out. No one else seems to have shiners, so he can't keep pace with the orders.

Wiggin Lauds Better 49er Pass Rush

SANTA BARBARA (AP) — San Francisco 49ers defensive line coach Paul Wiggin thinks the 49ers pass rush has improved — and it was the best in the National Football League last year.

"Our harassment wasn't as good as it should have been last year," Wiggin said yesterday, "and now we've improved it quite a bit."

The 49ers send their defensive ends looping in from the outside while the tackles fight double team blocking in the middle to obscure the quarterback's vision, Wiggin said.

San Francisco got to the quarterback 46 times that way last year to lead the National Football League in quarterback sacks.

Defensive end Cedrick Hardman, only partly recovered from knee surgery last year, has helped the 49er front four increase pressure on the passer.

"Hardman makes a big difference," Wiggin said. "He just wasn't ready last year. Now he's better than ever before."

"I lost at least two of my leg-muscle groups with the long layoff," Hardman said, "Now they're developing again. I get a little leg pain as they grow, but I'm glad to have it."

The 49ers cut five players yesterday to reach the 49-man roster limit. However, the players' names were not released. By the final cut Sept. 10, all teams will be down to 40 active players and seven others on the taxi squad.

A Person Acquired By Raiders

SANTA ROSA (UPI) — The Oakland Raiders yesterday cut eight players and picked up tight end Ara Person on waivers from the St. Louis Cardinals.

Placed on waivers were former San Francisco 49er running back Jim Strong, tackle Glen Ray Hines, a former New Orleans Saint and Houston Oiler; running back Jerry List of Nebraska, tackle Brent Myers of Purdue, wide receiver Art Strozier, defensive back Bob Prout of Knox College, tackle Gene Ferguson, a former Oiler, and free agent guard O.Z. White of California.

The Raiders now have 51 players on their roster including two players from the College All Star game.

Person was the No. 4 draft choice of the Baltimore Colts in 1970. He had played tight end at Morgan State on the same team with Raymond Chester, the tight end whom the Raiders traded to Baltimore for defensive end Bubba Smith.

Person will be working behind regular tight end Bob Moore and Kent Gaydos, the No. 2 man from Florida State. Person also has played with New England and Pittsburgh.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Nervous Expos' Pitcher Shines

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Steve Rogers, the Montreal Expos' rookie pitching sensation, capitalized on his own nervousness last night.

Rogers pitched his third shutout of the season on a three-hitter and batterymate Bob Stinson drove in three runs as the Expos blanked the Los Angeles Dodgers 4-0 in a nationally-televised game.

Rogers won his fifth game in eight decisions since being called up from Peninsula of the International League on July 15. He has figured in four of the five shutouts turned in by Montreal pitchers this season.

"In 31 years, I've never seen a guy more keyed up for a game and nervous as he was," said Expos' Manager Gene Mauch. "Rogers made the game work for him."

Rogers, primarily a sinkerball pitcher, had the Dodgers hitting the ball on the ground all night.

"It really worked for me," Rogers said. "The guys backing me up in the field made the victory a lot easier for me."

Joe Ferguson, with two singles and Willie Davis, with one, were the only hits Rogers allowed the National League's Western Division leaders.

Stinson led off the second inning with a homer and in the eighth inning, he hit a two-run double off reliever Doug Rau after Ron Fairly and pinchhitter Bob Bailey both walked.

Montreal, in a pennant race for the first time in the club's five year existence, remained 4 ½ games behind the St. Louis Cardinals in the National League East. The Dodgers' lead over the idle Cincinnati Reds fell to 3 ½ games.

St. Louis defeated Houston 6-3 in 14 innings, New York edged San Diego 6-5 and Philadelphia downed San Francisco 7-4 in the only other National League games scheduled.

Utilityman Ken Reitz hit a bases-loaded, two-run single with two out in the 14th inning to give St. Louis its victory over the Astros. The Cardinals loaded the bases on walks to Tommie Agee, pinch-hitter Ken Heintzelman and Mike Kelleher. Agee tried to steal home but Reitz fouled off the ball and Agee had to retreat. Two pitches later, Reitz hit a two-run single.

Rusty Staub hit his second grand slam homer of the season to lead George Stone and the Mets over San Diego. Staub's 400-foot shot, the fifth slam of his career, was his first homer since July 18 and gave him 11 for the season.

It came in the fifth inning after New York had loaded the bases on a catcher's interference call, the first for a Met in club history, a walk and a bunt single by Felix Millan.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Swap Does Not Hurt Baltimore

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

It certainly didn't hurt the Baltimore Orioles when they traded away the leading home run hitter in the majors.

Dave Johnson, traded by the Orioles to Atlanta in the off-season, is leading the majors with 36 homers.

But Bobby Grich, the guy who replaced Johnson at second base this season, and catcher Earl Williams, the key figure in the Johnson deal, both homered last Monday night as the Orioles downed Texas 6-1 for their 14th consecutive victory.

It's the longest winning streak in the majors since 1965 in one season although the Orioles won their last 11 in 1970 and their first three in 1971 for a two-year 14-game winning streak. San Francisco did it in 1965 and the New York Yankees won 15 straight in 1960.

It was only the 11th homer for Grich compared to Johnson's 36 but the Braves are plodding along in fifth place in the National League West. The Orioles lead the American League East by five games.

"There was some pressure on me in the beginning but I have confidence in myself and actually I'm rooting for Dave Johnson," Grich said. "He's a good friend of mine and I hope he breaks the homer record for second basemen. (42 by Rogers Hornsby). In fact, I hope he hits 50 home runs. He was great to me here even though we were competing for the same job."

Grich has a shot at setting the Baltimore fielding record for second baseman. He's made only three errors all year and the record is five set by Jerry Adair.

Grich hit his homer in the third inning after Mark Belanger doubled. Williams, who singled in a fourth inning run, hit a three-run homer in the sixth inning, his 17th.

Mike Cuellar scattered 10 hits to boost his record to 13-12. He's now won nine of his last 10 decisions.

In the other games, Chicago downed Milwaukee 6-1, Minnesota downed Detroit 5-3 and Boston topped Oakland 5-2.

Taiwan Banned From Swim Meet

BELGRADE (UPI) — The Yugoslav Foreign Ministry has barred competitors from Taiwan from competing in the World Swimming Championships, which start here on Sept. 1, Hasim Husovic, president of the organizing committee said today.

Husovic told a news conference: "Despite the efforts of our committee to secure entry for a seven-strong team from Taiwan, our duty for all countries belonging to the International Swimming Federation—the foreign ministry did not issue the necessary visas."

No reasons for the ban were given but Yugoslavia does not recognize the Taiwan Government.

St. Francis V In Yacht Races Lead

Combined AP & UPI

BERKELEY — The American defender St. Francis V held a 2-0 lead today in the American-Australian Challenger Cup Series over challenger Pacemaker.

The St. Francis V, skippered by Tom Blackaller, yesterday beat the Royal Prince Alfred Yacht Club sloop by one minute and two seconds over a 12.5 mile course on San Francisco Bay.

The third race in the series is slated for tomorrow.

Football

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. — Veteran defensive back Lee Calland of the Chicago Bears was arrested yesterday on charges of possessing a dangerous weapon and attempted second degree assault.

According to police sources, Calland allegedly threatened to kill Norman Young, an investment manager indicted on charges of embezzling thousands of dollars from his clients, which included many professional athletes.

Baseball

SAN FRANCISCO — Joe Morgan, scrappy second baseman of the Cincinnati Reds, today was named the National League's Player of the Week for the period Aug. 20-26 by league president Charles S. Feeney.

During the week the Cincinnati infielder batted .333 with 10 hits in 30 at-bats, including his 20th home run of the season, adding to his own all-time club record for second basemen.

Golf

Crampton remainded the leader on the list with Jack Nicklaus, Tom Weiskopf, Lee Trevino, and Johnny Miller retaining their positions as second, third, fifth and sixth respectively.

Basketball

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — The Louisville Courier-Journal reported today it has learned that Adolph Rupp, former University of Kentucky basketball coach and most recently president of the American Basketball Association Memphis Tams, was named vice chairman of the Kentucky Colonels board of directors.

The Colonels' front office here would only announce a news conference is scheduled in Cincinnati, Ohio, today, but would not say what was to be discussed.

Rupp would be working with Ellie Brown, new woman owner of the Colonels, and an all-women board.

Tennis

LAS VEGAS, Nev. — Oddsmaker Jimmy "The Greek" Snyder has made Bobby Riggs a 5-2 favorite over Billie Jean King in their $100,000, best three-of-five sets tennis match in the Houston Astrodome Sept. 20.

Snyder also said Riggs, 55, is a 3-2 choice to beat the 29-year-old Mrs. King in any one set of their upcoming "Battle of the Sexes."

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Hold Advised For Blue Bell

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Blue Bell, Inc. (NYSE) has dropped from over $50 to $15 in the last year and a half. It is my understanding that the shortage of denim material is the problem. What would be your recommendation now on whether this should be held or not? — J.T.

A. Numerous factors, including a shortage of denim, are involved in Blue Bell's sharp price decline in the stock market. Sales have continued to expand rapidly in the current fiscal year and were up 19 per cent in the nine months through June. Earnings, however, have not displayed the same bounce, remaining relatively flat on a year-to-year basis. For the nine months, per-share results were $1.81 in 1973 versus $1.74 in 1972, a 4 per cent gain. Increased costs for leather and textiles, higher short-term interest rates on borrowings to finance inventory and larger advertising outlays combined with a rise in the rate at which Blue Bell is accruing taxes this year have cut into the company's take down. The net effect was to reduce profit margins from 4.3 per cent to 3.8 per cent in the first nine months of fiscal 1973.

Blue Bell has expanded its product line to include men's dress slacks, a move that has favorable long-term implications. On a short-term basis, though, this diversification has cut into profits as start-up costs, promotional and product development expenses have been heavy. The division should be adding satisfactorily to earnings by next year. European operations have experienced reduced demand for garments made of corduroy (although not for the scarce denim product lines) which has caused inventory buildup and price cutting. A new fading process for corduroy which produces an appearance after washing similar to that of denim, is expected to make corduroy jeans more acceptable to younger consumers.

Although market support will probably be lacking for some time, these shares trading at only six times projected earnings have intrinsic value which is being ignored. The recent special dividend raises the current yield to a generous 4.8 per cent. Hold for gradual recovery.

Jump Predicted For Distributors

NEW YORK (UPI) — An electronics company official says sales of the electronics distributor industry are expected to reach $2 billion a year by 1977, compared with $1.3 billion at present.

B. Duke Glenn, Jr., president of Arrow Electronics, Inc., said that in addition to its growth the industry is undergoing a fundamental structural change with many marginal, undercapitalized companies leaving the field or being acquired.

He said the larger distributors are gaining an increasing share of the market and by 1977 the 10 largest may account for more than half the industry's volume, compared with about 38 per cent at present.

More Insurance

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Increase in population and family formations will bring life insurance in force in the United States to $2 trillion by 1978, according to Marvin N Demchick, president of Life of Pennsylvania Financial Corp.

Prices Move Irregularly Higher In Light Trading

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prices moved irregularly higher today in light trading on the New York Stock Exchange. Buying remained cautious against a background of increasing interest rates.

A lack of investor confidence has put a damper on volume recently, keeping the gains of the last few sessions modest, analysts said. The rise to a 9 ¾ per cent prime lending rate spread nationwide today, leading to renewed concern the high cost of doing business would squeeze corporate profits.

The Commerce Department reported its index of leading economic indicators had risen 1.1 per cent in July, a smaller increase than the average 1.5 per cent gained the first three months this year.

Chrysler fell at one point. The company, this year's target for a possible strike by the United Auto Workers, made an offer calling for a 3 per cent annual wage increase for auto workers. Leonard Woodcock, president of the UAW, promptly rejected the offer, calling it "not only disappointing, it's a mockery." He added a strike now is far more likely in light of Chrysler's offer.

Johns-Manville was ahead during the day. The company announced it had found large deposits of platinum group metals in lands it owns in Sweetgrass County, Montana.

Hewlett-Packard also moved higher. A company spokesman said the introduction of a digital multimeter the size of a hand may have generated some interest in its stock.

The stock of Westvaco benefitted from sharply higher third quarter earnings. The company reported $1.03 a share earnings, compared with 35 cents the same period last year.

Gray Drug Stores slid during the session.

Rydax Posts Revenue Gain

Rydax Inc. of San Rafael announced a 55 per cent increase in revenues for the six-month period ended June 30, 1973. However, net income dropped from $31,080 during the first six months of last year to $24,764 this year.

C. A. Rypinski, president of Rydax, said the drop in earnings is due to high expenses incurred through continuing expansion and new product development.

Rydax Inc. designs and manufactures digital communications systems which add automation and remote control functions to voice communications.

Investment High On Water Supply

BERKELEY (UPI) — California's Department of Public Health, explaining why it is difficult to get funds to improve water supplies, said water systems must have a capital investment of $8 for each $1 of annual revenue.

In contrast, the department says, to make the same $1 an electrical system needs a capital investment of $5 and a natural gas system needs only $1.

Catalog Showroom Firm Aims For Branch In Northgate Mall

Consumers Distributing Co., a catalog showroom store affiliated with May Department Stores, will open a branch at Northgate Shopping Mall Unit One in Terra Linda in November.

Consumers Distributing, headquartered in Hayward, will occupy a 10,000-square-foot structure to be added at Northgate One, next to Crocker Bank.

The Northgate branch will be one of 28 catalog showroom stores to be opened this year in Northern California by Consumers Distributing. The company will sell small appliances, dinnerware, cookware, luggage, jewelry, stereos, cameras and other household items.

The company is an equally-owned joint venture of the May Department Stores Company and the largest catalog showroom chain in Canada, Consumers Distributing Company Ltd. of Toronto.

District manager for the new Marin store and 14 others from San Francisco to Sacramento is Gerald G. Scott of Lafayette. He was formerly merchandise manager for the Target Stores Inc. in Minneapolis, Minn.; merchandise manager with J.C. Penney in New York; and store supervisor with Firestone Tire & Rubber Co.

RICHARD SMITH of Carmel was named president and manager for the 23rd office of Northern California Savings and Loan Association to be opened in Novato in about a month.

Firmin A. Gryp, president of the Palo Alto-based company, said the Novato office will be located in the Downtown Novato Shopping Center at Seventh Street and Grant Avenue. The new office will be built next to Long's Drugs, with the opening date tentatively set for late September.

Smith joined Northern California Savings' Salinas branch in 1970 and was elevated to assistant manager of the Carmel operation in July, 1972. He and his family plan to move to Novato as soon as possible.

The Novato branch is the first to be opened in a northward expansion by the company, although approval has been received for a facility in the Corte Madera area.

Smith Chiesa

DONALD A CHIESA of Novato has been named vice president, commercial loans, for Crocker Bank's Bay Area Region administration, San Francisco.

A 22-year veteran with Crocker Bank, Chiesa was vice president, commercial loans, in the bank's accounts receivable financing department.

He was promoted to assistant vice president in the bank's San Francisco installment credit department in 1964 and became assistant vice president and assistant manager of the Stockton office the following year. Chiesa returned to San Francisco in 1968 as assistant vice president and manager of the 20th Avenue and Geary office and served there until his appointments to the accounts receivable financing department in 1971.

CITIZENS BUILDING, a million-dollar structure just completed at 950 Northgate Drive in Terra Linda, is now fully occupied.

The 26,000-square-foot building is owned by Century Properties Fund 72-2, a limited partnership that owns additional apartments and mobile home parks throughout California. These investments are periodically offered to the general public and allow the individual investor to own a portion of a portfolio of income-producing property. Century Properties is administered by Fox & Carskadon Financial Corporation, a subsidiary of Fox & Carskadon Inc.

The financial corporation, headed by Lisle W. Payne, has just opened another investment called Century Properties Preferred-Equity Fund 73. It has a total funding capacity of $20 million, yet allows individuals to invest as little as $2,500.

CLARENCE E. SCOTT of Terra Linda, farm lines technical supervisor for Fireman's Fund American Insurance Companies, was promoted to assistant secretary-farm.

Scott joined Fireman's Fund in 1962 as an auto insurance underwriter in the Dallas branch. In 1965 he became casualty underwriter, and three years later was promoted to personal lines supervising underwriter in Oklahoma City. Scott came to the San Francisco home office last January as farm lines technical supervisor.

HOEFER, DIETERICH & Brown Inc. of San Francisco, headed by John H. Hoefer of Belvedere, has been selected to handle the advertising for National BankAmericard Inc., the nationwide corporation that administers and markets the BankAmericard credit card system throughout the United States.

Agram L. Tootelian, vice president for growth and development of National BankAmericard Inc., said that planning for a new national campaign will begin Sept. 1. NBI's 1973-74 advertising budget is not yet final, but last year, the company spent about $4 million on print and broadcast media.

TITLE INSURANCE and Trust Company of San Rafael announced several changes in its staff.

William W. Bagby, manager of the company's Red Bluff office for 20 years, took over as county manager in TI's main office in San Rafael at 1200 Lincoln Avenue. He succeeds George Piazza, who transferred to TI's Lassen County office in Susanville as county manager.

Donald L. Loegering was appointed TI's branch manager in Novato, at 1400 Grant Avenue. Loegering was branch manager of the Southern Marin office since April, 1973. Carol J. Ivory of Mill Valley succeeded Loegering as branch manager of the Southern Marin office.

NOVATO CUSTOMERS of Western California Telephone Co. are now benefitting from a new microfilm installation which provides faster service through the use of microfilm billing records instead of the old rotary filing system, Novato Division Manager Gordon L. Lee announced.

The new microfilm system lets customer representatives get nearly instant billing information to answer customer questions, Lee explained. The company is now spending $100,000 on additional equipment for its Novato switching center at 911 Diablo Avenue.

DICK NOTTINGHAM of Santa Rosa has been appointed branch manager of Amfac Electrical Supply branch in San Rafael.

Nottingham has been with Amfac for the last eight years. Before that he worked for another electrical wholesaler in San Francisco and Santa Rosa for about 15 years.

Earnings Are Up For Farmers Group

LOS ANGELES — Farmers Group, Inc. earned $5,904,600, or 68 cents per share for the second quarter of 1973, compared to $5,202,300 or 61 cents per share for the second quarter of 1972, Thomas E. Leavey, chairman of the board, announced.

Earnings for the first six months of 1973 were $11,536,900, or $1.33 per share, compared to $10,209,300, or $1.19 per share for the same period last year.

Dividend Paid To Marin Builders

The State Compensation Insurance Fund paid a dividend of $623,519 to the Safety Council of Builders Exchanges, which includes the Marin Builders Exchange. Members of the Marin Builders Exchange will get about 30 per cent of the dividends, or about $187,000.

Juan Ferrer of San Rafael is outgoing president of the Safety Council, which is made up of 10 California Builders Exchanges and members contractors. Construction Administration and Insurance of San Rafael, headed by E. Douglas Roberts, is administrator of the group.

"Increased safety activity and low losses made possible the biggest dividend we've ever received," said Roberts.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Hold Advised For Blue Bell

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Blue Bell, Inc. (NYSE) has dropped from over $50 to $15 in the last year and a half. It is my understanding that the shortage of denim material is the problem. What would be your recommendation now on whether this should be held or not? — J.T.

A. Numerous factors, including a shortage of denim, are involved in Blue Bell's sharp price decline in the stock market. Sales have continued to expand rapidly in the current fiscal year and were up 19 per cent in the nine months through June. Earnings, however, have not displayed the same bounce, remaining relatively flat on a year-to-year basis. For the nine months, per-share results were $1.81 in 1973 versus $1.74 in 1972, a 4 per cent gain. Increased costs for leather and textiles, higher short-term interest rates on borrowings to finance inventory and larger advertising outlays combined with a rise in the rate at which Blue Bell is accruing taxes this year have cut into the company's take down. The net effect was to reduce profit margins from 4.3 per cent to 3.8 per cent in the first nine months of fiscal 1973.

Blue Bell has expanded its product line to include men's dress slacks, a move that has favorable long-term implications. On a short-term basis, though, this diversification has cut into profits as start-up costs, promotional and product development expenses have been heavy. The division should be adding satisfactorily to earnings by next year. European operations have experienced reduced demand for garments made of corduroy (although not for the scarce denim product lines) which has caused inventory buildup and price cutting. A new fading process for corduroy which produces an appearance after washing similar to that of denim, is expected to make corduroy jeans more acceptable to younger consumers.

Although market support will probably be lacking for some time, these shares trading at only six times projected earnings have intrinsic value which is being ignored. The recent special dividend raises the current yield to a generous 4.8 per cent. Hold for gradual recovery.

Jump Predicted For Distributors

NEW YORK (UPI) — An electronics company official says sales of the electronics distributor industry are expected to reach $2 billion a year by 1977, compared with $1.3 billion at present.

B. Duke Glenn, Jr., president of Arrow Electronics, Inc., said that in addition to its growth the industry is undergoing a fundamental structural change with many marginal, undercapitalized companies leaving the field or being acquired.

He said the larger distributors are gaining an increasing share of the market and by 1977 the 10 largest may account for more than half the industry's volume, compared with about 38 per cent at present.

More Insurance

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Increase in population and family formations will bring life insurance in force in the United States to $2 trillion by 1978, according to Marvin N. Demchick, president of Life of Pennsylvania Financial Corp.

Prices Move Irregularly Higher In Light Trading

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prices moved irregularly higher today in light trading on the New York Stock Exchange. Buying remained cautious against a background of increasing interest rates.

A lack of investor confidence has put a damper on volume recently, keeping the gains of the last few sessions modest, analysts said. The rise to a 9 ¾ per cent prime lending rate spread nationwide today, leading to renewed concern the high cost of doing business would squeeze corporate profits.

The Commerce Department reported its index of leading economic indicators had risen 1.1 per cent in July, a smaller increase than the average 1.5 per cent gained the first three months this year.

Chrysler fell at one point. The company, this year's target for a possible strike by the United Auto Workers, made an offer calling for a 3 per cent annual wage increase for auto workers. Leonard Woodcock, president of the UAW, promptly rejected the offer, calling it "not only disappointing, it's a mockery." He added a strike now is far more likely in light of Chrysler's offer.

Johns-Manville was ahead during the day. The company announced it had found large deposits of platinum group metals in lands it owns in Sweetgrass County, Montana.

Hewlett-Packard also moved higher. A company spokesman said the introduction of a digital multimeter the size of a hand may have generated some interest in its stock.

The stock of Westvaco benefitted from sharply higher third quarter earnings. The company reported $1.03 a share earnings, compared with 35 cents the same period last year.

Gray Drug Stores slid during the session.

Rydax Posts Revenue Gain

Rydax Inc. of San Rafael announced a 55 per cent increase in revenues for the six-month period ended June 30, 1973. However, net income dropped from $31,080 during the first six months of last year to $24,764 this year.

C. A. Rypinski, president of Rydax, said the drop in earnings is due to high expenses incurred through continuing expansion and new product development.

Rydax Inc. designs and manufactures digital communications systems which add automation and remote control functions to voice communications.

Investment High On Water Supply

BERKELEY (UPI) — California's Department of Public Health, explaining why it is difficult to get funds to improve water supplies, said water systems must have a capital investment of $8 for each $1 of annual revenue.

In contrast, the department says, to make the same $1 an electrical system needs a capital investment of $5 and a natural gas system needs only $1.

Catalog Showroom Firm Aims For Branch In Northgate Mall

Consumers Distributing Co., a catalog showroom store affiliated with May Department Stores, will open a branch at Northgate Shopping Mall Unit One in Terra Linda in November.

Consumers Distributing, headquartered in Hayward, will occupy a 10,000-square-foot structure to be added at Northgate One, next to Crocker Bank.

The Northgate branch will be one of 28 catalog showroom stores to be opened this year in Northern California by Consumers Distributing. The company will sell small appliances, dinnerware, cookware, luggage, jewelry, stereos, cameras and other household items.

The company is an equally-owned joint venture of the May Department Stores Company and the largest catalog showroom chain in Canada, Consumers Distributing Company Ltd. of Toronto.

District manager for the new Marin store and 14 others from San Francisco to Sacramento is Gerald G. Scott of Lafayette. He was formerly merchandise manager for the Target Stores Inc. in Minneapolis, Minn.; merchandise manager with J.C. Penney in New York; and store supervisor with Firestone Tire & Rubber Co.

RICHARD SMITH of Carmel was named president and manager for the 23rd office of Northern California Savings and Loan Association to be opened in Novato in about a month.

Firmin A. Gryp, president of the Palo Alto-based company, said the Novato office will be located in the Downtown Novato Shopping Center at Seventh Street and Grant Avenue. The new office will be built next to Long's Drugs, with the opening date tentatively set for late September.

Smith joined Northern California Savings' Salinas branch in 1970 and was elevated to assistant manager of the Carmel operation in July, 1972. He and his family plan to move to Novato as soon as possible.

The Novato branch is the first to be opened in a northward expansion by the company, although approval has been received for a facility in the Corte Madera area.

served there until his appointments to the accounts receivable financing department in 1971.

The 26,000-square-foot building is owned by Century Properties Fund 72-2, a limited partnership that owns additional apartments and mobile home parks throughout California. These investments are periodically offered to the general public and allow the individual investor to own a portion of a portfolio of income-producing property. Century Properties is administered by Fox & Carskadon Financial Corporation, a subsidiary of Fox & Carskadon Inc.

The financial corporation, headed by Lisle W. Payne, has just opened another investment called Century Properties Preferred-Equity Fund 73. It has a total funding capacity of $20 million, yet allows individuals to invest as little as $2,500.

CLARENCE E. SCOTT of Terra Linda, farm lines technical supervisor for Fireman's Fund American Insurance Companies, was promoted to assistant secretary-farm.

Scott joined Fireman's Fund in 1962 as an auto insurance underwriter in the Dallas branch. In 1965 he became casualty underwriter, and three years later was promoted to personal lines supervising underwriter in Oklahoma City. Scott came to the San Francisco home office last January as farm lines technical supervisor.

HOEFER, DIETERICH & Brown Inc. of San Francisco, headed by John H. Hoefer of Belvedere, has been selected to handle the advertising for National BankAmericard Inc., the nationwide corporation that administers and markets the BankAmericard credit card system throughout the United States.

Agram L. Tootelian, vice president for growth and development of National BankAmericard Inc., said that planning for a new national campaign will begin Sept. 1. NBI's 1973-74 advertising budget is not yet final, but last year, the company spent about $4 million on print and broadcast media.

TITLE INSURANCE and Trust Company of San Rafael announced several changes in its staff.

William W. Bagby, manager of the company's Red Bluff office for 20 years, took over as county manager in TI's main office in San Rafael at 1200 Lincoln Avenue. He succeeds George Piazza, who transferred to TI's Lassen County office in Susanville as county manager.

Donald L. Loegering was appointed TI's branch manager in Novato, at 1400 Grant Avenue. Loegering was branch manager of the Southern Marin office since April, 1973. Carol J. Ivory of Mill Valley succeeded Loegering as branch manager of the Southern Marin office.

NOVATO CUSTOMERS of Western California Telephone Co. are now benefitting from a new microfilm installation which provides faster service through the use of microfilm billing records instead of the old rotary filing system, Novato Division Manager Gordon L. Lee announced.

The new microfilm system lets customer representatives get nearly instant billing information to answer customer questions, Lee explained. The company is now spending $100,000 on additional equipment for its Novato switching center at 911 Diablo Avenue.

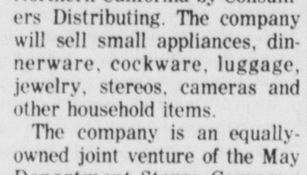
DICK NOTTINGHAM of Santa Rosa has been appointed branch manager of Amfac Electrical Supply branch in San Rafael.

Nottingham has been with Amfac for the last eight years. Before that he worked for another electrical wholesaler in San Francisco and Santa Rosa for about 15 years.

Earnings Are Up For Farmers Group

LOS ANGELES — Farmers Group, Inc. earned $5,904,600, or 68 cents per share for the second quarter of 1973, compared to $5,202,300 or 61 cents per share for the second quarter of 1972, Thomas E. Leavey, chairman of the board, announced.

Earnings for the first six months of 1973 were $11,536,900, or $1.33 per share, compared to $10,209,300, or $1.19 per share for the same period last year.



Smith Chiesa

DONALD A CHIESA of Novato has been named vice president, commercial loans, for Crocker Bank's Bay Area Region administration, San Francisco.

A 22-year veteran with Crocker Bank, Chiesa was vice president, commercial loans, in the bank's accounts receivable financing department.

He was promoted to assistant vice president in the bank's San Francisco installment credit department in 1964 and became assistant vice president and assistant manager of the Stockton office the following year. Chiesa returned to San Francisco in 1968 as assistant vice president and manager of the 20th Avenue and Geary office and

Dividend Paid To Marin Builders

The State Compensation Insurance Fund paid a dividend of $623,519 to the Safety Council of Builders Exchanges, which includes the Marin Builders Exchange. Members of the Marin Builders Exchange will get about 30 per cent of the dividends, or about $187,000.

Juan Ferrer of San Rafael is outgoing president of the Safety Council, which is made up of 10 California Builders Exchanges and members contractors. Construction Administration and Insurance of San Rafael, headed by E. Douglas Roberts, is administrator of the group.

"Increased safety activity and low losses made possible the biggest dividend we've ever received," said Roberts.

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

Lottery And Bingo Bills Advance In The Assembly

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Measures paving the way for legalization of bingo and a lottery in California have advanced to the Assembly floor despite opposition from law officers and church spokesmen.

The Constitutional Amendments Committee, on a 5-2 vote, yesterday approved a measure creating a statewide lottery. Also on 5-2 votes, the panel approved a proposed constitutional amendment and accompanying bill designed to legalize bingo by charitable, nonprofit organizations such as churches and local clubs.

Emmanuel Gnat, an analyst for the Mathematics research firm, testified that state-operated lotteries have resulted in a large drop in illegal forms of gambling.

But Donald Keller, spokesman for the California Peace Officers Association, countered that "any time you promote gambling you make more gamblers. The state should build on the strengths of the people and not exploit their weaknesses."

Gnat estimated the average family in California would spend $1.62 per week or about $80 a year on a lottery, basing his figures on other states which permit lotteries.

He said the proposed constitutional amendment (ACA18) by Assemblyman Leon Ralph, D-Los Angeles, would produce about $170 million in revenue that would be split between state and local governments.

REMAP POWER

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A measure taking the task of reapportionment away from the legislature and giving it to a nonpartisan commission has been rejected by the Senate.

The proposed constitutional amendment (SCA1) by Sen. Arlen Gregorio, D-San Mateo, failed on a 22-16 vote yesterday Twenty-seven votes were needed for approval. Gregorio kept the measure alive by asking to have the vote reconsidered.

Opponents contended the legislature has successfully redistricted itself over past decades and the system should not be abolished because of the problems since 1970.

DOG PACKS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —State wildlife personnel would be permitted to kill packs of pet dogs attacking deer and antelope under a bill which has won Assembly approval.

The bill (SB955) by Sen. John A. Nejedly, R-Walnut Creek, was returned to the Senate yesterday for concurrence in minor amendments on a 68-4 vote.

The Department of Fish and Game proposed the bill because roaming dog packs kill 600 to 700 deer each year in California.

PARK FUNDS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation providing $50 million in state funds to buy park land along the California coast has advanced in the Senate.

The measure (AB332) by Assemblyman John F. Dunlap, D-Napa, cleared the Natural Resources Committee yesterday on a 5-4 vote and was sent to the Finance Committee.

Under the bill, $25 million would be provided for grants to cities and counties for park purchases. The other $25 million would go to the state Department of Parks and Recreation.

HEALTH CHARGE

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Reagan's administration's Department of Health is not properly administering prepaid health plans for California's Medi-Cal beneficiaries, the chairman of a legislative committee charges.

Assemblyman Vincent Thomas, D-San Pedro, yesterday issued a report by his Joint Legislative Audit Committee which he said showed the state "incurred duplicate costs in 10 per cent of 1,200 beneficiary records reviewed."

However, Thomas said the extra cost paid by the state could not be determined because the Department of Health "has now restricted access to records and personnel essential to a complete review and analysis of the prepaid health plans."

BANK PRIVACY

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation greatly restricting the inspection of citizens' bank accounts by state officials passed the Assembly yesterday on a 69-5 vote.

Assemblyman Alan Sieroty, D-Beverly Hills, said some state agencies currently have "virtually unlimited scrutiny" of personal checking accounts.

The bill (AB1609), which now goes to the Senate, imposes new restrictions on the use of such bank accounts that permit state scrutiny under severely limited circumstances.

SCHOOL POWER

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation giving school principals more authority to take steps to reduce violence at their campuses was approved yesterday by the Assembly on a 64-0 vote and sent to the Senate.

The bill (AB1314) by Assemblyman Leroy F. Greene, D-Sacramento, would allow principals to close a school when the safety of students or employes is endangered.

It also requires districts to develop regulations for employes for the reporting and control of violence on campuses or at a school-sponsored event.

ALMANAC

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Today is Tuesday, Aug. 28, the 240th day of 1973 with 125 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter. The morning stars are Mercury and Mars. The evening stars are Venus, Jupiter and Saturn.

American author Roger Peterson was born Aug. 28, 1908.

On this day in history:

In 1833, the British Parliament banned slavery through the empire.

In 1963, more than 200,000 demonstrators staged an orderly civil rights march in Washington, D.C.

In 1968, the Democratic party at its convention in Chicago nominated Hubert Humphrey to run for president as anti-war demonstrators fought police in the streets outside.

A thought for the day: British writer Lytton Strachey said, "Perhaps of all the creations of man language is most astonishing."

San Rafael air quality yesterday:

Oxidants clean air.
Nitrogen dioxide, clean air.
Carbon monoxide, clean air.
Smoke particles, clean air.
Other areas:
San Francisco, clean air.
San Jose, clean air.

Colorless oxidants, brownish nitrogen dioxide and smoke particles aggravate respiratory diseases. Carbon monoxide causes dizziness, headaches and slows reflexes. Smoke particles come largely from industrial sources, the other three come primarily from motor vehicles.

Tree Seeds

COUPLE NOT BOOKED FOR ACCIDENT

A typographical error in yesterday's Independent-Journal made it appear that a Forest Knolls couple had been arrested for drunken driving after an automobile accident Saturday afternoon.

A dropped line of type made it appear that Antonio and Ida Nunes had been booked into Marin County Jail after a head-on collision with Kurt Theodore Kaikinger of San Rafael.

Actually, it was Kaikinger's car that caused the crash near Fairfax, according to the California Highway Patrol, and it was he who was booked on suspicion of drunken driving.

Nunes and his wife were treated and released at Marin General Hospital.

Pot Growing Charge Is Denied

Former Ross and Belvedere resident Kathryn Jean Lohman, scion of a pioneer California family, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a charge of cultivating marijuana.

Miss Lohman, 46, who descended from a gold rush banker and mayor of Sacramento, allegedly was caught last week with 100 pot plants growing in her vegetable garden behind her Inverness home.

"It's only for herbal use," she reportedly told Marin sheriff's deputies who spotted the plants behind her brown shingle house on Inverness Way.

A preliminary hearing on the felony charge has been set for Sept. 11.

Miss Lohman in 1970 won a court battle over her brother, Edward B. Lohman of Piedmont who charged that she was mentally incompetent to handle her $200,000 estate.

Miss Lohman, twice divorced, denied the charges. After winning back control of the estate, she said it had dwindled to $15,000 while under her brother's control.

She traces her ancestry back through a great-grandfather, Charles Swift, who was a gold rush banker and mayor of Sacramento. Her father, E. G. Lohman, was a former mayor of Ross.

11:42 p.m., Santa Venetia — Fire burned one acre brush, trees, and grass in canyon off Sunny Oaks Drive; possibly caused by campfire; Marin County Fire Department responded, San Rafael fire department assisted.

Board Approves Sale Of Land

The Sausalito-Marin City Sanitary District board last night voted to sell 675 square feet of land at Petaluma and Yuba streets in Sausalito.

The district bought the property in 1963 as a site for a pump station which is no longer needed, according to George F. Carney, board chairman.

Directors also approved revised sewer line plans for the Kappas Marina and Arques Yacht Harbor in Sausalito.

Strike Action

OTTAWA (UPI) — Prime Minister Pierre Elliot Trudeau recalled Canada's Parliament yesterday to try to legislate an end to the country's rail strike. He called the strike a "national emergency" and said it is "hurting Canadians everywhere."

Uncle Of Derby Winner Admits Role In Cheating

BOULDER, Colo. (UPI) — Robert Lange Sr. admitted today he told his nephew to cheat to win the 1973 National Soapbox Derby by building a magnetic device in the nose of his green racer.

"I determined that he should build and install a magnetic nose so as to be competitive with the professional cars he would be racing against," Lange said.

"I knew that this was a violation of the official derby rules and consider it now to be a serious mistake in judgement," he said.

James Gronen, 14, was disqualified by derby officials and forfeited a $7,500 scholarship for winning the race because of an electromagnet found in his car. The device, discovered by X-ray after the race, pushed Gronen's car away from the derby's metal starting gate.

Lange, young Gronen's legal guardian, released his statement after talks with his attorney. He said the admission was his last word on the incident and that Gronen still was vacationing in Wisconsin.

Lange, president of the Lange Ski Boot Co., outside Boulder, a mountain college town of 75,000 persons, said the cars of the other top 10 finishers should be inspected for alterations that were against derby rules.

He denied pouring large sums of money into development of Gronen's racer and the car in which his son, Robert Lange Jr., won the national derby title in 1972. The Boulder district attorney had said the 1972 car cost between 10,000 and $20,000 to build.

Derby rules limit spending on development of racers to $40.

"It is foolish to suggest that any substantial expense went into either of them," Lange said.

Lange said his nephew was not alone in tampering with his car and that the event had become "tainted" with tampering not discovered "because of poor inspection and lack of supervision."

He said he wanted Gronen's car to be "competitive. Rule violations are common. The most frequently violated rule is tampering with or altering the axles and wheels which the derby supplies to each entrant."

In his five-page statement, Lange said his son's 1972 derby-winning racer was "clean. Neither a (magnetic) device nor anything similar to it was incorporated in or used in the winning car by my son Bobby, in the 1972 race."

Mental Records Not Pertinent

Dotty had emotional problems. Two years later she was hurt in a car accident. She sued the other driver for her injuries. The defense asked to see her psychiatric file. The court told her to produce it.

"Those files do not relate to this case," said Dotty's attorney. He appealed to a higher court.

The Supreme Court said the file was protected. "Just because she sued for injuries two years after treatment doesn't mean private medical information has to be told," said the court. "Her injuries in the accident had no 'direct relevance' to any prior mental condition."

Dotty could have made "mental anguish" an issue in the case. But if she did, the court would ask her to disclose records of her mental history. Even if mental suffering and damage is claimed, the court will only look at information that directly relates to the case.

A patient may "waive" his privilege of privacy and volunteer to disclose his records. Only the patient has this privilege, however, It's not up to the doctor.

In a personal injury lawsuit, the patient may limit his claim for mental suffering. Then he doesn't have to disclose his psychiatric history.

Not every lawsuit involving pain opens up past communications with your physician. "That would be an intolerable and overbroad intrusion into the patient's privacy. It would create opportunities for harassment and blackmail," said one court.

Much of what is said between a psychiatrist and patient is expected to be confidential. Therefore, psychiatric files are protected by the right of privacy.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Joints With Arthritis Can Be Replaced With Artificial Ones

The surgical treatment of arthritis received a boost after successful hip operations. In these procedures, the entire joint is removed and replaced with an artificial "ball and socket." Thousands now walk around with manmade joints. And 95 per cent do so without the slightest distress or limp. These operations now are being done in many of our leading hospitals by surgeons skilled in this special technique.

HIP INVOLVEMENT is common in both rheumatoid and osteoarthritis. When this structure is involved, pain is constant. It hurts to stand, sit, or lie down. Even though the hip must withstand loads up to three times the body's weight, this largest of joints lends itself to a prosthesis.

The materials used must be strong, yet elastic enough to absorb the jolts of daily wear and tear. And the device must be self-lubricating and slip-proof.

Rheumatoid arthritis of the finger joints also lends itself to surgical correction. Various operations have been done, including removal of the lining of membrane (synovia) which is inflamed in this disease. Small silicone implants have also been used to replace diseased joints. These usually are inserted in the joints after all diseased tissue has been removed. Surgeons also have been successful in correcting enlarged, painful arthritic metatarsal joints in the feet.

ARTHRITIS of the knee is common because the structure is easily injured and bears the weight of the body. Surgery is advisable when the usual remedies fail to bring relief. Many different procedures are done to eliminate the diseased or injured tissues that interfere with motion and bring on distress. Replacement by a complete prosthesis is next on the agenda.

Several types of synthetic knees are available, but time will tell whether they can withstand years of usage.

Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to Dr. Van Dellen, c/o the Independent-Journal, P.O. Box 330, San Rafael, Ca. 94902.

APPLE EATING

M. S. writes: According to the Bible, after the apple was eaten, man had to work by the sweat of his brow. Now what I would like to know is, why does my daughter perspire whenever she eats an apple?

REPLY

Is her name Eve? Or is she engaged to a doctor? Many people perspire after eating because it raises metabolism. But an allergic reaction of some sort must be responsible if this occurs only after eating an apple.

COFFEE AS DILATOR

L. T. writes: If coffee dilates the blood vessels, would it be beneficial in arteriosclerosis?

REPLY

No, because the hardening process goes on whether the vessels are dilated or in spasm. To my knowledge, there is no evidence that coffee is beneficial after the vessels become hardened and there is a chance that more than five cups daily may aggravate hardening of the coronary arteries.

CLEFT TONGUE

A reader writes: My doctor says I have a cleft tongue and it is causing bad breath. I've heard of cleft palate and lip, but not cleft tongue.

REPLY

A cleft in the tongue is a transverse pocket or depressed area near the back part, close to the throat. Halitosis develops when food collects and ferments in this pocket. The odor disappears when the depression is cleaned out.

COLLAGEN DISEASES

R. B. writes: Are the collagen diseases rare and incurable?

REPLY

They are not rare and remedies are available. Rheumatoid arthritis is one of the most common and dermatomyositis the least common. Collagen is a substance in the connective tissue or framework of the body. Many of these conditions are difficult to distinguish from immunological disorders. These diseases are controlable, but not curable.

MOOD CHANGERS

L. Writes: Do tranquilizers lead to a depressed mood?

REPLY

DEADENS NOSE

G. C. writes: Does the nose doctor give anything to kill pain before removing a polyp?

REPLY

Yes — a local anesthetic.

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

Lottery And Bingo Bills Advance In The Assembly

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Measures paving the way for legalization of bingo and a lottery in California have advanced to the Assembly floor despite opposition from law officers and church spokesmen.

The Constitutional Amendments Committee, on a 5-2 vote, yesterday approved a measure creating a statewide lottery. Also on 5-2 votes, the panel approved a proposed constitutional amendment and accompanying bill designed to legalize bingo by charitable, nonprofit organizations such as churches and local clubs.

Emmanuel Gnat, an analyst for the Mathematics research firm, testified that state-operated lotteries have resulted in a large drop in illegal forms of gambling.

But Donald Keller, spokesman for the California Peace Officers Association, countered that "any time you promote gambling you make more gamblers. The state should build on the strengths of the people and not exploit their weaknesses."

Gnat estimated the average family in California would spend $1.62 per week or about $80 a year on a lottery, basing his figures on other states which permit lotteries.

He said the proposed constitutional amendment (ACA18) by Assemblyman Leon Ralph, D-Los Angeles, would produce about $170 million in revenue that would be split between state and local governments.

REMAP POWER

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A measure taking the task of reapportionment away from the legislature and giving it to a nonpartisan commission has been rejected by the Senate.

The proposed constitutional amendment (SCA1) by Sen. Arlen Gregorio, D-San Mateo, failed on a 22-16 vote yesterday Twenty-seven votes were needed for approval. Gregorio kept the measure alive by asking to have the vote reconsidered.

Opponents contended the legislature has successfully redistricted itself over past decades and the system should not be abolished because of the problems since 1970.

DOG PACKS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —State wildlife personnel would be permitted to kill packs of pet dogs attacking deer and antelope under a bill which has won Assembly approval.

The bill (SB955) by Sen. John A. Nejedly, R-Walnut Creek, was returned to the Senate yesterday for concurrence in minor amendments on a 68-4 vote.

The Department of Fish and Game proposed the bill because roaming dog packs kill 600 to 700 deer each year in California.

PARK FUNDS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation providing $50 million in state funds to buy park land along the California coast has advanced in the Senate.

The measure (AB332) by Assemblyman John F. Dunlap, D-Napa, cleared the Natural Resources Committee yesterday on a 5-4 vote and was sent to the Finance Committee.

Under the bill, $25 million would be provided for grants to cities and counties for park purchases. The other $25 million would go to the state Department of Parks and Recreation.

HEALTH CHARGE

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Reagan's administration's Department of Health is not properly administering prepaid health plans for California's Medi-Cal beneficiaries, the chairman of a legislative committee charges.

Assemblyman Vincent Thomas, D-San Pedro, yesterday issued a report by his Joint Legislative Audit Committee which he said showed the state "incurred duplicate costs in 10 per cent of 1,200 beneficiary records reviewed."

However, Thomas said the extra cost paid by the state could not be determined because the Department of Health "has now restricted access to records and personnel essential to a complete review and analysis of the prepaid health plans."

BANK PRIVACY

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation greatly restricting the inspection of citizens' bank accounts by state officials passed the Assembly yesterday on a 69-5 vote.

Assemblyman Alan Sieroty, D-Beverly Hills, said some state agencies currently have "virtually unlimited scrutiny" of personal checking accounts.

The bill (AB1609), which now goes to the Senate, imposes new restrictions on the use of such bank accounts that permit state scrutiny under severely limited circumstances.

SCHOOL POWER

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation giving school principals more authority to take steps to reduce violence at their campuses was approved yesterday by the Assembly on a 64-0 vote and sent to the Senate.

The bill (AB1314) by Assemblyman Leroy F. Greene, D-Sacramento, would allow principals to close a school when the safety of students or employes is endangered.

It also requires districts to develop regulations for employes for the reporting and control of violence on campuses or at a school-sponsored event.

ALMANAC

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Today is Tuesday, Aug. 28, the 240th day of 1973 with 125 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter. The morning stars are Mercury and Mars. The evening stars are Venus, Jupiter and Saturn.

American author Roger Peterson was born Aug. 28, 1908.

On this day in history:

In 1833, the British Parliament banned slavery through the empire.

In 1963, more than 200,000 demonstrators staged an orderly civil rights march in Washington, D.C.

In 1968, the Democratic party at its convention in Chicago nominated Hubert Humphrey to run for president as anti-war demonstrators fought police in the streets outside.

A thought for the day: British writer Lytton Strachey said, "Perhaps of all the creations of man lanugage is most astonishing."

San Rafael air quality yesterday:

Oxidants clean air.
Nitrogen dioxide, clean air.
Carbon monoxide, clean air.
Smoke particles, clean air.
Other areas:
San Francisco, clean air.
San Jose, clean air.

Colorless oxidants, brownish nitrogen dioxide and smoke particles aggravate respiratory diseases. Carbon monoxide causes dizziness, headaches and slows reflexes. Smoke particles come largely from industrial sources, the other three come primarily from motor vehicles.

COUPLE NOT BOOKED FOR ACCIDENT

A typographical error in yesterday's Independent-Journal made it appear that a Forest Knolls couple had been arrested for drunken driving after an automobile accident Saturday afternoon.

A dropped line of type made it appear that Antonio and Ida Nunes had been booked into Marin County Jail after a head-on collision with Kurt Theodore Kaikinger of San Rafael.

Actually, it was Kaikinger's car that caused the crash near Fairfax, according to the California Highway Patrol, and it was he who was booked on suspicion of drunken driving.

Nunes and his wife were treated and released at Marin General Hospital.

Pot Growing Charge Is Denied

Former Ross and Belvedere resident Kathryn Jean Lohman, scion of a pioneer California family, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a charge of cultivating marijuana.

Miss Lohman, 46, who descended from a gold rush banker and mayor of Sacramento, allegedly was caught last week with 100 pot plants growing in her vegetable garden behind her Inverness home.

"It's only for herbal use," she reportedly told Marin sheriff's deputies who spotted the plants behind her brown shingle house on Inverness Way.

A preliminary hearing on the felony charge has been set for Sept. 11.

Miss Lohman in 1970 won a court battle over her brother, Edward B. Lohman of Piedmont who charged that she was mentally incompetent to handle her $200,000 estate.

Miss Lohman, twice divorced, denied the charges. After winning back control of the estate, she said it had dwindled to $15,000 while under her brother's control.

She traces her ancestry back through a great-grandfather, Charles Swift, who was a gold rush banker and mayor of Sacramento. Her father, E. G. Lohman, was a former mayor of Ross.

11:42 p.m., Santa Venetia — Fire burned one acre brush, trees, and grass in canyon off Sunny Oaks Drive; possibly caused by campfire; Marin County Fire Department responded, San Rafael fire department assisted.

Board Approves Sale Of Land

The Sausalito-Marin City Sanitary District board last night voted to sell 675 square feet of land at Petaluma and Yuba streets in Sausalito.

The district bought the property in 1963 as a site for a pump station which is no longer needed, according to George F. Carney, board chairman.

Directors also approved revised sewer line plans for the Kappas Marina and Arques Yacht Harbor in Sausalito.

Strike Action

OTTAWA (UPI) — Prime Minister Pierre Elliot Trudeau recalled Canada's Parliament yesterday to try to legislate an end to the country's rail strike. He called the strike a "national emergency" and said it is "hurting Canadians everywhere."

Uncle Of Derby Winner Admits Role In Cheating

"I determined that he should build and install a magnetic nose so as to be competitive with the professional cars he would be racing against," Lange said.

"I knew that this was a violation of the official derby rules and consider it now to be a serious mistake in judgement," he said.

James Gronen, 14, was disqualified by derby officials and forfeited a $7,500 scholarship for winning the race because of an electromagnet found in his car. The device, discovered by X-ray after the race, pushed Gronen's car away from the derby's metal starting gate.

Lange, young Gronen's legal guardian, released his statement after talks with his attorney. He said the admission was his last word on the incident and that Gronen still was vacationing in Wisconsin.

Lange, president of the Lange Ski Boot Co., outside Boulder, a mountain college town of 75,000 persons, said the cars of the other top 10 finishers should be inspected for alterations that were against derby rules.

He denied pouring large sums of money into development of Gronen's racer and the car in which his son, Robert Lange Jr., won the national derby title in 1972. The Boulder district attorney had said the 1972 car cost between 10,000 and $20,000 to build.

Derby rules limit spending on development of racers to $40.

"It is foolish to suggest that any substantial expense went into either of them," Lange said.

Lange said his nephew was not alone in tampering with his car and that the event had become "tainted" with tampering not discovered "because of poor inspection and lack of supervision."

He said he wanted Gronen's car to be "competitive. Rule violations are common. The most frequently violated rule is tampering with or altering the axles and wheels which the derby supplies to each entrant."

In his five-page statement, Lange said his son's 1972 derby-winning racer was "clean. Neither a (magnetic) device nor anything similar to it was incorporated in or used in the winning car by my son Bobby, in the 1972 race."

Mental Records Not Pertinent

Dotty had emotional problems. Two years later she was hurt in a car accident. She sued the other driver for her injuries. The defense asked to see her psychiatric file. The court told her to produce it.

"Those files do not relate to this case," said Dotty's attorney. He appealed to a higher court.

The Supreme Court said the file was protected. "Just because she sued for injuries two years after treatment doesn't mean private medical information has to be told," said the court. "Her injuries in the accident had no 'direct relevance' to any prior mental condition."

Dotty could have made "mental anguish" an issue in the case. But if she did, the court would ask her to disclose records of her mental history. Even if mental suffering and damage is claimed, the court will only look at information that directly relates to the case.

A patient may "waive" his privilege of privacy and volunteer to disclose his records. Only the patient has this privilege, however, It's not up to the doctor.

In a personal injury lawsuit, the patient may limit his claim for mental suffering. Then he doesn't have to disclose his psychiatric history.

Not every lawsuit involving pain opens up past communications with your physician. "That would be an intolerable and overbroad intrusion into the patient's privacy. It would create opportunities for harassment and blackmail," said one court.

Much of what is said between a psychiatrist and patient is expected to be confidential. Therefore, psychiatric files are protected by the right of privacy.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

The surgical treatment of arthritis received a boost after successful hip operations. In these procedures, the entire joint is removed and replaced with an artificial "ball and socket." Thousands now walk around with manmade joints. And 95 per cent do so without the slightest distress or limp. These operations now are being done in many of our leading hospitals by surgeons skilled in this special technique.

HIP INVOLVEMENT is common in both rheumatoid and osteoarthritis. When this structure is involved, pain is constant. It hurts to stand, sit, or lie down. Even though the hip must withstand loads up to three times the body's weight, this largest of joints lends itself to a prosthesis.

The materials used must be strong, yet elastic enough to absorb the jolts of daily wear and tear. And the device must be self-lubricating and slip-proof.

Rheumatoid arthritis of the finger joints also lends itself to surgical correction. Various operations have been done, including removal of the lining of membrane (synovia) which is inflamed in this disease. Small silicone implants have also been used to replace diseased joints. These usually are inserted in the joints after all diseased tissue has been removed. Surgeons also have been successful in correcting enlarged, painful arthritic metatarsal joints in the feet.

ARTHRITIS of the knee is common because the structure is easily injured and bears the weight of the body. Surgery is advisable when the usual remedies fail to bring relief. Many different procedures are done to eliminate the diseased or injured tissues that interfere with motion and bring on distress. Replacement by a complete prosthesis is next on the agenda.

Several types of synthetic knees are available, but time will tell whether they can withstand years of usage.

Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to Dr. Van Dellen, c/o the Independent-Journal, P.O. Box 330, San Rafael, Ca. 94902.

APPLE EATING

M. S. writes: According to the Bible, after the apple was eaten, man had to work by the sweat of his brow. Now what I would like to know is, why does my daughter perspire whenever she eats an apple?

REPLY

Is her name Eve? Or is she engaged to a doctor? Many people perspire after eating because it raises metabolism. But an allergic reaction of some sort must be responsible if this occurs only after eating an apple.

COFFEE AS DILATOR

L. T. writes: If coffee dilates the blood vessels, would it be beneficial in arteriosclerosis?

REPLY

No, because the hardening process goes on whether the vessels are dilated or in spasm. To my knowledge, there is no evidence that coffee is beneficial after the vessels become hardened and there is a chance that more than five cups daily may aggravate hardening of the coronary arteries.

Indian Movement Leader Wounded

WINNERS, S.D. (UPI) — Clyde Bellecourt, cofounder of the militant American Indian Movement (AIM), was shot and critically wounded at the Rosebud Sioux Reservation yesterday, apparently by a fellow AIM leader.

It was the first major violence among AIM heirarchy since the group was founded in 1968.

Carter Camp, 29, AIM national chairman from Ponca City, Okla., was arrested late yesterday in Nebraska and charged with the shooting. Camp, his brother, Craig Kelly Camp, 27, and Leroy Cadados, 33, of Alliance, Neb., had all been named in federal warrants charging them with assault with a deadly weapon.

The warrants were issued after Bellecourt was shot in the stomach in the front yard of the home of a friend on the reservation.

Camp was apprehended without a struggle. He was unarmed. The other two suspects were still at large.

CARTER CAMP

No reason was given by police or AIM leaders for the shooting.

"We are as puzzled as everyone else as to how and why this shooting happened," said Russell Means, an AIM national leader. "We're looking into it. We're conducting our own investigation."

Trio Arrested In Shooting Case

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Three young men, two of them brothers, were arrested Monday on charges of assault with a deadly weapon as a result of a Sheraton-Palace Hotel shooting which left three men wounded.

Police said Joseph C. Becker, 25, and Nicasio P. Fernando, 21, both San Francisco, surrendered after their attorney discussed the Saturday night violence with inspectors.

Becker's brother, Phillip, 23, a computer operator, was arrested as he walked near his home. Inspectors said witnesses told them he fired the pistol.

Wounded were Virgilio Tejada, 19, Sam Parizal, 20, and Armando Aniel, 22. Tejada and Parizal were in critical condition at San Francisco General Hospital where Aniel was reported in fair condition.

Income Rises

Personal income in Arizona rose from $5,062,000,000 (b) in 1968 to $9,640,000,000 (b) in 1973, an increase of 90.4 per cent, the Valley National Bank of Arizona reports.

Funds For New Petaluma Library Suffer A Setback

Funds for a new library were pushed aside again last night as the Petaluma City Council approved capital expenditures for 1973-74.

City Mgr. Robert H. Meyer recommended an allocation of $250,000 toward construction of a new library, but councilmen said more study must be made.

Meyer and the library board urged that a portion of the city's federal revenue sharing funds be spent on the library to be combined with possible funds from Sonoma County and a bond election.

Meyer said $300,000 could be forthcoming from the county's share of federal funds that would reduce the amount needed in a bond election.

Councilmen said they hesitated to earmark the funds for 1973-74 since a bond election could not be held before February and the money could be used elsewhere in the meantime. The library funding problem will be considered again at the council meeting next Tuesday at 7:30 p.m.

The council did approve spending $298,000 to widen South McDowell Boulevard from McKenzie Drive to fire station No. 3.

City Engineer David A Young recommended the city funds be allocated to take advantage of a 1973-74 grant of $166,520 from the Metropolitan Transportation Commission for the project. Plans also call for signals on South McDowell at McKenzie, McGregor and Weaverly drives.

The council also approved spending $65,400 to install crossing gates at railroad crossings on Lakeville, Payran and Jefferson streets. Meyer said the state Public Utilities Commission has been pushing for the gates as an added safety measure.

Other major outlays approved included $50,000 to acquire land to expand the civic center area; $20,000 for microfilm equipment to serve several city departments; $25,000 to relocate Kenilworth Little League diamond behind Kenilworth Junior High School; $12,600 for portable radios for fire trucks, and $4,925 for dictation and investigation equipment for police.

The council denied the request of Police Chief Larry D. Higgins for $3,000 to buy a lightweight motorcycle for traffic patrol. Councilmen said increased cost of insurance and use in only good weather would not make a motorcycle practical.

River Overflows Banks In India

KARACHI, Pakistan (UPI) — The powerful Indus River, its level rising 18 inches a day, broke through embankments today just south of the city of Hyderabad, authorities said.

The flood poured into the countryside and inudated vast portions of plantation land, about 75 miles east of Karachi. Authorities said the flooding had not yet reached its full force.

Embassy Boom In East Germany

BERLIN (UPI) — There's been such a rush to recognize East Germany these days it's getting hard for foreign governments to find sites for their embassies.

Eastern sources said more than 1,000 bricklayers and other construction workers have been sent to East Berlin to build embassies and homes for foreign diplomats.

The latest nation to need space is the United States. A state department team began talks in East Berlin yesterday on a site for an embassy and corresponding technical matters.

Calm Returns To Unrest Area

LANCASTER, Va. (UPI) — Lancaster County was quiet as state troopers and sheriff's deputies patrolled the area in the wake of racial incidents growing out of the shooting of a black man by a white.

"It's lovely," Sheriff Garland L. Forrester said last night. "Everything's cooling off real nice."

Forrester said roving groups of blacks attacked whites and overturned cars throughout this Northern Neck county Sunday night. Seven whites were reported injured, none seriously, and 14 blacks arrested.

Tiburon Will Share Police Dispatchers

The Tiburon City Council last night decided to share the city's police dispatchers with Belvedere. (Another Tiburon City Council story, page 1.)

The council approved an agreement under which Tiburon police clerks would dispatch police for both cities.

If Belvedere approves the contract, it will pay Tiburon $60 a month for the service and insure the dispatchers for possible negligence.

The Tiburon City Council Also:

CLOSED MEETING — Held a closed session to discuss negotiations with property owners on purchases of open space.

BUILDING — Said it liked the concept of a savings and loan office to be built at 1525 Tiburon Boulevard on land owned by Fred G. Zelinsky.

ZONING — Approved at second reading an ordinance allowing additions to buildings which do not conform to zoning requirements if the new additions meet those requirements.

TENNIS — Approved a joint powers agreement with Reed School District to build two tennis courts at Del Mar School. The city will pay $22,000 and the school district will donate land and pay $3,000.

CONDOMINIUMS — Approved the tentative and final maps for the 10-unit Golden View Heights condominiums to be built on Linda Vista Avenue.

HACIENDA DRIVE — Asked the city staff to acquire the title to lower Hacienda Drive.

COMMISSIONS — Agreed to meet Sept. 15 at 9:30 a.m. to consider appointments to fill vacancies to the board of design review and the parks and recreation commission, and at the same time announced that William O'Neil had resigned from the parks and recreation commission.

Competitive Field

NEW YORK (UPI) — The U.S. Office of Education (USOE) estimates that competing for the 1.9 million teaching vacancies occurring between 1970 and 1975 are more than two million new teaching graduates and between 250,000 to 350,000 teachers returning to the field.

Indian Movement Leader Wounded

WINNERS, S.D. (UPI) — Clyde Bellecourt, cofounder of the militant American Indian Movement (AIM), was shot and critically wounded at the Rosebud Sioux Reservation yesterday, apparently by a fellow AIM leader.

It was the first major violence among AIM heirarchy since the group was founded in 1968.

Carter Camp, 29, AIM national chairman from Ponca City, Okla., was arrested late yesterday in Nebraska and charged with the shooting. Camp, his brother, Craig Kelly Camp, 27, and Leroy Cadados, 33, of Alliance, Neb., had all been named in federal warrants charging them with assault with a deadly weapon.

The warrants were issued after Bellecourt was shot in the stomach in the front yard of the home of a friend on the reservation.

Camp was apprehended without a struggle. He was unarmed. The other two suspects were still at large.

CARTER CAMP
Arrested in shooting

No reason was given by police or AIM leaders for the shooting.

"We are as puzzled as everyone else as to how and why this shooting happened," said Russell Means, an AIM national leader. "We're looking into it. We're conducting our own investigation."

Trio Arrested In Shooting Case

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Three young men, two of them brothers, were arrested Monday on charges of assault with a deadly weapon as a result of a Sheraton-Palace Hotel shooting which left three men wounded.

Police said Joseph C. Becker, 25, and Nicasio P. Fernando, 21, both San Francisco, surrendered after their attorney discussed the Saturday night violence with inspectors.

Becker's brother, Phillip, 23, a computer operator, was arrested as he walked near his home. Inspectors said witnesses told them he fired the pistol.

Wounded were Virgilio Tejada, 19, Sam Parizal, 20, and Armando Aniel, 22. Tejada and Parizal were in critical condition at San Francisco General Hospital where Aniel was reported in fair condition.

Income Rises

Personal income in Arizona rose from $5,062,000,000 (b) in 1968 to $9,640,000,000 (b) in 1973, an increase of 90.4 per cent, the Valley National Bank of Arizona reports.

Funds For New Petaluma Library Suffer A Setback

Funds for a new library were pushed aside again last night as the Petaluma City Council approved capital expenditures for 1973-74.

City Mgr. Robert H. Meyer recommended an allocation of $250,000 toward construction of a new library, but councilmen said more study must be made.

Meyer and the library board urged that a portion of the city's federal revenue sharing funds be spent on the library to be combined with possible funds from Sonoma County and a bond election.

Meyer said $300,000 could be forthcoming from the county's share of federal funds that would reduce the amount needed in a bond election.

Councilmen said they hesitated to earmark the funds for 1973-74 since a bond election could not be held before February and the money could be used elsewhere in the meantime. The library funding problem will be considered again at the council meeting next Tuesday at 7:30 p.m.

The council did approve spending $298,000 to widen South McDowell Boulevard from McKenzie Drive to fire station No. 3.

City Engineer David A. Young recommended the city funds be allocated to take advantage of a 1973-74 grant of $166,520 from the Metropolitan Transportation Commission for the project. Plans also call for signals on South McDowell at McKenzie, McGregor and Weaverly drives.

The council also approved spending $65,400 to install crossing gates at railroad crossings on Lakeville, Payran and Jefferson streets. Meyer said the state Public Utilities Commission has been pushing for the gates as an added safety measure.

Other major outlays approved included $50,000 to acquire land to expand the civic center area; $20,000 for microfilm equipment to serve several city departments; $25,000 to relocate Kenilworth Little League diamond behind Kenilworth Junior High School; $12,600 for portable radios for fire trucks, and $4,925 for dictation and investigation equipment for police.

The council denied the request of Police Chief Larry D. Higgins for $3,000 to buy a lightweight motorcycle for traffic patrol. Councilmen said increased cost of insurance and use in only good weather would not make a motorcycle practical.

River Overflows Banks In India

KARACHI, Pakistan (UPI) — The powerful Indus River, its level rising 18 inches a day, broke through embankments today just south of the city of Hyderabad, authorities said.

The flood poured into the countryside and inudated vast portions of plantation land, about 75 miles east of Karachi. Authorities said the flooding had not yet reached its full force.

Sears Highway Passenger Tire Guarantee

If you do not receive the number of miles specified because of your tire becoming unserviceable due to (1) defects, (2) normal road hazards, or (3) tread wear-out.

We will: At our option, exchange it for a new tire or give you a refund charging in either case only the proportion of the then current selling price plus Federal Excise tax that represents mileage used. If the tire is unserviceable due to any of the above causes before 10% of the guaranteed mileage is received, the replacement or refund will be made with no charge for mileage received.

Nail punctures will be repaired at no charge.

Abourezk Raps Indian Programs

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Sen. James Abourezk, D-S.D., charged yesterday that the U.S. Bureau of Indian Affairs has tried to eliminate the Indian problem "by eliminating reservation Indians." Abourezk said the bureau relocates Indians in cities, then forgets them.

The lawmaker made the comment during a hearing before his subcommittee on Indian affairs.

Ce Ce Marin, director of the Intertribal Friendship House in Oakland, Calif., told the subcommittee that the government's job training programs for Indians moving to cities rarely lead to employment.

After the programs, she said, "everything ceases."

Sentencing In Murder Case

OAKLAND (UPI) — Harold Holmes, 24, was sentenced yester-day for 2nd degree murder in the death of Anthony Costa, 59, who was shot down while dumping trash in a street container in front of the Black Panther Party offices in East Oaklaand.

During Holmes' trial before Superior Judge Harold Hove and an all-white jury, the prosecution presented evidence that Holmes, a member of the Panthers, was passing the offices in his car on Sunday, Feb. 17. He stopped and shot Costa in the back of the head after a quarrel, the prosecutor charged.

The jury found that Holmes was sane at the time of the slaying. He was sentenced to 10 years to life in prison.

Dr. Taylor Refuses A Promotion

Dr. Robert R. Taylor yesterday turned down promotion to director of community mental health services when Marin County supervisors refused a midyear salary boost to $34,650. (Other Marin Supervisors stories, page 1.)

Taylor, who currently makes $31,500, as program chief of those services told supervisors he couldn't accept the post to be vacated Friday by Dr. Donovan O. Cooke because of "the principle of how people are paid."

Supervisors quickly named Betty L. Presley, director of health and human services, to the state mandated position — which falls under her authority anyway.

Taylor, who agreed Mrs. Presley should be named to the slot, said he would accept the "greater legal responsibility" only with a 10 per cent pay hike.

Taylor, who under a departmental reorganization will have a reduced workload, was asked by supervisors what he meant by greater responsibility.

He responded that it was "whether the buck could be passed one step further" or stop with him.

Taylor reminisced, by way of example, that Dr. Cooke had taken the blame for a large deficit in mental health spending recently even though the error occurred, in part, in Taylor's office. "People are paid for the responsibility they assume," he said.

County Administrator John F. Barrows then recommended Miss Presley be named to the position.

"And then Dr. Taylor can have someone to pass the buck to," Supervisor Robert A. Roumiguiere added.

Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. came to Taylor assistance saying he didn't interpret the psychiatrist's remarks as meaning he would pass responsibility.

Supervisors Approve Portable Lighting For Fair Parking Lot

Marin County supervisors authorized $750 yesterday to rent portable lights to illuminate the Veterans Memorial Building parking lot during the county fair, which opens a five-day run tomorrow.

The board approved the allocation after Darryl G. Bellack of the Northgate Lion's Club complained that the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. recently had removed all light standards at the lot which is being repaved.

He also urged that sand or gravel be placed over oil puddles to protect fairgoers against slipping.

Public Works Director Ray W. Foreaker agreed with the need for temporary lighting and gravel but noted that he managed to walk through the parking lot the other day without getting oil on his shoes.

In approving the funds, supervisors also asked that the lot be rolled to eliminate swells.

Ron Marinoff of the Lucas Valley Homeowners Association told supervisors the $300,000 construction project should have been phased to avoid conflicting with the county fair.

The Marin Board of Supervisors Also:

SOLID WASTE — Approved a contract, not to exceed $48,000, with the architect and engineering firm of Garretson, Elmendorf, Zinov and Reibin to prepare a master plan for solid waste (garbage) management. The study will include recycling as an alternative. The City-County Planning Council of Marin was named as the policy advisory committee to the study.

CHAMBERS — Approved $1,500 for building modifications to provide chambers for visiting judges in the Hall of Justice.

PRISONERS — Approved payment of $18,036 to Sonoma County for housing of Marin prisoners during June, July and August due to the delay in opening the county honor farm.

LEGISLATION — Agreed to seek state legislation to revamp the county clerk's fee schedule for filing of documents.

APPEAL — Rejected the appeal of Edward Titus of the planning commission's denial of his master plan for an 11-unit apartment house near the Mark Twain Shopping Center in Santa Venetia.

SIGNS — Approved placement of two stop signs at Belvedere Drive and Ricardo Road in Strawberry.

LEASES — Voted to renew a lease for the community mental health services team office at 61 Camino Alto, Mill Valley, for $16,050 for the year — a cost of more than 60 cents per square foot. A search for cheaper quarters also was ordered. Approved a new lease for a similar office in Point Reyes Station for $3,500 through June 1974, at a square-foot rate of 24 cents a month.

COMMUNITY ACTION — Unanimously concurred with Community Action Marin proposals to budget federal funds to several projects: $7,407 for medical contact service by the Street Ministry of Southern Marin; $6,720 for Operation Give A Damn (O'GAD) in Marin City, and $8,000 for auto mechanic training in Marin City, to be operated by the Boys Club of Southern Marin.

APPRENTICESHIP — Voted 4-1 with Supervisor Robert A. Roumiguires dissenting, to concur with Community Action Marin proposals to fund three apprenticeships of the Baulines Craftsmen's Guild at $1,200 each.

Shooting In India Kills Untouchable

NEW DELHI (UPI) — One person was killed and eight others were injured Monday when police opened fire on a crowd of untouchable farm laborers in a village in the state of Andhra Pradesh, the Press Trust of India (PTI) news agency reported today.

The agency quoting official reports said about 2,000 laborers attacked a police party with spears and sticks when it took into custody a labor leader on a charge of inciting people and fomenting trouble.

Cambodian Envoy Swank Resigns

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI) — President Nixon yesterday accepted the resignation of Emory C. Swank, 51, as ambassador to Cambodia.

Swank will be reassigned as the political adviser to the NATO Atlantic Fleet commander in Norfolk, Va.

Comedian Files $100,000 Suit

NEW YORK (UPI) — Comediain Soupy Sales filed a $100,000 breach of contract suit against the producer of the television presentation of the play "Hellza Poppin" Tuesday.

The suit accuses Alexander H. Cohen of breaking a 1967 agreement with Sales to offer the comedian first choice in starring in any of Cohen's productions. Sales said Cohen failed to offer him the starring role in the TV production.

Ambitious Plans For Boxing Show

The San Rafael Jaycees and a group of men trying to form the Central Marin Boys Club have some mighty ambitious plans in the fire for a boxing show Oct. 19 in the College of Marin gym.

Joseph A. Gereghty of Kentfield, one of the men trying to get the Boys Club over the first hurdle, called the I-J office to announce plans for a program of Amateur Athletic Union exhibition bouts and said his group was trying to get heavyweight champion George Foreman and former light heavyweight champ Archie Moore to head the show.

The Jaycees are co-sponsoring the boxing program but all money raised will go to help start the Central Marin Boys Club. And Gereghty says they are hoping to raise between $5,000 and $6,000. That would be quite a feat if they landed Foreman and Moore, and since both men enjoy working in programs for kids there is a distinct possibility it could happen.

JOHN LOANE, former place kicker at Drake High and College of Marin, will be getting his kicks at Cal Poly in San Luis Obispo this year. Loane will be getting his room and board paid by doing his specialty, kicking footballs through goalposts. From what I've heard about this young man's kicking, he's definitely a professional prospect.

TWO SAN RAFAEL residents, Gary Mason and Dolly O'Keefe, are among the first winners in the KNBR Silver and Black Oakland Raider sweepstakes, a contest sponsored by United Delco and KNBR. Gary and Dolly won themselves Raider stadium blankets, so now they can stay warm at all the Raider games.

FOR ALL YOU MARIN COUNTY hardy souls who like to swim and run: have you heard about the third annual Clear Lake Marathon Sept. 22 put on by the Lake County Chamber of Commerce?

The torture test starts out with a seven-mile run from Lucerne to Indian Beach Resort in Glenhaven. Then comes a three-mile swim across Clear Lake to the Konocti Harbor Inn, followed by a 3,000-foot climb up the face of Mount Konocti. But it doesn't end there. The entrants who can still stand will then turn around, run down the mountain and swim back another three miles to Indian Beach Resort. Ow! My arms and legs hurt just thinking about it.

The winners of the first two marathons — 1971 champ Frederick Timms of Clearlake Oaks and '72 king Gary Ruff of Hayward — have already sent in their entry blanks for the event which carries the stamp of approval by the AAU. Entry blanks can be obtained by writing the Lake County Chamber of Commerce at P.O. Box 517, Lakeport 95453.

DID YOU EVER TRY ice hockey on a strip of linoleum? You will get such a chance at the Marin Amateur Hockey Club's booth at the Marin County Fair tomorrow through Monday. There will be a goalie, pads and all, and a net, and a strip of linoleum. The club will be selling chances (three for a quarter) to persons who want to try to score a goal. There'll be prizes for those who succeed.

The proceeds will pay for some of the expenses the club has for the upcoming season.

'Catfish' Helps A's Widen Their Lead

OAKLAND (UPI) — Despite missing nearly a month because of a thumb injury in the All-Star game, Jim (Catfish) Hunter is on schedule for his third straight 20-game season and a solid shot at American League Cy Young Award honors.

The sturdy Oakland A's righthander, making his third start last night since the injury on a hit off the bat of the Chicago Cubs' Billy Williams, pitched a one-hitter for seven innings and wound up with his 17th victory in 20 decisions with a 6-1 triumph over the Boston Red Sox.

The only hit Hunter gave up was a single by Carl Yastrzemski with two out in the fourth off Gene Tenace's glove.

"There was no other call but a hit," said A's skipper Dick Williams. "You hate to see the first hit come that way. It was just one of those things."

Hunter didn't like the call and eventually left after the seventh inning when he developed a tenderness in his right shoulder. He was in front 6-0 and Rollie Fingers finished up. The Red Sox touched the A's' ace reliever for two singles and a sacrifice fly in the eighth for their only run.

Hunter now hasn't lost a game since May 29. He's 12-0 over the stretch and has a chance to top his big league career victory total of 21, which he achieved in both 1971 and 1972.

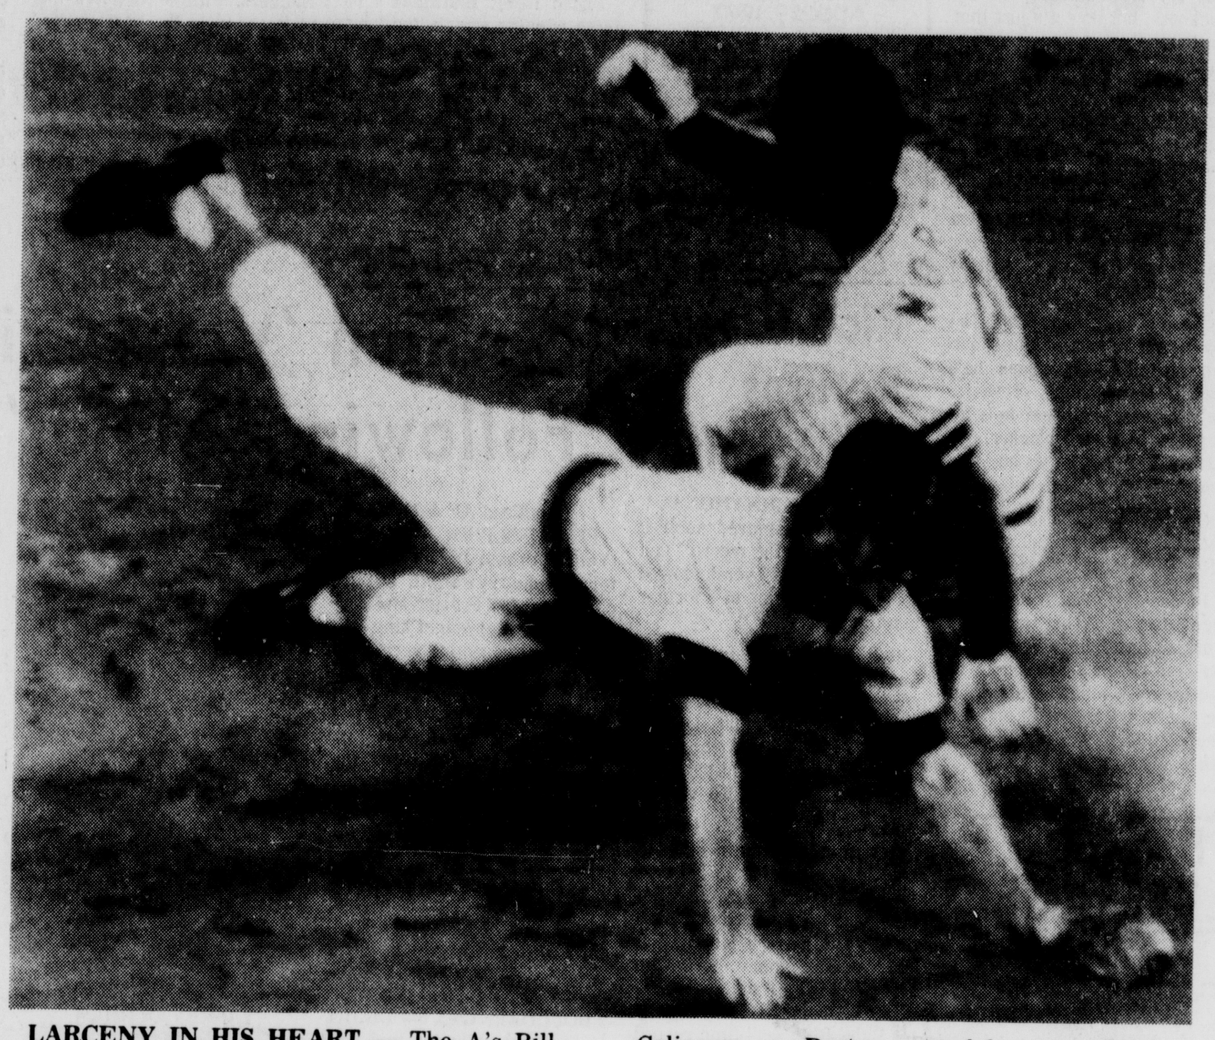
Ray Fosse's two-run triple and a single by Green netted the A's three runs off Boston's Dick Pole in the second and they finally chased him in the seventh with three more runs.

It was the A's' 14th victory in the last 16 games and, coupled with Kansas City's loss to Cleveland, increased Oakland's lead over the Royals in the AL West to 5 ½ games with 31 left to play. The A's conclude their current homestand tonight against Boston, then open a three-game weekend series in Kansas City. Two of three victories over the Royals could all but lock up the division title.

Vida Blue (15-7) pitches for the A's tonight against Bill Lee (14-8). Lee said Monday night that he has thrown a spitter on occasion and virtually dared A.L. President Joe Cronin to fine him as he did Jim Merritt of the Texas Rangers.

Despite last night's loss to the A's the Red Sox are five games behind Baltimore in the A.L. East. They have won nine of their last 11 starts.

See A's box score on inside page.



LARCENY IN HIS HEART — The A's Bill North (4), who came over from the Chicago Cubs to become the American League's stolen base leader, pilfered No. 43 of the year in the fifth inning last night in the Oakland Coliseum, as Boston second baseman Doug Griffin lunged after a high, wide throw from catcher Carlton Fisk. The A's won, 6-1, to extend their lead in the American League West to 5½ games over Kansas City.

FOREST HILLS

Top Stars, Rich Purse

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (UPI) — Politics within the game has kept the world's top tennis players from competing together for the past 12 months but all of them, including the two top seeds, Stan Smith and Ilie Nastase, were at Forest Hills today for the start of the richest U.S. Open championship in history.

This year's prize money amounts to $227,200 with both singles titles worth $25,000 to the winner. Smith and Billie Jean King are the respective favorites. It is the first time in history the women have played for a similar prize as the men, something which has not gone down too well with the men.

Last year, Forest Hills was the only tournament of the world's big four which drew a top field and tournament director Bill Talbert has again achieved his aim of presenting "the best there is in the game today."

The top stars bypassed the Australian Open due to the lengthy travel involved and because of the poor prize money offered; many skipped the French titles in Paris because of a dislike of clay courts and a heavy winter indoor schedule, while Wimbledon saw over 70 of the top males stay away because a fellow pro, Nikki Pilic of Yugoslavia, had his entry rejected.

There was a possibility the tennis wars would be carried to Forest Hills, but the International Lawn Tennis Federation, the controlling body of the sport, cleared the way yesterday for Mrs. King to defend her title.

Mrs. King, who is seeking her fifth title to go with her five Wimbledon crowns, was under a cloud because she, along with 1967 champion John Newcombe of Australia and Federation Cup captain Linda Tuero, had signed contracts with World Team Tennis which does not have federation approval.

Signing of contracts or accepting guarantees is contrary to ILTF rules, but the federation's main objection to WTT is that its three-month schedule, which runs from May through July, would seriously disrupt the European circuit and part of the U.S. summer-fall calender.

It had been rumored the federation would ban the three from playing at Forest Hills.

Frenchman Bob Abdesselam, a member of the ILTF's committee of management and one of four men on the emergency suspension committee, said the federation did not wish "to disrupt the championship" and that no action will be taken until the committee has had a chance to meet next week.

Giants' Bats Quiet; Juan Loses Another 1-0 Game

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A 400-foot drive over the left field fence was all the Philadelphia Phillies needed yesterday to beat the San Francisco Giants for the second straight day.

Bill Robinson connected with the homer in the second inning off Giants' starter Juan Marichal. It was his 23rd of the season and seventh home run in 10 games.

For Marichal, now 10-11, it was his second straight 1-0 loss. He allowed only five hits.

The loss also was another step backward for the Giants who now trail first-place Los Angeles by nine games in the National League West.

The Phillies' Wayne Twitchell, 13-6, scattered four hits over the distance. The righthander offered few opportunities to score, retiring strings of

FOOTBALL ROUNDUP

Veteran Nitschke Retires

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Ray Nitschke, one of the last ties to Vince Lombardi's great Green Bay teams of the early 1960s, has called it a career after 15 years in the National Football League.

Nitschke, once one of the most ferocious players in the game and voted the best middle linebacker of the NFL's first 50 years, announced his retirement yesterday at an emotion-filled news conference. Nitschke, relegated to a third-string job in recent seasons, probably saved the Packers the unenviable task of cutting the popular ex-star.

Coach Dan Devine installed Jim Carter as his starting middle linebacker and had Larry Hefner in reserve and thought that Nitschke wouldn't report to camp. In fact, Nitschke's name and biography were obvious additions to the Packer press guide.

"The spirit is still there but the numbers game got to me," said Nitschke, who helped the Packers to three consecutive NFL titles and two Super Bowl wins. "There's no room on the roster for a third middle linebacker. Even though I have known the day would come when I'd have to make this announcement, it never really is an easy one to do. I'm going to hang No. 66 up for the last time."

In other news from the training camps, the Minnesota Vikings dealt Gene Washington to Denver for Rod Sherman in an exchange of wide receivers. Washington was one of the top receivers in the NFL before suffering nagging foot injuries two years ago. Sherman, who also played for Oakland and Cincinnati, was Denver's leading receiver last year with 38 catches.

Berkeley Game For Raiders

OAKLAND (UPI) — The Oakland Raiders announced yesterday that their Sept. 23 National Football League game against the Miami Dolphins will be played at the University of California stadium in Berkeley instead of the Oakland Coliseum.

The Raiders said the switch has been approved by the University's regents. It was requested because the Oakland A's baseball team is scheduled to play in the Coliseum Monday, Sept. 24.

As a result of the change to the Berkeley site, which has a capacity of 75,000, the Raiders will offer 21,000 additional tickets for sale. Fans who have purchased tickets for the game in the 54,000-seat coliseum will get exchange tickets in the mail, the team said.

Namath Files $2.3 Million Magazine Suit

NEW YORK (UPI) — Joe Namath, star quarterback for the New York Jets, yesterday filed a $2.3 million suit against Sports Illustrated and Time Inc., for using his name without permission in advertisements for the magazine.

The complaint was filed in Manhattan Supreme Court and gave Time 20 days to answer the charges.

In the complaint, Namath charged that from June, 1969, to the present Sports Illustrated conducted "a malicious campaign to malign, disgrace and impugn his integrity and honesty."

Namath said that the magazine used his picture and name to advertise Sports Illustrated in other publications.

Champ In Top Shape For Saturday Bout

TOKYO (UPI) — World heavyweight champion George Foreman concentrated on speed today as he sparred four rounds in apparently top shape for his first title defense Saturday against challenger Joe King Roman of Puerto Rico.

Roman, the World Boxing Association (WBA) ninth ranking contender, did not spar but punched a bag hard for four rounds and shadow boxed for six rounds at the Toyo Boxing gym shortly before Foreman arrived there.

Manager Bill Daly said Roman had finished his gym work and would do only light roadwork tomorrow. Friday, he would only take a long walk.

"Roman will not be a standing target for Foreman," Daly said. "He will move fast and get in a punch. It will be a good fight. My only concern is that Roman, a Puerto Rican, might get mad and lose his temper if he is hit. That'll be bad because Roman might set himself up to be stopped."

Foreman boxed two rounds each with Len Hutchins of Kalamazoo, Mich., whom Sadler described as a leading light heavyweight contender, and middleweight Sam Helmer of San Francisco.

Foreman bored in relentlessly and pumped in hard lefts and rights to the body against Hutchins. Helmer moved to his left and right, the probable tactics of Roman, but Foreman caught him a corner and unleashed hard body punches.

Foreman then punched a small bag for six consecutive minutes and skipped rope for another six minutes.

Dr. Keith West of Hayward, Calif., who arrived last Saturday as Foreman's doctor, watched Foreman train and said, "Foreman is the best specimen of a human God has ever created. He is in perfect condition. He went through six minutes of bag punching and he is not even breathing."

Foreman said he was in the best of condition because he has been training for a month.

Foreman refused to predict any knockout win over Roman, saying "it is a 50-50 chance for me and Roman and it is up to me to make it 55-45 or better for me."

Asked if he preferred Joe Frazier or Ali in his next fight, Foreman said, "I don't care who I fight. I gotta fight to make a living and I'll fight anybody."

The rules for the fight will be discussed by Sadler and Daly with the Japan Boxing Commission tomorrow.

Schmidt's Bat Paces Valley's Softball Win

Larry Schmidt hit two doubles and a single last night to pace a 15-hit Valley Realty attack which subdued Charcoal Pit, 18-11, in a San Rafael Recreation Department adult softball league game at Albert Field.

In other games, Gary Burns singled home the winning run in the seventh inning as Don Collins Buick edged Holiday Magic, 5-4, and Wesco Cabinet defeated Apache Signs, 5-2.

Raiders' Angry Siani Walks Out

SANTA ROSA (UPI) — Wide receiver Mike Siani, the No. 1 draft pick last year, has left the training camp of the Oakland Raiders in a pay squabble.

He failed to return to the Raiders' camp following Saturday's pre-season loss to the Minnesota Vikings and instead returned to his apartment in Walnut Creek.

"All I want is a $5,000 raise," said Siani, who made 28 receptions in his rookie season. "Al Davis (managing general partner) promised me a raise if I had a good season last year. Well, I think I played quite well."

Siani said he had planned to miss only one day of practice as a protest but decided to stay away from camp until he can come to some sort of a more profitable arrangement with Raider management.

Quarterly Plan On Savings Bonds

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. How can the small investor, who may from time to time wish to buy U.S. Treasury bonds or notes, receive information directly on new issues? Is there any one office in the U.S. government from which we could receive regular announcements on offerings? — E.B.

A. First of all, the Treasury Department does not always include offerings for cash in its quarterly refunding operations. Instead, maturing debt securities must be exchanged in order to acquire newly offered issues. Notice of these offers appears in the financial pages of newspapers across the country late in January, April, July and October. July 25, 1973, the Treasury offerd for cash three securities including $2 billion 7¾% 4-year notes, $500 million of 7½% 20-year bonds and $2 billion of 35-day September tax-anticipation bills.

According to the Treasury, limited if any further cash offerings are anticipated over the balance of 1973.

Descriptive literature, subscription forms and Treasury circulars on specific new government offerings are available through the 12 Federal Reserve Banks. However, individual requests to be placed on a regular mailing list are not encouraged since most of the mailings are applicable to banks and are thus not pertinent to small investor.

Q. We would appreciate your opinion on the future of Olin Corp. (NYSE). Does the fact that they recently wrote off a large investment in the aluminum industry indicate problems? — V. N.

A. In 1972, Olin's aluminum business produced a loss equal to 28 cents a share. However, this year, with this operation no longer included in income statements, Olin's earnings have staged an impressive rebound.

For the first half — including only continuing operations — profits rose over 50 per cent to $1.15 a share. Management is projecting a 20 per cent gain in net for 1973 despite a slowdown in the economy. In addition to the discontinuance of the aluminum business, Olin's earnings are benefiting from the cancellation of an unprofitable government contract and the write-off of certain losing chemical operations.

1974 GREMLINS

American Motors' sub-compact, the Gremlin, displays a number of refinements in 1974. In front, a new grille incorporates parking lamps and turn signals. At the rear, there is a new lower back panel and restyled quarter panels. Special options offer a wide range of personal choice in appearance and performance, including the X package, a new Rallye-Pac which provides full instrumentation, and the "Levi's" blue jeans upholstery. All 1974 American Motors cars will go on sale in early September. Marin dealer is San Rafael American.

Market Posts Sharp Gains After A Month

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market posted sharp gains today in the most active trading in more than a month of the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said the sudden upsurge had been building internally for the last four days, and stemmed largely from the list's extremely oversold condition following a month of steady declines. Issues that had been hit hardest lately were among the day's bigtest gainers.

While most observers were reluctant to pin the rise on outside factors, some said the market may have been helped by falling commodity prices, and a spreading belief interest rates may be nearing a peak.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange rose in moderate trading.

Philip Morris, under heavy selling pressure ever since a government agency said it was considering a partial or total ban on cigarette sales, attracted some buying during the day. The company said it is expanding its capital spending plans by $250 million, and increased its quarterly dividend to 35 cents a share from 32.4 cents.

Polaroid, also a loser in recent weeks, rose sharply. The firm said it plans to send its new SX-70 instant picture system to dealers within a month.

Curtiss-Wright was among the losers at one point. The issue has weakened since Ford Motor announced it did not plan to produce a rotary engine car. Curtiss-Wright holds certain North American rights on the Wankel rotary engine.

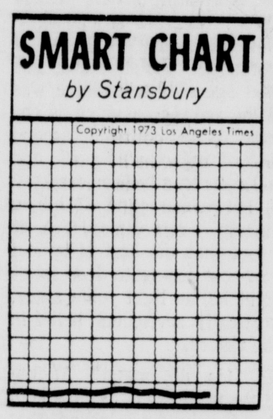
Mayfair Buys 'Beef On Hoof'

Mayfair Supermarkets is buying herds of cattle "on the hoof" to keep its meat cases full during the current beef shortage.

The chain's meat buyers have contacted ranchers all over California to buy cattle in feedlots (average 50 head per lot). Mayfair then pays packing houses to process the beef to its specifications.

"So far as we know, Mayfair and Alpha Beta are the only major supermarket chains which have had normal beef supplies since the shortage began five weeks ago," said A. J. Crosson, president of Arden-Mayfair, Inc.



"We have capital ideas but no capital."

Furniture Restoration Of Marin Opens; Many Specialties Offered

Furniture Restoration of Marin, a new company, has opened in San Rafael this week at 26 Medway No. 10, around the corner from Bellach's Furniture. William Hoey Co. arranged for the lease.

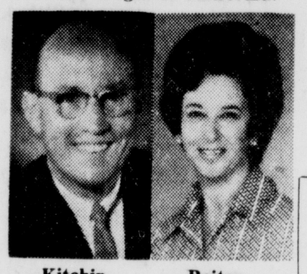
Partners in the new venture are Anthony Bilardi and Richard Merwin, both of San Francisco, who will strip, refinish and repair furniture of all kinds ranging from standard chairs to exotic antiques.

Bilardi said his firm uses a water-free chemical solution that does not loosen the glue on furniture joints so that the most delicate antiques can be safely restored. Furniture Resortation of Marin will serve homeowners, antique dealers and furniture stores.

Bilardi marketed roller bearings in Westport, Conn., for six years before deciding to open the business in Marin. His partner, Merwin, was an engineer in Westport who has been restoring furniture for the past two years.

WILLIAM K. KITCHIN of Sacramento, executive director of the California Optometric Association, was elected to the American Optometric Foundation board last month.

Before moving to Sacramento, Kitchin lived in San Rafael from 1960 to 1971 while serving as executive secretary of the Canners League of California.



Kitchin Beiter

JEANE BEITER, owner of Decoupage Ltd. in Pacheco Plaza, Novato, has been named a member of the National Guild of Decoupers, an organization with only 141 members throughout the United States and only four in California.

For the last 12 years, Mrs. Beiter has been practicing the fine art of decoupage, the careful application of patterns and paints to various surfaces to create designs, and has been teaching the techniques for the last eight years.

For almost two years she and her husband, Karl Beiter, have operated Decoupage Ltd. at Pacheco Plaza, 416 Ignacio Boulevard.

BANK OF MARIN'S branch office in Sausalito plans to move about Nov. 1 into new and expanded quarters at 180 Harbor Drive, just east of Big G Super market in the new Bob Greene Building that is under construction.

Richard Russo, manager of the Sausalito branch, said the new location will have better parking for customers, safe deposit boxes, and almost double the space of the existing bank. Bank of Marin's Sausalito branch was opened two and a half years ago at 2656 Bridgeway, between Sailboats Sausalito and John C. Berry Co.

GARY S. MOREY, owner of the Skylight art and custom framing shop in San Rafael, is now doing professional cartooning for local businessmen.

So far, Morey has drawn 50 caricatures in color of businessmen in Marin County. The framed cartoons, 16 by 20 inches, are on display at Cal's Steak House at Third and C Streets, San Rafael.

C. HARVEY MIELENZ of San Rafael will retire a week from today (Sept. 5) after 30 years with the Union Pacific Railroad in San Francisco, where he spent most of his time in the passenger department.

Before World War II, Mielenz was with the American Express Company in both the travel and financial departments.

After retirement from Union Pacific, Mielenz plans to take some advanced courses in domestic and international travel and then go to work for a travel agency, probably the first of next year.

Luxuriant Roadside Plant Growth Could Use Some Pruning

With abundant rain and good growing weather all over Marin and Sonoma counties this year, plant growth has reached the state of being downright luxuriant. In fact in some places it has grown like a jungle.

In driving around the area we have noticed that this plant growth, in many places, has concealed street signs and traffic signs. We came up to a stop sign on Center Road and Diablo Avenue in Novato the other day and stopped. It was a good thing we knew that was a stop, because the sign was completely obscured by a tree in the parking strip.

The public works departments of county and cities ought to send crews out to inspect all signs and cut away the plant growth that hides many of them.

THE STATE DIVISION of Highways is solving the traffic congestion in Novato by constructing a bypass around it. When this is opened next year, it will eliminate the only traffic lights on Highway 101 from the Golden Gate Bridge to Cloverdale.

However, it will not eliminate all of the traffic hazards, and will help create some. For example, what about traffic going in and out of Gnoss Field and the nearby industrial area, including McGraw-Hill Book Co. and the Lodge?

With the lights now stopping traffic, cross traffic has a chance to get on and off the highway during traffic breaks. What will happen when the bypass opens and northbound motorists suddenly find that instead of a freeway, they are on an expressway with cross traffic?

Another seasonal traffic problem will come when and if the Renaissance Pleasure Faire is allowed to build its permanent home in the north county. Add to that a proposed college and other development along San Antonio Creek, and cross traffic will grow into a worsening problem.

The Division of Highways should start designing and constructing overpasses and frontage roads.

SPEAKING OF frontage roads, the developer of the property on the west side of Highway 101 south of Loma Verde should be required to construct a frontage road to connect Marinwood with the frontage road along the highway in Novato.

If that was done, it would be possible to leave Highway 101 at San Marin Drive and take alternate routes as far south as Puerto Suello Hill in San Rafael.

Release Of Mullin Said A Mistake

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan yesterday said the release of convicted murderer Herbert W. Mullin from the state mental institutions before he killed 10 persons was a "psychiatric mistake" and not the fault of the state.

The foreman of the jury which convicted Mullin Aug. 19 said in an "open letter" that Reagan and legislative leaders were "as responsible for the 10 deaths as Mullin.

"Five times prior to young Mr. Mullin's arrest, he was entered into mental hospitals," said foreman Kenneth E. P. Springer. "Yet in January of this year he was free to take the lives of 10 Santa Cruz residents."

Reagan told a news conference, "I think that the jury foreman was uninformed about the workings" of the state's mental institutions.

Asked if the release could have come about because of "economy" reasons, Reagan replied, "No patient has been released for that reason."

Reagan said psychiatry was not an exact science and "these mistakes will happen.

"Obviously he was a threat to others. He should have been held in," the governor said, terming the release a "psychiatric mistake."

Reagan also said Springer, who runs a television and appliance shop in Felton, Mullin's hometown, "was absolutely wrong" when he indicated the state was "dumping out on the street" its mentally ill wards.

Gregory, Other Activists Cleared

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Comedian Dick Gregory and seven other peace activists were acquitted yesterday of illegal entry and unlawful assembly charges for praying at the White House before the Cambodian bombing halt.

Superior Court Judge Charles Halleck said the White House was a public place and the assemblage had stopped only briefly to kneel and pray without obstructing traffic.

"We were praying for peace and they arrested us," Gregory said. "You better believe if we had been praying for Richard Nixon's health they wouldn't have touched us."

Five uniformed White House guards who made the arrest were present in the courtroom but they were not called by the government's attorney, Donald Abrams. Halleck has been hearing 185 cases stemming from several arrests made at the White House of pacifists and antiwar demonstrators who staged pray-ins before the Aug. 15 halt.

Halleck ordered David James Flynn of New York released from confinement in the District of Columbia jail on Monday. Flynn had spent two weeks in solitary confinement for refusing to give Judge Paul F. McArdle his last name after he was arrested for praying at the White House.

Administrative Aide Hired For Sausalito

The Sausalito City Council last night approved the hiring of George T. Warman Jr., an administrative assistant for the city of Los Altos Hills, Calif., as finance officer-administrative assistant. (Another Sausalito City Council story, page 1.)

The 27-year-old Warman will assume duties immediately in the $845 to $1,027 per month post.

The position is a newly-created one recommended by City Mgr. Thomas P. McKenzie. Margaret Olmsted, current deputy finance officer, has resigned effective Sept. 7. She replaced Hazel Pieracini who resigned Aug. 1.

Warman received a bachelor's degree in public administration from San Francisco State College and a master's degree in public administration from California State University at Hayward.

Before his stint at Los Altos Hills, he was a lieutenant in the Marine Corps. A resident of Millbrae, he is single.

Shopping Center Sets Art Show

The Novato Fair shopping center will have its ninth annual fall art show at the center from 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Sept. 15, according to Vicki Nichols, show coordinator.

Artists from the bay area are expected to participate, including Valeris Rivas of Petaluma, whose wood art has won awards in previous shows.

Applications for space at the art show are available at the Novato Fair shopping center and at art shops.

Harness Racing

The Hambletonian Stake harness race, most famous event in trotting, will be run today in Du Quoin, Illinois. Harness racing first appeared in this country in the 1700's. Long a popular sport in rural areas, harness races are still a main attraction at many county fairs. Years ago, farm horses — more accustomed to the plow than the race track — were often harnessed to the family wagon or carriage and raced down the road. As the sport becan[illegible]ore popular, the four-wheel wagon gave way to [illegible] modern two-wheel cart. Harness horses have two different gaits, the pace and the trot.

DO YOU KNOW — What is the two-wheeled carriage used in harness racing called?

Court Rules 'No Knock' Pinned To Emergencies

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — California Supreme Court yesterday ruled that search warrants allowing police to enter a house without announcing their purpose must comply with emergency situations defined by law.

The 4-3 ruling came in the case of Arthur Parsley of Riverside. Police officers obtained a search warrant specifically providing that they did not have to comply with penal code provisions regarding announcing their purpose.

The police officer crawled through a bedroom window and seized contraband narcotics, filing charges against Parsley and Elizabeth Hale.

The high court ruled the search was not permissable and set aside the charges against the defendant.

The court noted that in one year 12 per cent of the search warrants issued in Los Angeles County authorized unannounced entries.

Justice William P. Clark, Jr. wrote a dissent in which he argued that Parsley's reported "habit of answering the door carrying a loaded 12 gauge shotgun" constituted an emergency justifying the "no-knock" warrant.

Clark was joined in his dissent by justices Marshall F. McComb and Louis H. Burke.

Stand Against Taco Bell Upheld

The Novato Plan Review Committee acted legally in rejecting Taco Bell's plans for a restaurant on Machin Avenue across from the Novato Community House, according to Novato City Atty. Clark M. Palmer.

The city attorney told the committee and Novato City Council in a joint meeting last night: "In reading the minutes of your two meetings with the developer (Ben Ostlind) I think that you gave sufficient direction to survive any legal attack."

Palmer said that there was "something in the downtown square buildings that makes them all compatible." So it was not unreasonable to expect Taco Bell to conform to the general overall plan of the square.

In answer to a question from Mayor Fred F. Ruegg, Palmer said, however, that if a nationally known architect wanted to argue the matter in court, it would be up to the court to decide on whether the mission design of Taco Bell was compatible with the other buildings in the square.

"It gets to be a case of individual artistic taste," he said.

Ruegg and Councilman F. Wayne Sartain asked for another meeting with the plan review committee to discuss the ideas and goals of the committee.

"It goes beyond Taco Bell," Ruegg said.

The council instructed the city manager to set up such a meeting when all the council and committee would be present.

The Novato City Council Also:

CENTER — Authorized placing the word processing center in the conference room at the city hall and ordered the staff to come back next week with a cost estimate of converting the room to house the noisy equipment.

TRAFFIC — Said it wants a traffic study on Virginia Avenue to be completed by the time school starts on Sept. 11 or it will consider placing a stop sign on Virginia Avenue at Villa Court. It also authorized stop signs on Estrella Way at San Carlos Way and at San Luis Way on Bradley Avenue and on Jackson Drive at Jackson Court.

AUDIT — Set down rules by which A. L. Gieleghem could audit city records. These included not seeing some documents protected under state code such as personnel records and that his audit should not interfer with normal city functions. He must pay for all copies he wants of public records. He originally made the request for the committee for a change in government which wants City Mgr. Charles A. Brown fired.

HEARING — Set 8 p.m., Oct. 16 for a public hearing on annexation of the O'Hair property at Novato Boulevard and Sutro Avenue.

MEETINGS — Adjourned to 4:15 p.m. today to see a demonstration of a street sweeper which the city contemplates buying and to 8 p.m. tomorrow to meet with the Army Corps of Engineers on flood control on Novato Creek. It has a regular meeting at 8 p.m. next Tuesday and will meet at 8 p.m. Sept. 6 to discuss the Cheda Farm's master plan.

Hatched Minnows Adjust To Skylab

HOUSTON (UPI) — Minnows born in space are adapted to zero gravity the moment they hatch from their tiny eggs. But their parents, carried aloft by the Skylab 2 crew, still are not accustomed to weightlessness and are swimming in tight, backward flips.

"These newly hatched minnows have never done that," Astronaut Owen K. Garriott said yesterday from the Skylab managerie which now includes five minnows and a pair of web-spinning spiders. "It was as if they had already adapted when they were still in the egg. And once they'd been hatched they have no problems."

The three minnows hatched last night.

Garriott and Skylab partners Alan L. Bean and Jack R. Lousma were to conduct some map making photographs of Paraguay today along with performing some medical tests and conduct a second test flight of a pair of jet shoes inside the workshop.

Spider Anita, dubbed "the monster from outer space," completed spinning an almost geometrically perfect web inside her glass cage in two days and Garriott provided live television coverage of the event to ground scientists.

Garriott has been sharing his filet mignon and prime rib with Anita and her partner Arabella to keep them alive for the return trip to Earth so scientists can see how they readapt to gravity.

"We now have a full screen view of the monster from outer space," capsule communicator Karl Henize said as the yellow and black bug filled the giant television screen.

"When magnified to these proportions, she certainly does resemble a possible monster," Garriott said. "And, of course, she is from outer space. But I can vouch for the fact that she's reasonably friendly."

Bear Is Chased, Treed And Killed

LYNCHBURG, Va. (UPI) — Police killed a bear yesterday after chasing it more than a mile near downtown Lynchburg.

Officials said the bear was sighted noon near the eastern side of the city and was chased by police until they treed it and killed it. Police said they did not know how the animal made its way so far into the city without being spotted.

Italy Aide's Son In Dope Arrest

CALEXICO (AP) — Four persons, including the son of the Italian Consul General in San Francisco, were arrested here early today on various narcotics charges, customs agents said.

Nicola Mauricio DeGiovanni, 26, of San Francisco, was arrested after customs officials discovered one kilo of marijuana under his hat and six more pounds in his car, they said.

He is the son of Consul-General Lugi DeGiovanni.
